Mutiny, from the Diary of a Slave Girl; and Bismillah; or, Happy Days in Cashmere, Lon., 1869, p. 8vo.

Allardyce, Alexander, b. 1846, at Rhynie, Aberdeenshire, Scotland; educated at the University of Aberdeen 1865-67; was assistant editor of the Friend of India, at Calcutta, 1867-70, and editor of the Indian Statesman 1873-75; joined the literary staff of Messrs.
William Blackwood & Sons, Edinburgh, in 1877, and on the death of Mr. James Blackwood, in 1879, became the chief of the literary department and confidential literary adviser of the firm. He has contributed articles and tales to Blackwood's, Fraser's, the Cornhill, and Good Words, and was the chief originator of the Scottish Text Society in 1882. 1. The City of Sunshine,

3. (Ed.) Scotland and Scotsmen in the Eighteenth Century. From the MSS. of John Ramsay, Esq., of Ochtertyre. Edin. and Lon., 1888, 2 vols. 8vo.

"This is as good a book of its kind—a somewhat superficial and artificial kind, it must be allowed—as has yet been published on Scotland in the eighteenth century. . . .
Mr. Allardyce . . . has done his work as Ramsay's editor carefully and well. In other words, he has allowed Ramsay to prattle about Scotch judges, professors, clergymen, gentry, ladies, landlords, 'worthies,' and 'men of genius and taste'—and it is of such prattlings that this book is composed—after his own fashion and in his own language."
—Acad., xxxiii, 284.

4. (Ed.) Letters from and to Charles Kirkpatrick Sharpe. With a Memoir by the Rev. W. K. R. Bel-ford. Illustrated with two Portraits of Mr. Sharpe, and numerous Portraits and Etchings reproduced from his Drawings. Edin. and Lon., 1888, 2 vols. 8vo.

"It is impossible in a few lines to afford an idea of the richly varied matter that is to be found in these volumes.
—the glimpses of the fashionable world and notable personages in the early part of the century, the quaint anecdotes, the curious genealogical jottings, the notes on historical portraits and ancient folios—the whole given, always at least when the letter is from Sharpe's own pen, in a style characterized by the crispness and most pungent wit."—Acad., xxxiv, 268.
