Two Are Turned Back--Chris. Nichols Holds High Court

Yesterday was the busiest day which the United States immigration office has ever known. Several parties of Italians had converged upon the cgity, and 53 of them had to be examined during the day in order to obtain their admission to the United States.

Some of the party came from Sydney, some from Campbellton, and some from Chipman, where they have been engaged in work at the mines. Most of them had several hundred dollars upon their persons.

Out of the number examined yesterday two were held back. They were Prince Edward Islanders, hailing from Tignish. Developments in their case is not unlikely, as their manner was regarded by the United States officials Yesterday was the busiest day which garded by the United States officials as very suspicious. They had not sufficient money to pass inspection, and ficient money to pass inspection, and in addition they told conflicting stories. Chris. Nicholls held high court yesterday among the Italians, several cases coming up for adjudication. All were disposed of in summary style, and the decisions were so emphatic that some were appealed from.

One of the Italians had managed to dispose of a railway mileage ticket, providing for runs out of Bangor, to one of his compatriots. He had secured the money in payment, taking about one-tenth of the purported value of the book, but he could not escape the eagle eye of Chris. Nicholluyp put he eagle eye of Chris, who scented villainy, and swooped down upon the group from across the street.
