Business Before Common Council

City Will Pay Claims Arising Out of Accident to Boys—Other Matters.

The City Council yesterday decided to pay claims arising out of the accident at the Queen square, west, playgrounds, by which Orlo Brown lost his life and a lad named McLeod lost the use of two fingers, at the acting city solicitor advised this course. The amount agreed on is $1,000 in each case. This action was opposed by commissioner Jones, who argued that the opinion of the city solicitor was not definite enough.

It was decided to tear down the old Market building in West St. John as a building inspection reported it in a dangerous condition. On motion of Commissioner Jones it was decided to proceed with the laying of a water main in Tower street, west, at an estimated cost of $4,000, to be paid for out of unexpended bond balances.

Commissioner Jones presented a report on the proposed renewal for next year totalling $97,000. This did not include the work proposed by the mayor, a new main to Loch Lomond. The commissioner will present a report on this proposition.

Programme At The Tabernacle

Over Hundred Adults Present on Invitation of Sunshine Bible Classes.

The Tabernacle church vestry was the scene of a very pleasant function last evening when about 110 adult persons gathered at the invitation of the Men's Brotherhood and Ladies' Sunshine Bible classes. In their annual reunion. This year, instead of as formerly confining the attendance to members of the two classes, an effort was made to get in touch with every adult in the church community and interest them in the work of the classes and enlist their co-operation in Bible study and service. Despite the unfavorable weather the number of new faces in evidence was gratifying and the classes are hopeful of securing a considerable increase in membership.

The programme was of an informal nature. Fred Crawford, president of the Brotherhood, was in the chair. It began with the hymn, "Onward Christian Soldiers." P. C. Murray sang a solo; the pastor, Rev. A. L. Tedford, gave a short address of welcome; Mrs. Willard Graves, a reading; Mr. Murray and Miss Ethel Kierstead, a duet, and R. D. Coggins a solo.

The classes were fortunate in having as their guests Rev. and Mrs. C. T. Clark, of the Fairville Baptist church, and after the gentlemen had served the delicious refreshments prepared by the ladies' class, of which Mrs. Joseph McKensie is president and Mrs. George Cuthbertson teacher, Rev. Mr. Clark gave a most inspiring and helpful address on "The Place and Value of Sunday School Work in the Life of Today"; and dealt particularly with the adult class department. He emphasized the need for men and women to intelligently study and understand the Bible message in order to carry out the great business of making the life Christian. The speaker pointed out various things that have for an unsuccessful class, and he also gave many helpful suggestions for a successful one. He mentioned several kinds of work that the classes might carry on for the benefit of the individual, the home, the country and the church.

Following the address two contests were held, and a time of social fellowship. The very pleasant evening was brought to a close by the singing of "All Hail the Power of Jesus' Name," led by the pastor.

Monthly Meeting of Women's Hosp. Aid

Splendid Reports Received from Committee—Christmas Treat for Children.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid was held yesterday afternoon at the Board of Trade room, Prince William street, the vice president, Mrs. T. H. Carter in the chair. Splendid reports were received from the convener of the visitors committee and from the house committee and the purchase of additional bath robes and hot plates was decided upon. It was also decided to give the children the usual Christmas treat.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted. Several letters of thanks were read, including one from Miss Scott, expressing her appreciation of the gift of a Victoria.

A number of bills were read and ordered paid. Some bills for the children which had been purchased had not proved satisfactory and it was decided to return a number which had not been used and buy material and make some up.

The reports of the denominational vice-presidents reported as follows: Mrs. Gilchrist for the Presbyterians, 6 new members from St. David's church; Mrs. A. C. Corbett for the Methodists, 28 new members from Centenary, 20 from Portland and 2 from Zion; Mrs. Doody for the Catholics, 4 new members from St. Peter's parish; Mrs. Carter for the Baptists, 4 new members from Central; no report from the Anglicans.

Mrs. Lester Mowry, convener of the visitors for the month, reported a good supply of magazines, a number of letters written and posted for patients and 3 follow up cases reported to Mrs. Doody. She also reported a patient had requested that any comforts sent in to the patients be first sent to the office.

The Halloween treat for the children had been greatly appreciated by them, and especially by the boys. Fruits of various kinds, candy and nuts and ice cream had been provided and toys, masks etc., suitable to the occasion. The kiddies had a great time and showed their appreciation of the affair in no uncertain manner. The patients in the epidemic also shared in this treat and some oranges left over were sent to the typhoid fever patients. A treat of cranberry and apple jelly had also been sent to the patients and the names of a number who had contributed to this treat were read as well as the names of those who helped supply the Halloween treat.

The report was adopted. Mrs. Gilchrist was named as convener of the visitors committee for the coming month.

Mrs. Morris presented the report of the house committee. She referred to the many improvements which had recently been made by which 5 private and 6 semi-private beds had been made available for patients. One room had been made into a Workmen's Compensation Board office and the other would accommodate 5 semi-private rooms and in this ward the patients were allowed to smoke, which they appreciated very much.

In the old nurses' home the first floor had been transformed into the dining room for the doctors and nurses, the second floor was used for the executive office and on the third floor were the maids quarters.

She recommended the purchase of a hot plate and of 36 bath robes and 36 pairs of slippers for the use of the ward patients. The line supply was in good shape, only two towels being missing in five months. A request had been made for rubber casters for the beds in the nurses home as the iron casters were scratching the floors. The report was adopted.

Mrs. Mowry brought up the matter of badges for the visitors and Mrs. E. A. Young and Mrs. Lester Mowry were appointed a committee to look into matter and report.

On motion of Mrs. Doody seconded by Mrs. Shaugnessy it was decided to purchase two hot plates for use in the hospital.

Miss Addy reported for Mrs. Ralph Robertson, convener of the magazine committee, that a full supply of five magazines had been on hand and a number of fine children's books and puzzles had been sent to the hospital.

The Baptist ladies are to supply the magazines for the coming month. Mrs. Blime reported for the cook book committee that the book cost $747 in cash, $250 was still owing and 1,067 books had been taken from the printer.

The matter of rubber casters for the beds was referred back to the house committee for investigation to see if they were absolutely necessary. Mrs. Mulochy, that Mrs. George Mowry be asked to act as convener of that committee for this year and if she could not act that Mrs. Mowry be appointed convener, the convener to name her own committee. Carried.

It was announced that Miss Alice Fairweather had severed her connection with the Standard and the secretary was instructed to send her a letter of appreciation for her long and devoted service in which she had always reported the meetings. Miss Broad of the Telegraph was also thanked for her service in the same connection.

On motion of Mrs. Young seconded by Mrs. Wilson it was decided to purchase 36 bath robes and 36 pairs of slippers.

No further business offering the meeting adjourned.

Engineers In Regular Session

Frank P. Vaughan Addressed Members on "Electro Therapeutics."

The St. John Branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada held its regular monthly meeting yesterday evening in the Orange Hall. An exceedingly large number was present for the occasion to hear the address of the chairman, Frank P. Vaughan, B. I. C., on the subject of "Electro Therapeutics," which was also discussed by Dr. W. E. Rowley from a medical viewpoint.

In the course of his remarks Mr. Vaughan stated that the principal uses to which electricity was put in the treatment of disease were divided into four classes: first, by violet ray; second, by high frequency spray; third, by d'Arsonval auto condensation; and fourth, by diathermy.

These methods were mostly applied for the relief of pain and to cure rheumatism and various other similar diseases. Tuberculosis was treated by the use of ozone in European countries and locally.

The latter was also utilized for ventilation purposes, and was formed when the electric sparks were liberated. Mr. Vaughan also mentioned that ozone was further used for deodorizing. In regard to the treatment of tuberculosis, the speaker pointed out that medical men were more or less divided in opinion as to the value of its use.

Dr. W. E. Rowley explained the various uses to which the X-ray may be put, and further discussed the subject thoroughly from its medical side. Illustrated lantern slides were used which demonstrated the different means of treatment to the human body by electricity.

Cases Dealt With In Police Court

Two Drunks Remanded—Geo. Durant Charged With Creating a Disturbance.

The police court handed in to Magistrate Ritchie on the opening of the police court yesterday morning, was a light one. Two drunks were charged with statutory offences and after receiving the magistrate's withering glance, which speaks volumes, were ordered below.

George Durant, charged with creating a disturbance in his home, 192 St. John street, W. E. was preferred against George Durant, to which the accused pleaded not guilty. In his better half he was not in court to give evidence, he was remanded until such time as he shall appear to give his version of the case. Preparatory to the second introduction by the case of John Paris charged with the murder of nine-year-old Sadie McLeod, Sergeant Detective Powers has left for Truro, where he is working on the case. It will be remembered that it was largely due to the weight of evidence produced by the defense in introducing witnesses from Truro who supported the defendant's alibi, that the jury which tried the case disagreed at the first trial. It may be that the crown will endeavor to secure evidence in Truro, for the second trial which will rebut that produced by the defense. Both the crown and the defense are credited with having prepared considerable additional evidence to be introduced at the second trial.
