SAINT JOHN MEN WIN $7,700 ON DERBY

LOUIS M'GLOAN DRAWS HORSE PLACING THIRD

Nets About $6,500; R. Ingleton Gets $1,200 Prize

CORONACH FIRST

Lord Wolington's Entry Captures Class; Lane Gay, 2nd; Colorado, 3rd

By drawing Colorado, the horse which placed third in the Derby today, T. Louis McGloan, barrister, of the firm of Weldon & McLean, this city, won approximately $6,500.

Michael Burke, carpenter in the C. N. R. repair shop here, is also a winner in the Derby, holding ticket No. 11233.

It was a great race, won by a great three-year-old against the pick of the rich Calcutta sweepstakes on the Derby.

Robert Bishop, a fifty-year-old departmental manager of a shipping brokerage firm, won first prize of the rich Calcutta sweepstakes on the Derby.

It was a great race, won by a great three-year-old against the pick of the rich Calcutta sweepstakes on the Derby.

And as it passed into history for the 143rd year since its foundation, it again revealed the Derby to be the greatest turf event in the world.

More than a million people watched the pick of the fish, fish and battle three-year-olds colts and fillies trench for fame and the famous Derby stakes.

The race, which was worth about $70,000 to the owner of the winner, was run over a distance of a mile and a half (plus a few yards) on the wide-open Epsom Downs; it was confined, as heretofore, to those three-year-olds whose optimistic owners had entered them for this event before November, 1924.

The colts, regardless of their previous records, carried the same weights, 128 lbs., while the fillies carried 123 lbs.

King George, accompanied by Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales, Princess Mary and Viscount Lascelles, arrived shortly after one o'clock and the royal standard was hoisted, amid cheers, over the royal box.

His Majesty's entry, the brown colt, Spear Dancer, had gone down to defeat in earlier races and was therefore not very prominent in the betting, but as the familiar bearded face appeared in the royal box there swept over the vast throng in the stands, the enclosures and on the Downs the low murmur of thousands of people expressing variously their loyal wish that the King of England's colors, the royal purple and scarlet, should flash first past the post as they did for King Edward VII. in 1909.

Derby Day has again shown itself to be the great national festival. From early this morning the roads leading to Epsom were crowded with every conceivable vehicle from gypsy vans, coster's carts and perambulators, to Rolls-Royces, charabancs and racing cars.

And more than one sporting lord took his guests to the great event in the still fashionable but rarely seen six-hand.

Thousands resorted to motor-buses which were "parked" in a section of the Downs by themselves; other thousands came by rail from all over the British Isles, while the cross-channel steamers from Calais, Boulogne and Dieppe discharged before daybreak hundreds of French sportsmen and American tourists bound for the great event.

Over the tangle of roads leading to Epsom a huge dirigible floated; it contained a lynx-eyed traffic director and a wireless operator; between them they guided the ceaseless procession of pedestrians and vehicles into the proper roads, sending the motor-buses over one route, the horse-drawn vehicles over another and the motor-cars over others debouching upon the Downs.

Finance Minister To Ask House For Authority To Borrow $150,000,000

Steve Donoghue Makes 2 Bad Derby Guesses

Canadian Press LONDON, June 2—The reason Steve Donoghue did not have a mount in the famous Epsom Derby today was due solely to the fact he was not offered the pilage of a candidate which he believed had any chance of winning.

In a radio talk broadcast last night Britain's premier jockey reiterated his formerly expressed opinion that Colorado would carry the silk of Lord Derby to victory today.

Donoghue said he realized how much confidence was placed in him, and as he did not want to see the better lose their money, he had decided against accepting any of the mounts offered him.

Colorado was easily the class of the field, and believed Swift and Sure, Lord Astor's entry, was the next best bet.

"However, don't forget the fact that the Derby is an uncertain race, for I've seen warmer favorites than Colorado go down to defeat," he added.
