Summers, Box W. 87 Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment, with full instructions. Send no money but write her to-day if your children trouble you in this way. "Some time ago," Mr. Hill continued, "I had a very sore back. It started from a cold and I suffered for six months with it. I also had stiffness in my joints and cramps in my muscles and I felt heavy and sleepy after meals. My appetite was fitful and my limbs were heavy. Then I decided to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. Japan Takes Indian Trade

Particulars are announced of a significant development of the export trade of Japan with markets further afield than she has been able to secure before the war. Thus, a large beer brewery which was established there by German capital and under German technical supervision, has been taken over by the Government, and is being worked with no little success. It is even said that the Japanese beer is being introduced into India as a substitute for the light beers of Teutonic origin which are no longer available. Similarly, India is being supplied with a large quantity of some mineral materials for building and chemical manufacture are being subjected to very effective competition from Japan. It stipulates the handicap occasioned by the cost of freight and the import duty.

Edmonton Women Organize

Following the example of the women of England, the women of Edmonton have completed the organization of Women's Volunteer Reserve Corps. More than 350 women have been drilled.

The Nurses' Corps have been most friendly to each other in England and France. Some objection has been made to the discipline here and there, but perhaps it is more strict than is generally known in Canada. However, the splendid work of the trained nurse is more and more appreciated by those in authority. The nurse soon realizes that they are members of the militia, for which they are doing their utmost. In the convalescent homes, too, the soldiers are the best patients possible, and instead of grumbling, an effort is made continually to lighten the burdens of the nurses.

One Severe Test Now

A change in the regulations for recruits for overseas service has been approved by the Militia Council and Cabinet, and officially announced a few days ago by Senator Loughheed, Acting Minister of Militia. It stipulates that there will be but one medical examination. Previously there have been two examinations, one when a man first joined and second when he reached camp. The first examination was often rather lax and men who were accepted resigned positions and were "renewed" by friends, were rejected when they reached camp. Now the first examination will be more rigorous and will be final; men will not be subjected to the humiliation of returning home after being once accepted.

TO PRESERVE YOUR RUGS.

Do Not Beat or Sweep Them Very Much—Fiber Easily Destroyed. It is a mistake to have fine rugs vigorously beaten on cleaning day. The sharp beating with a stick as the rug hangs over a line is very injurious to the fiber, and only thick, cheap rugs or the soft, beautifully woven rugs, with substantial cotton-woven backs, will stand the treatment. Whacking with the end of the stick is especially inimical to silk oriental rugs which are used as couch covers. Such rugs should be well shaken and cleaned with a vacuum cleaner or a good carpet sweeper, and once a year should be sent to a professional cleaner who will repair any rents or frayed places in the rug and clean it by special process, which brightens the colors without injuring the fiber.

Never wipe off expensive rugs with soap and water or sprinkle wet tea leaves over them—an old fashioned cleaning custom which may have improved the terrible slowest carpet of the Victorian period by softening and fading their strenuous colors, but which will do more harm than good to the soft tones of a real oriental rug or a summer of modern subdued colors. If you must wipe off the rugs with something use a cloth wrung out in turpentine, but beware of ammonia on soft-lined floor coverings.

A new rug or carpet should not be swept with a broom. Use a carpet sweeper for several weeks until the pile becomes "set." Old fashioned housekeepers may tell you to sweep the new rug brightly to "remove the fuzz." What you will really be doing will be to sweep out some of the nap and probably injure the surface of the rug. If you must sweep, however, be careful to move the broom with the pile of the fabric and not against it.

Rugs should never be tacked down. If in certain places in the room they are apt to be rolled back or pushed about attach bits of black tape with snap fasteners at the end of the rug.

Killing the "Kick."

Most people know that when an ordinary rifle is fired it "kicks," and, indeed, will knock a man down unless he holds the rifle butt close into his shoulder. It can be imagined, therefore, what a gigantic "kick" a big field gun can give!

It has always been one of the problems to solve in firing these big guns, how to control the recoil. If it were not controlled the gun would jump back anything up to fifty yards, not only probably smashing itself up, but killing the gunners as well.

Springs and air chambers, of course, have been used, but it was found that they quickly got out of order. We owe to the Germans, indeed, the finding of the best method of overcoming the recoil.

Early in the war one of the big German guns was captured and brought to Woolwich Arsenal for a thorough examination. It was found that instead of using compressed air the special recoil chambers were filled with a compound of which glycerine was the chief ingredient.

Now many of Britain's big guns are fitted with these recoil chambers, and are fired with very little "kick,"—thanks to that captured German gun!

"Alexander the Great."

The exploit of fourteen-year-old Alexander Cherviatkin, according to a Moscow correspondent, is without parallel, either in this or any other war.

At Warsaw the boy was enrolled in a troop of scouts, and received orders to carry out a reconnaissance. Slipping out under cover of darkness, Cherviatkin made his way towards the German lines, but was captured.

Owing to his youth, no strict guard seems to have been kept over him, and under cover of night he succeeded in creeping away through the German lines. But, not content merely with escaping, he had the audacity to steal a German flag from a sleeping standard-bearer, and with his precious trophy he started on his journey home. Unfortunately he fell into the line of the searchlight. The Germans at once opened fire and wounded Cherviatkin in the side, but the boy managed to stagger into the Russian trenches, and was duly awarded the St. George's Cross.
