A BRUTAL MURDER

Providence Tragedy of Extreme Brutality.A Man Arrested on Suspicion of Choking His Wife to Death.After the Murder the Body Was Set on Fire and Horribly Burned.

Providence, R. I., March 23.—A murder, which for brutality and almost fiendishness has not been equalled in this city for years, was committed this afternoon, in the opinion of the police, which opinion, too, is shared by the medical examiner on superficial examination of the body. The victim was Hannah Hennessy, aged about 60 years, the wife of James Hennessy, aged 60 years, employed in the city street cleaning department on the night force. The place was their tenement on one half of the second floor in a four tenement house on Try street, off North Main street. The husband is now under arrest, charged with being the murderer by reason of accusations of two sisters of the dead woman—Nellie and Mary McCardin—who lived in the other tenement on the same floor.

The story told of the relations existing between the Hennessys and the two sisters was to the effect that months ago they had a falling out, and it grew so bitter that visits and even conversations between them ceased altogether. James Hennessy was usually quite steady in his work, but occasionally drank a little too much, yet there does not appear to be any reason to suppose that his treatment of Mrs. Hennessy was otherwise than gentle. The two sisters in accusing Hennessy of murdering his wife give an account of circumstances attending his actions this afternoon. Nellie McCardin says that Hennessy returned home between 12 and 1 o'clock today. Soon after she went down stairs to take in some washing. On returning up stairs she was badly frightened at hearing screams coming from the Hennessy tenement, screams, she says, which made her faint and sick. The screams stopped, and she went into her room, remarking at the time to her sister Mary that there was no pleasure in married life if about the house there that way. There was no further noise from the Hennessy tenement, and Nellie began her ironing. About twenty minutes later she heard Hennessy go down stairs. About the same time Mary asked her if the ironing was being scorched, as there was a distinct odor of burning clothing, but the ironing was all right, and although the tenement was looked through no trace of anything burning was found. The odor was of a nauseating and it continued for some time.

About 6 o'clock Hennessy was heard to come in and open his door. Then he rushed across the hall, saying the times: "What will I do?" and then he called the sisters to go into his tenement.

Nellie says she went into the room and found Mrs. Hennessy dead and fearfully burned about the head, the clothing having been eaten by the flames so that the skin had roasted until it had burst. She further says that the body was wedged in between the floor board and the wainscoting in a four foot closet in the kitchen.
Mr. Hennessy sent for the police and the body went to the morgue. The police interviewed the McCardin girls and the husband, and when the former had told their story the detectives took Hennessy to the central police station.

The police have given out a story of their interview with Mr. Hennessy.
He claims to have had no trouble with his wife, and on leaving home last night he took hot water off the stove with which to wash the dishes. It is stated that Hennessy spent his afternoon in two saloons in the neighborhood, and the police claim that facts do not bear out Hennessy's explanations, that there had been no fire in the stove for many hours and that there were no signs of any dishes to be washed or even a dish pan set for hot water.

The medical examiner, when he viewed the body, said that Mrs. Hennessy had been dead four or five hours, and that from her protruding tongue it appeared that she had been brutally choked. He further stated on an autopsy tomorrow. Until that time no charge will be made against the husband.

Mrs. Hennessy was the second wife of James Hennessy and had been married about fifteen years. They had no children.

Providence, R. I., March 24.—James Hennessy, the husband of Honora Hennessy, who was found dead in her tenement yesterday afternoon, who was held by the police to await the result of the autopsy on the body, was discharged from custody tonight.
Medical Examiner Perkins held the autopsy and decided that no sign of violence was found on the body. He further decided that the condition of the bronchial tubes was caused by inhaling the flames which burned her clothing, and not by strangulation, as was at first thought.

Today the police were unable to find any additional facts surrounding the mysterious death. The autopsy settles the fact that Mrs. Hennessy's death was by accidental burning, and her position resulted from frantic struggles to get out of the closet while her clothing was afire. As to how the fire occurred is a question not definitely cleared up.

WATER FROM A PLANTED REED.

(Detroit Free Press.)
"When people are suffering from thirst they will resort to all kinds of means to get water," remarked a gentleman who was at one time a member of the United States geological and surveying expedition in the Indian Territory. "For some time we had been without water, and were suffering greatly. Among our number was an old trapper, who was as keen on the scent for water as in a bound on the trail of a deer. Finally he paused at a place and stopped.
"I think there is water here if we could dig a well," he observed.
"But we can't," I replied.
"No, but we can do something else," he said.
"With that he cut a reed, tying some moss on the end of it. Then he dug into the earth, placed the reed in the hole and packed the earth around the reed. He waited for a few moments.
"Do you mean to say you can suck water out of that thing?" I asked.
"Yes, there's water near the surface."
He drew at it with much satisfaction.
"Good," he remarked, "would you try it?"
"With little confidence at the result I sucked at the reed, with the surprising result of getting plenty of pure, clear water. To my parched tongue it seemed the very nectar of the gods.
"It's as clear as the water of a spring," I remarked.
"Yes, the moss is our filter," he replied.
"We pursued our journey very much refreshed, and I never forgot the old trapper's device."

A TROOPER'S STORY.

THE UNPLEASANT EXPERIENCE OF A BISLEY MAN.Awoke One Night to Find Himself Speechless and His Body Partially Paralyzed—Could Touch a Red Hot Stove Without any Sensation of Pain.

(From the Huntingdon, Que., News.) Mr. Donald McNaughton of Hemingford, Que., is not only known to all the residents of that town, but has also a reputation throughout the country as an expert marksman, having on one occasion been a member of the Canadian rifle team at Bisley, England, in 1885. Mr. McNaughton is a member of the 6th Hussars, and takes part in all the leading shooting matches in Canada, having this year stood third in the grand aggregate at the Quebec provincial matches. Mr. Mc-Naughton has passed through a very trying experience, the particulars of which he recently related to a correspondent of the Huntingdon News. He said:—About the end of December, 1885, I awoke one night, having completely lost the power of speech, with a ringing sensation in my head and a feeling of extreme cold in every part of my body except in the immediate vicinity of my head. A physician was at once called in, but despite his care the power of speech did not return for two days, and my body remained partially paralyzed. In this condition I continued until the doctor's care until about the last week of March 1886, when some of the best doctors in attendance. During that time my appetite was very capricious, sometimes very good and at others loathing the sight of food. What food I took I did not digest, causing me much discomfort. When I was in my right side the blood in my body all appeared to circulate in my left side, causing great pain in my lungs, and when lying on my left side I appeared to have no blood in circulation on that side. My body was at times without sensation, and I have actually burned my hands on a red hot stove without feeling any sensation of pain. As I was not getting better under the treatment I was undergone I got low spirited and dependent, and saw nothing before me but a dreary life and perhaps early death.

About the last week in March, 1886, my brother brought me a box of Pink Pills given him by Mr. McKee, postmaster, and urged me to give them a trial. I began taking them, carefully following the directions, and before I had finished the box I felt they were helping me. I continued taking them until, and continued to gain in health and strength, my weight increasing some 15 pounds. Complete vigor and sensation returned to my body, my stomach ceased to trouble me, and I felt better than at any previous time in my life. I have not had the slightest recurrence of my trouble, and I feel that I owe my present health and strength to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and with feelings of gratitude recommend them as a medicine worthy of all confidence.

This great remedy enriches and purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, and in this way goes to the root of disease, driving it from the system, and curing when other remedies fail.

Every box of the genuine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has the trade mark on the wrapper around the box, and the purchaser can protect himself from fraud by refusing all others. Sold by all dealers at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50.

WOMEN READ ADVERTISEMENTS.
It is claimed, says the Philadelphia Press, that the women are the only readers of advertisements in the measure this is true, and necessarily so, for women are the larger purchasers of the household, and spend most of the money for business, professional and workmen.

Even in the larger transactions it will probably surprise dealers to learn how influential a voice women have. The purchase of a home is almost invariably determined by the women of the household, and in nine cases out of ten their information as to the situation and desirability of a place is gained from the newspapers.

And every furniture dealer, dry goods dealer, grocer and keeper of any sort of a store knows that he must appeal to the women if he wishes to sell his goods.
The largest element in the success of one of the greatest merchants in the world today is the fact that he knows how to appeal to the women. The advertisement to

J. E. B. McCready—Scott Act Matters.

Charlottetown, March 18.—Duncan McMillan has gone to jail for two months for violation of the C. T. A.
Last week John McLeod was fined $90 or ninety days for using profane and new church next summer.
Four Scott act cases were disposed of on Thursday. The case against Geo. Clark was adjourned until his apprehension; the case of Francis McLellan was also postponed, pending his arrest. The case against the Thomson Meek was adjourned, and the summons against Alfred Downing was dismissed. Andrew Doyle was convicted in a third violation of the Scott act and sentenced to two months imprisonment.

On March 10, William Augustus White of Brookfield, Lot 32, and Miss Jane Mead Chappell of East Royalty called at the residence of Rev. A.
Sutherland and after a few charming words had been spoken the young couple left to be known in the future as Mr. and Mrs. White.
It is reported that the Cherry Valley Methodists are preparing to build a new church next summer.

On the 23rd of February William Dennis died at Margate. He was one of the oldest and most highly respected citizens of that place. Born at Littleham, near Biford, England, October 7, 1815, he resided in the ripe old age of 82. Mr. Dennis came from England to this country in 1851, first going to Miramichi, N. B., where he lived for one year. The following year he went to St. John, N. B., (Miss Ann Robbins) came to P. E. I., and soon after located on "Oak Farm" in Margate, where he has ever since resided. A son well known in P. E., the Rev. A. C. Dennis, B. A., died a few years ago, very much lamented.

For many years Mr. Dennis was a very acceptable local preacher and as a member of the Methodist church he filled the most important offices in the church and Sabbath school. He leaves a widow and a number of sons and daughters, most of whom live in this province.

Death has been very busy around here of late. Robert Bruce Stewart of Stratford, died in the P. E. I. hospital on Friday night last. He was a son of the late R. B. Stewart and a brother of J. Farrer Stewart of West Cape, and a brother-in-law of A. B. White, of this town. He was a city. A daughter is married to Rev.
Mr. Cameron. He was a gentleman well known and much respected.

On Friday of last week the dead body of John Garlick, a well known plumber, was found along the road near Boyle's tannery. It appears he had left his home on Euston street to go to the residence of Hon. F. Peters to do some work, but dropped dead on the way. His body was found by his side and a cut over his eye indicated that he fell on the ice. There were no other marks. The jury at the inquest returned a verdict, death from natural causes. Mr. Garlick came to this city from St. John, N. B., some ten years ago and was engaged by A. Herman & Son, and afterwards he was employed by Mc-Kinnon & McLean, but being an excellent workman, he had for some time been working for himself. He leaves a wife and several children.
Heart trouble is believed to be the cause of death.

The P. E. I. legislature will meet on Sunday next.
The school convention which was postponed on account of storm will be held at Cornwall on April 1st, commencing at 10 o'clock a. m.

McCready, editor of the Guardian, read an excellent paper before the teachers' institute on Saturday night last on Parliamentary Ceremonies. Several spoke in high terms of the excellency of the paper.

Miss Ellen Drake, daughter of Robert Drake of Cornwall, graduated with honors from the P. E. I. Island commercial college last week. A basket social and entertainment at Hart-ville, where it resulted in $81.18 for the meeting of liberal conservatives met in the Masonic hall on Friday last and was well attended. The purpose was for organization, and the following officers were appointed: President, F. H. Horne; vice-president, Edward Ryan; secretary, Angus C. McAulay; conveners, Angus Scott, Brackley Point Road; James Walker, Brackley Point; Henry C.
Lawson, Covehead; Geo. Duck, Tracadie Road; William J. Gibson, York; P. C. Kelly, Bedford; Allan J. Mc-Donald, Tracadie; Peter McLeod, Monte Stewart; J. Allan McDonald, Pisquid; James J. Trainor, Monaghan; James D. Duffy, Fort Augustus; Edwards Ryan, Johnstone's River; John Boyce, Mount Herbert; Albert Kelly, Southport.

Short and stirring speeches were made by Senator Ferguson, F. H.
Horne, John E. Laverly, John T. Mellish, James J. Trainor and James Hughes, after which the meeting separated, determined to carry out the plan of organization adopted.

A sad fatality is reported through the Examiner from Souris, in which Daniel McCormack lost his life. It appears he, together with Angus Brown, were returning to their home at Black Bush, from Souris, on Saturday night, when, instead of following the usual road, they attempted to cross the ice. When some distance across, a squall of wind blew the hats from the heads of both men, and Brown went to seek them, but could not find them. When they were about to resume their journey the horse broke through the ice, taking the sleigh and McCormack into the water.

Brown succeeded in reaching the ice without getting very wet, but Mc-Cormack was very wet. After freeing the horse from the sleigh it started from them and ran away, leaving Brown and McCormack with the sleigh on the ice. Brown went for help to Angus McDonald's, and the two started back for McCormack, who had strayed away from the place Brown left him. After a time Joseph Whelan came to their help, and together with Brown they searched for McCormack, and finally found him some distance from the spot where the horse broke through. He was dead when they found him. They left the body and went for a team, with which they removed the body to Mr. McDonald's, where an inquest was held, and the verdict returned was death from exposure. Deceased was 50 years of age and was a most highly respected and esteemed man of Kings county.

The question of the winter river has been discussed at a meeting of the Joseph P. Warren, sr., aged 90 years, died at Northborough on the 12th. He was the last link of the Warren family.

For many years he did business at North River, Queens Co. He was the father of Joseph P. Warren of this city. He was one of the oldest inhabitants of this province.

James Hadden of Waver River has also passed away, aged 75 years. He was a wealthy, influential and highly respected gentleman. One daughter is the wife of Judge McLeod of Sumnerville.

Miss Annie May Bell, a well known young lady, lately engaged with Beer Bros. of this city, died on Tuesday morning, aged 20.
On Monday morning, Sarah Ann Mc-Intyre was found dead at 3 o'clock at a second infraction of C. T. A.
The death of Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson, the widow of the late Thomas P.
Dawson, is reported from Tryon, aged 74 years. Three sons and three daughters survive her. The wife of L. J. Daw-N. S., and George Dawson, manager of the St. Croix woolen mills, N. S., are sons of the deceased.

HIS MAIDEN EFFORT.

One of the most amusing incidents in connection with the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight is the report sent the press by John J. Ingalls. Mr. Ingalls description of the country, weather, amphitheatres, etc., is very vivid, but he spells it with the words which the crowd as "well-dressed, orderly, decorous American citizens, miners, merchants, farmers, cowboys, ranchmen, lawyers, and toughs and crooks that follow everywhere and follow the crowd, seeking whom they may devour."

"The entrance of the fighters in ro-gueous bath robes, bareheaded, with attendants bearing fans, cloths, sponges, buckets and bottles, was like one of Gilbert and Sullivan's opera-comics. Connolly made brief addresses from the platform on the issues of the day."
"Three minutes for sparring and one for rest was a round."
"The fight was fatigued early, perilously profusely and breathed with their mouths open."
"During some of the rounds Corbett hit Fitzsimmons on the face, making him look like a great schoolboy, with his glove, and gazed around with a smile like a blood-battered Banquo at the banquet of Macbeth. And so they went on for nearly an hour." When an ex-senator of the United States, and one who has acted temporarily as vice-president of the United States, travels several thousand miles to report a prize fight after the style of the above, the dignity of the senate is not maintained nor the profession of journalism advanced.
"One-eyed" Connolly could have done better.—The Commercial Union.

A BIG FRESHET.

The Missouri River Went Up a Little Over
Two Feet.

Sioux Falls, Wis., March 24.—Milwaukee railway officials have commenced with dynamite to blow out the big gorge which holds fast above the town. The water on the bottom is fifteen feet deep in places, with much grain on the bottoms mined.
Lavenworth, Kan., March 24.—For the twenty-four hours ending at noon today the Missouri has risen a little over two feet. The present gauge is 46.1, or 12.84 above low water mark.
The water is now rising at the rate of half an inch an hour.

St. Louis, Mo., March 24.—The danger from flood is threatening points above here on the Illinois, Missouri and Upper Mississippi rivers, which are rising rapidly. Farmers along the rivers named are preparing to move their families, stock and household effects.

The dyke at Pekin, Ill., is threatened with destruction. At this point, reports a serious situation owing to the rush of water from the Illinois and back water from the Missouri.
Cedar Rapids, I. A., March 24.— Cedar river last night reached its highest point since 1884. The gauge showed the water had reached a mark twelve feet above low water mark.
A large portion of West Cedar Rapids is under water in some places, it being from three to five feet deep. The dikes have been compelled to close down. The water is now slowly receding.

St. Joseph, Mo., March 24.—The Missouri river at this point is rising slowly, but the result of the meeting of yesterday's snow.
Omaha, Neb., March 24.—The river at this point shows a rise of but five inches in twenty-four hours. A special from Sioux City says the river there shows a fall of two feet, believed to be on account of the gorges formed.
The Big Sioux river is rising again.

Mrs. Maxsey, who lived a short distance above Sioux City, was drowned.
The Big Sioux river had surrounded her house and she attempted to escape.

NEW SUMMERSIDE INDUSTRY.

(Summerside Agriculturist.) The new wood manufacturing and house building company just organized here, will be known as the "Mcchanics Manufacturing Co., Ltd." The company is composed principally of practical mechanics, including Nathan Macfarlane of the late firm of Clark & Macfarlane, Clarence Jones, the well known draughtsman and master mechanic, David Kirk, master builder, G. W. Robinson, Clark's Mills, Wil-mott; Geo. Easter, Wilmot, Thos. Hodgson and Jos. Brehaut, Summerside, all of whom stand at the head of the industry, and a number of other prominent artisans. The new factory will be erected on a site purchased nearly opposite the steam mill of Ronald Campbell, which runs right through from Water street to the railway, from which a spur will be constructed into the lumber yard. The lumber will be landed on the railway wharf, directly onto cars built and owned by the company, and run up every crowd like heat from the shunting engine. The factory is to be complete and well equipped with the latest improved machinery, and it will be in every respect up to the best woodworking establishments to be seen anywhere in the province.

LUMBER NOTES.

Lumbering operations along the I.
C. R. and its branches have been very active. There are now a great many
