

WEAK MEN This Belt Is FREE Until You Are Cured

Take my Electric Belt for what it will do for you. Wear it while you sleep at night or while you are resting after your work. You will find it a vitalizer, a tonic to your nerves, a rejuvenator of waning vitality. Use it for any ailment which drugs have failed to cure, and you will never cease praising it.

I claim that I can cure weak men; that I can pump new life into worn-out bodies; that I can cure your pains and aches, limber up your joints, and make you feel as frisky and vigorous as you ever did in your life. That's claiming a good deal, but I have got a good remedy, and know it well enough to take all the risk if you will pay me when you are cured.

No man can lose on this. If the cure is worth the price, you don't have to pay for it until you get it. When you are ready to say you are a big, husky and frisky specimen of vigorous manhood; that you haven't got an ache or pain in your whole body, and that you feel better than you ever did in your life, I get paid. If you can't say it after using my Belt for three months, then give me back my old Belt and I won't ask a cent. All I ask is security while you use it.

A short time ago I took a case that I couldn't cure, and I didn't see why, as I had cured hundreds like it. Anyway, my patient returned the Belt and said I hadn't done him any good. He said he thought I had treated him honestly, and wanted to pay me the cost of the Belt, because it couldn't be used again. I refused and told him that I had made a contract to cure him or get nothing, and I wouldn't take a dollar I hadn't earned.

"I am highly satisfied with your Electric Belt. Pains in my back are gone, and digestion is perfect."—JOS. RICHARD, 260 St. Catherine street, Montreal.

"Your Belt is everything you claim it to be. I feel like a new man. Stomach does not bother me now. Have gained in flesh and strength. Can eat and sleep well. I am very thankful I became your patient."—JAS. BIGLOW, Mount Maple, Que.

"I am now wearing your Belt for a month, and am feeling better in every way. The rheumatism has decreased in severity, and I am well pleased with the benefits I have already received."—JOE. MALBOEUF, Shawingigan Falls, Que.

I have cured thousands of men who have squandered the savings of years in useless doctoring. My Belt is easy to use; put it on when you go to bed; you feel the glowing heat from it (no sting or burn, as in old style belts), and you feel the nerves tingle with the new life flowing into them. You get up in the morning feeling like a two-year-old.

Wherever you are, I think I can give you the name of a man in your town that I have cured. Just send me your address and let me try. This is my twenty-fourth year in the business of pumping new vim into worn-out humanity, and I've got cures in nearly every town on the map.

If you will come and see me I'll explain it to you. If you can't call, let me send you my book full of the things a man finds inspiring to strength and courage. Free if you send this ad.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Miscellaneous.

STOPPING A PAPER.

I was taking a local newspaper, and, wanting to stop it, I refused it at the post office, so the postmaster notified the publisher on Feb. 2nd, 1905. I was only paid up till the end of 1904, so the publisher kept sending the paper to the office, but we never took it out. I think the postmaster notified him five times. Not long ago we got a notice to call and settle for paper in full, and, as you will see, we only received the paper a little over a month. Can the publisher legally collect more than the one month and two days' pay, or can he collect full amount, or only part?

Ontario.

Ans.—It is probable that the publisher is in a position to legally collect more than the amount represented by the month and two days, but just how much more we cannot tell without knowing the terms of the original subscription for the paper, including the date of commencement of its delivery. In terminating the contract, the subscriber ought to notify the publishers direct, but his right to terminate the contract depends largely, of course, on the terms of the contract.

TWIG BLIGHT—BLACK KNOT.

Four apple trees have been blighted, apparently. The trees were heavily loaded with blossom this spring, and also with fruit. The leaves began dying about the time the blossom began to fall, and have continued ever since, until now, when nearly one-third the leaves are dead and fully two-thirds of the fruit has fallen off. I am thinking that the trees may die, and would like to know what to do to prevent them dying, and also to save the remainder of the fruit. The apples are of a fall variety, a Pippin, I think, but am not sure, as it is a place I have just bought. I am sending samples of leaves and fruit, that you may see how they are affected. About one hundred feet from these trees there is a lot upon which a thick cluster of bushes of various kinds have grown, such as cherry trees, plum trees, etc. These trees are loaded with black knot, a sample of which I am sending to you. I thought possibly this disease might be transferred to the apple trees. If such were the case, could I compel the owner to cut the shrubs, and what course would I take to do so?

J. W.

Ans.—The dead leaves on your apple trees are, no doubt, the result of twig blight, which has been very troublesome on a great many kinds of apple trees the last few years. The best preventive is thorough spraying with Bordeaux mixture. There is no danger whatever of black knot spreading from the plum and cherry trees to apple trees. However, it should not be allowed to develop unchecked on the plums and cherries, for it will spread to other healthy trees of the same species.

The Provincial statute leaves it optional with the different municipalities to adopt and enforce a law compelling the destruction of black knot and other fungous diseases. If your municipality passed a by-law providing for the destruction of black knot, it is likely that an inspector will also have been appointed to enforce the provisions of the Act. Your best recourse, then, is to report the case to the inspector, whose duty it is to see that the knots are removed, or the trees destroyed. If such a by-law has not been adopted, it would be well for you to bring the matter up before the council, and try to get them to pass such a by-law.

H. L. HUTT.

Irving Bachiller, the author of "Elen Hobbes," was a little further north than usual last summer while on his vacation, and happened to be in Newfoundland. He caught a good many fish, but this did not prevent his keeping an eye on the natives. He was particularly impressed by the men who spent the day lounging about the wharves.

"What do you fellows do when you sit around the wharves like this?" he asked of one of the men. "We sit in a circle of tilted chairs and keep our eyes a-d maintaining a steady gaze on the water." "What is the use of the oldest, and the most experienced fisherman, and then you sit around the wharves like this?"
