Weak Kidneys

Weak kidneys, surely point to weak kidneys. The kidneys, like the heart, are the backbone of the system, and if they fail, the whole system is in danger. Dr. Shoop's Restorative is a medicine specifically prepared to reach the controlling nerves, and doctor the kidneys along the spine. It is a waste of time and of money as well.

If your back aches or is weak, if the urine is cloudy, or is dark and strong, if you have symptoms of Bright's or other distressing or dangerous kidney disease, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative a month. Tablets or liquid—and see what it can do for you. Druggists recommend and sell.

DAVID GETS FIVE YEARS

Fredericton, N. B., Jan. 12.—The trial of Thomas David, the Syrian peddler on the charge of murdering his wife, which has been going on before Judge McLeod and jury in the York circuit court since Tuesday, was brought to a close last night, when the jury, after deliberating one hour and a half, returned a verdict of manslaughter of the lowest degree, and made a strong recommendation to mercy.

There was a large crowd in the court when the verdict was announced, and it seemed to meet with general approval. The prisoner, who seemed to be greatly pleased with the jury's finding, was remanded to jail until 9 o'clock Monday morning, for sentence.

Judge McLeod, after thanking the jury and announcing that he had no fault to find with the verdict, discharged them from further attendance. Solicitor-General Jones and J. D. Hazen, K. C., who conducted the prosecution and defense respectively, with marked ability expressed themselves as being satisfied with the verdict.

The contingent of Syrians from Lowell who raised funds for David's defense and have been in constant attendance during the trial, were greatly delighted with the result. The fact that the presiding judge's approval of the verdict is taken as an indication that David will not get a heavy sentence.

The prisoner, although a stranger in a strange land, was treated with the greatest kindness all through the trial by the court officials, from the judge down. While the jury was out deliberating upon the verdict he was taken from the dock and allowed to smoke a cigar in the court.

The sentence of the court was, that the prisoner be confined for two years.

What a Girl can do to ##### Make her Room Look Pretty

She can put a pad of pink or blue tissue paper under the bureau scarf. She can clean her bureau silver, take down all the last year's dance orders from the mirror, and brighten up the gilt handles of the bureau itself with a bottle of radiator gilt. If there's any left she can retouch the frames of her pictures.

She can remove all the quick-knocks from the mantelpiece and convert it into a shelf for her new books. These may be supported at the ends by a pair of book racks made of firm cardboard covered with linen.

She can recover her utility box with flowered chintz and wash the cover of the pillow on it.

She can remove the white cover of her chamber stand, put on blotting paper and use it as a writing desk. A peach basket stained dark green will make a pretty wastebasket, and she can make a pretty chintz covered one of cardboard.

She can clean her willow rocking chair with strong soda and water and set it out in the sun till it bleaches out. Then she can make cretonne cushions for the back and seat. Or it may be stained with the same green that she used on the wastebasket.

She can cut the tops off of her muslin window draperies and shorten them till they come just to the sill like cottage curtains.

She can take down all her college flags, of which she is getting a bit tired and make them into patchwork sofa pillow covers. Or she can take a big sheet of black felt and stitch the banners and pennants into it to make an afghan.

She can take the shabbier chair in the room, get brother to saw an inch off of the legs, paint it white, make chintz cushions for it and use it to set in while she sews.

Then with the pretty new pictures, books and fancy work bags which Santa Claus brought, her room will look as fresh as if refurnished.

Scattered accidents	230	400
Total	35,612	23,307

If the total number of persons who lost their lives as the result of accidents throughout the world in 1907 were gathered in a single community, a city the size of Brooklyn, would have been wiped out of existence as effectually as was Pompeii.

The list for the year in the accidents chronicled by the New York Tribune shows an aggregate of 35,612 killed and 23,307 seriously injured, or a grand total of 58,919 unfortunate who in one form or another, suffered death or painful injury in many cases as the direct result of carelessness.

Day by day throughout the year, these figures mean that almost 98 persons perished by violence in every 24 hours, while nearly 159 were either killed or maimed. The harvest by earthquakes, landslides and other disturbances of nature stands at the head of the column with a grim total of 21,512 killed and 3,092 injured. Explosions and mine disasters, chiefly in America, holds third place with a total of 3,086 deaths and 2,721 injured. Mine disasters claim fourth place with a total of 2,269 lost. Fire victims rank fifth in the list with 1,203 fatalities and 667 injured. Sixth in the column are the 811 who lost their lives in railroad wrecks.

Despite the great hue and cry about careless operation of automobiles, their victims in the aggregate are few compared with other forms of accidents. The grand total of automobile accidents is 229 killed and 704 injured, while the roll of street cars and wagons is 136 killed and 292 injured.

From careless handling of firearms 197 were sent to their graves. Seventy-five persons were killed and 160 injured in runaways.

In the various sports football ranked first in the list of accidents. About a score of players received fatal injuries and more than 100 were seriously injured.

The Home Doctor

To cure nose bleeding, tie a string very tightly around the small part of the thumb below the knuckle.

Half a teaspoon of table salt dissolved in a half glassful of cold water will give instant relief in case of heartburn.

People with poor digestion, should drink no water with meals, but take a glassful half an hour before and drink plentifully an hour or so after each meal.

To inhale steam from a bowl of boiling water is very good for a sore throat. The sufferer should lean over the steam, drawing it in both throat and nostrils.

Many cases of indigestion, headache, neuralgia, cold hands and feet can be quickly cured by drinking slowly one or two pints of water so hot that it almost burns the throat.

Warts may be entirely removed by washing the hands two or three times a day with the water in which potatoes have been boiled or by bathing the wart several times with potato water.
