NO PLACE FOR THE MAYOR OF OTTAWA

If The Capital's Chief Magistrate Goes To The Coronation It Must Be As Private Citizen.

Ottawa, Ont., May 9.—The city clerk has received a reply from the governor general's secretary to a request as to what position the mayor of the capital of Canada would have if he attended the Coronation.

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY STRONGER TODAY THAN EVER

Continued from page 1. A very angry and discontented Liberal party, fearing that the minority should not dictate the policy of the government and seeing the minority doing it. In short, Mr. Borden has made Sir Wilfrid Laurier attend the coronation and the conference; has made the country know that he, and not the prime minister's own volition, is making him there; has abjured reciprocity for at least two months more, and has gained that much time in which to place the issue before the electors, who should be consulted. Back of the effect of this triumph is the fact that the Conservatives feel every day with increasing strength that in reciprocity they have the people with them.

Liberals in Trouble. The Liberals, on their part, have their troubles. There is the increasing sense that reciprocity, which was to have been a master play, has proved a disappointment. To take one example of the way they are being beaten in argument. Some time ago Mr. Jameson, M. P., for Digby, examined reciprocity from the standpoint of the Atlantic fisheries, and from a close personal knowledge of the subject put forward a crushing attack on the "free fish" feature of the agreement. In the short tour of New Brunswick the Conservatives used Mr. Jameson's arguments, producing a remarkable effect on the people who heard them. It is a singular fact that the Liberals not only have not answered Mr. Jameson, but have not tried to answer him. Days of debate have gone by, and the Liberals have announced that they will put up no more speakers, and not one Liberal M. P. from the maritime provinces has stood up and opened his mouth on the subject.

Mr. Borden's Tour. Secondly, it was definitely settled that the leader of the Opposition will go west and fight reciprocity. The details have not all been worked out, but in general it may be said that Mr. Borden and the tour will appear with the use of the two months' adjournment which Mr. Borden's parliamentary skill wrung from Sir Wilfrid Laurier to tour the provinces, right or wrong, the prairie country is regarded as the portion of the Dominion where reciprocity at present is strongest, and Mr. Borden accordingly is going to the point where the fighting is hottest. That, of course, is the place for the standard bearer; and such westerners as have been dazzled by the American and the various opportunities of finding that the leader of the Opposition can argue the case out and demonstrate the unsoundness of the policy, will be present in the maximum of campaigning compressed into the minimum of time.

In this connection it may be interesting to note that several of the all the Conservative M. P.'s will follow their leader's example and devote the two months' adjournment to the fight against reciprocity, and provided for them, if they will but speak. The only way to fight the agreement is by fighting by energetic discussion. So far, however, has paid every time in dealing with it.

Mr. McBride and Mr. Rogers came for the purpose of arranging to enter the field, but their plans were arranged some time ago. They visited Ottawa to find the party buoyant and hopeful. They do not come to rally a shaken and discouraged army, but to join one who encourages and excites. The Conservative party is on the attack.

Funeral at Sussex. Sussex, May 9.—The funeral of Mrs. Mary Smith, took place today from her late residence to the cemetery at Sussex Corner. Rev. W. H. Clark, of Moncton, conducted the burial services. Four grandsons of the deceased acted as pall bearers. The esteem in which Mrs. Smith was held was evidenced by the large number of people who attended the funeral, and many floral offerings.

Los Angeles, Cal., May 9.—The application of John J. McNamara fixing bail on the charge of dynamiting, was disallowed today by superior judge, Lordwell, without prejudice and with leave to renew it at any time.

PROSPEROUS YEAR

Annual Meeting Held Last Evening - Reports Submitted and Election of Directors for Ensuing Term.

The annual meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held last evening in the rooms of the association when the returns for the year past were submitted and the election of the new directors held. From the reports it was shown that the year had been a prosperous one and that the work of the association during the past year had been carried on energetically and the results encouraging. The election of directors resulted in the selection of the following: G. Barber, G. A. Wetmore, G. A. Henderson, F. A. Dykeman and H. H. Pickett, the first four of these being re-elected.

The board of directors in their annual report for the year in the religious department has been unusually encouraging. The meetings for men had been largely attended. Sunday afternoon Bible study groups had been appreciated by the boys who by their attendance and earnest efforts were progressing in the study of the Bible.

In the educational department the men's and boys' reading rooms have been well supplied with magazines and periodicals and are used by many of the members. An educational class was conducted for seniors with an enrollment of 7. Thirty-one sessions were held with an attendance of 111. A singing school was organized since 1908. An effort was made to organize a debating society but very few members expressed an interest in the subject.

Class Attendance. Youn men 48 1405 Business men 75 1414 Physical Education 55 1688 High School Boys 46 571 School Boys (B) 48 1352 School Boys (C) 48 1069 Total 324 8039 Free work 20 2853 10,592

The financial statement showed that the total receipts for the year were $10,146.14, while the expenditure was $10,152.50. As the association had $1,750 cash on hand at the first of the year, the balance gives $9.97 on the right side.

The association has 786 members, classified as follows: Full members 269 Business men 152 Limited members 89 Life members 11 Working boys 107 Juniors 159 Total 786

The Boys' Work. The annual report of the boys division shows that the ending May 1st, 1911, has been an active one in every department and has increased its services to the boys considerably. During the summer months a public school baseball league was formed with encouraging results, and will be reorganized this summer.

The summer school conducted for boys who have failed to grade, had an enrollment of eighteen. Of this number sixteen are profited by the summer sessions and at the reopening of the schools they were able to attain the required marks and were promoted. The cost of maintaining the school was covered by fees of the scholars.

Several very enjoyable social gatherings were held during the year and many other attractions of a social nature were provided for the boys. Besides the summer school which has been mentioned a school for employed boys was conducted during the winter months. Twenty-two sessions were held; fourteen boys were enrolled.

The Electrical club, organized a year ago has now a paid up membership of fourteen fellows who are interested in the line of work. The room in the basement has been fitted up with benches and drawers, tools and appliances have been purchased to the extent of $12.18.

WANTS NEW LINE

Newfoundland's Premier Has Plan for Quicker Communication Between England and America via St. Johns.

New York, N. Y., May 8.—Sir Edward Morris, the Newfoundland premier said tonight that he had come by New York on his way to London because he wanted to discuss the project by which passengers between Liverpool and New York will be landed here, 24 hours earlier than they are now on the fastest boats.

"The New York," said Sir Edward Morris, the representative of a powerful English syndicate which acquired rights to a railway running out of Quebec and has a charter to build a railway in the direction of Cape St. Charles on the coast of Labrador, I see no reason why such a railroad should not be constructed and operated in connection with a new line of steamers between St. Charles and Newfoundland.

From Cape St. Charles to Quebec is about 1,800 miles, on a railroad of standard gauge this distance could be covered at 60 miles an hour, which means that passengers would be landed in lower Canada and the United States 24 hours earlier than by the Lusitania now.

Discussing the acquisition of the last English cable company by American companies, Sir Edward said: "I think that within a very short time cables entirely owned by British investors will be laid from Great Britain to Canada via Newfoundland. The Newfoundland government already owns a cable to the Canadian coast and could readily lay a man cable if needed for that short distance."

ST. JOHN MASONS ARE VISITING NEWCASTLE

Grand Master Bridges and Party on Fraternal Visit to Northumberland County Lodge - Death of Miss Harriman.

Newcastle, May 9.—Grand Master H. S. Bridges with C. D. Jones, I. Arnold Fox, F. Burpee, Dr. Thomas Walker, D. Dearness and other prominent Masons are here today in fraternal visit to Northumberland lodge in annual connection. The visit arrived on the accommodation at the meetings were opened about three o'clock. The order is in a flourishing condition in this county at the present time.

A telegram to James Harriman today brought the sad intelligence that his daughter, Miss Harriman, had passed away suddenly yesterday while visiting in Montreal. The deceased was a well known local lady. Particulars of her death are meagre, but she died in the hospital after only a few hours illness.

THE PRESBYTERIANS AND MIXED MARRIAGES

Perth, Ont., May 9.—The Presbyterian synod of Montreal and Ottawa will open here tonight. Among the matters brought in for discussion will be the marriage law of Quebec, and the No Temere decree. At the last meeting of the synod the matter was sent to a committee in the following terms:

The committee have considered the matter referred to them and find it to be clear that in various instances marriages have been celebrated by the Protestant ministers between a Roman Catholic and the province of Quebec and a Protestant and even between two Roman Catholics of the said province, that judges of the province of Quebec have differed in judgment regarding the validity of such marriages, under the provincial law, and that thus important interests have been placed in jeopardy and therefore recommended that the synod appoint a committee to act in concert with representatives of as many of the other churches as possible and to carry out whatever project may commend itself to them as fitted to lessen or put an end to the evils of the existing situation.

The committee appointed as a result of the foregoing resolution will report now. Other questions to be discussed are augmentation of systematic benevolence, Sabbath school and church life and work, moral and social reform, and education.

The latter said in reference to the No Temere clause concerning mixed marriages: "We must vindicate the rights of the people." Six Presbyteries are represented by eight delegates.

different industries visited showing the boys through, is greatly appreciated. During April a class in life saving from drowning has been conducted. Seven lessons were given with a total attendance of 47.

Presents a Modern and Complete Picture of the Operations of the Great Army of Modern Civilization

THE penalty of modern progress is the sacrifice of extensive to intensive knowledge. Like the soldier on the firing line of a modern battle, each individual unit in the great army of civilization is compelled, in order to hold his place, to concentrate his undivided attention on the task which immediately confronts him. He has little opportunity of finding out what even his immediate neighbors are doing. Still less chance has he of learning the nature of the whole general scheme of operations in which individually he is merely a pawn.

But while this illustration reflects very clearly the character of the situation in which the modern man finds himself, it is defeatist in one very essential particular. Though the best soldier is probably the one who knows nothing and cares nothing about what is happening to the right or left of him, the desire to possess something more than the minimum of knowledge demanded by society from each of its members in return for clothing, food, warmth and recreation is the sole impulse behind the movement we call progress. It was curiosity that was ranked by the Greeks as the highest of human motives, and it is the soldier of civilization who seeks to know what his regiment is doing, what his battalion is doing, what his army corps is doing, and what the whole army is doing, who is most valuable to himself and his time, and is in line for promotion.

It is only, however, when a man has made this discovery for himself, has found that but few things are really worth while and that a personal share in the intellectual life and culture of his time is one of them, that his real difficulties begin. The moment he tries to acquire accurate information he is confronted with the fact that the enlightenment he needs is so various in source, diffuse in form and technical in expression that an ordinary library is inadequate to help him. He is halted by the discovery that the run of really informing books have little to offer anyone outside of the limited circle to whom they are particularly addressed.

Now, when the editor and permanent staff of the new Encyclopaedia Britannica made an exhaustive survey of the battlefield of modern progress and employed 1,500 of the leading experts in the world to prepare under their supervision an account of it, they enjoyed all the unique advantages, and their position closely resembled that of the commander and general staff of an army in the field. They may be said to have placed at the service of every soldier in the army of modern civilization a detailed summary of the collated, analyzed and indexed reports of every officer engaged in its operation. This summary (literally, as the word implies, a summum of human knowledge, thought, and activity) is the new 11th Edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Encyclopaedia Britannica A completely new work, founded on a fresh survey of the world in every department of knowledge at the end of 1910. 28 quarto volumes (12 inches by 9 inches) of text, each containing 960 to 1,060 pages; and index volume containing 500,000 references. 49,000 articles aggregating 40,000,000 words; 7,000 text illustrations; 459 full-page plates; 417 maps.
