FOR BUSY MEN.

ROMAN CATHOLIC.

Catholic Sees
According to the New Freeman, besides the thousands of inferior clergy, there are altogether over 1,400 Catholic bishops in the world at the present time.

One of the Fathers

The Rev. Louis G. Gagner, seventy-eight years old, pastor of the Joseph parish, Springfield, died at Mercy Hospital, August twenty-first. He was one of the oldest priests in New Brunswick, one of the first to be ordained with the French Canadian movement in the United States, and had a record of over fifty years in the priesthood. He was the brother of a twenty-seven year old priest, who has been pastor of St. Joseph's church in St. Martin, province of Quebec, Canada, in 1830.

A Lady This Time

Miss Ida Hitchcock, the accomplished, nineteen-year-old daughter of Rev. Dr. Hitchcock, for ten years principal of the Hitchcock Military Academy at San Rafael, Cal., and a candidate for the copeland's minister, was received into the church recently at St. Joseph's church, San Francisco. Rev. Father Keane, officiating at the ceremony, took her into the church with the consent of her parents, who, though staunch Episcopalian, were desirous of following the dictates of her confidante.

The Pope III

ROME, Sept. 17.—His Holiness the Pope, the Bishop of Rome, died at 10.15, that he was dependent concerning his health. He told the American press that he could not hope to live much longer and that he had for his old home in Venice, where he lived so many years in peace and content at the residence called the throne of St. Peter. He told the bishop, however, that he could not expect to fulfil this duty, and must die as he has his immediate predecessor, in the Vatican.

THE ANGLICAN.

Very Small
Probably few people know that England contains a number of parishes so small that the population can be housed under one or two roofs. For instance, Upper Eldon, near Stockbridge, consists of two houses, which with an eleventh century church and a tiny "rod's acre" in the middle of a farm yard adjoining one of the dwellings comprise the whole parish. Not much larger is the population of Leighton, five miles from Exeter, which with its church is the interior dimensions are only sixteen square feet—it is quite large enough for the inhabitants. In Devon, near Exeter, there are two parishes, one of which contains only three adult inhabitants, the village contains five cottages and one shop. Still smaller there was two houses, one of which was a tiny village.

on Far Away
The deliverance of the Laramie, which was possible to make as a result of reunion between Anglican and Presbyterian or other non-Episcopal churches on the basis of communion to the Episcopalians on the part of those separated from it, and services of meetings of ministers and laymen of different bodies should be frequently held, and the authorities should arrange conferences with other churches for the common acknowledgment of the sin of division and for intercession for the growth of unity. Commenting on this the Presbyterian, "It is somewhat disappointing that the bishops and archbishops were not able to go further. The Australian proposal came to nothing, as we fully expected; but it seemed not improbable that the odious barriers erected three hundred years ago against the amenities and courtesies of deordination, which life might have been quietly lifted out of the way, it can never be as well as could wish until she is able to speak with one loud clear voice the truth which Christ died for our sins; and that He will never again be put to death at the hands of sinful men. The claims of missions to the heathen were stated with wholesome emphasis.

THE PRESBYTERIAN
Church Union in Korea
There have been in Korea four sections of the Presbyterian family—the Presbyterian church in the United States North, the Australian Presbyterian church and the Presbyterian church in Canada. They have recently joined hands and now form one strong church.

A Nova Scotian Robert Ralces
The first Sunday school in Nova Scotia, says the S. Times, was established at Lyons Brook, Pictou County, by James Davidson, some seven years earlier than the similar movement in England. Mr. Davidson came from Edinburgh in the year 1772. Soon after his arrival he commenced a day school at Lyons Brook, about three miles from the place where the town of Pictou now stands (then a wilderness). In order to meet the religious wants of the people he collected the children on Sunday for religious instruction.

A newspaper publisher in Pictou fifty years later paid the following tribute to the work of James Davidson: "His work was a worthy man taught school seven days of the week, and to our shame be it spoken, the subject was more identified than when there was place of worship except the school-house where James Davidson taught and prayed. Then it is now when churches are in abundance even at our doors."

THE M. T. FODISTS

Worth Considering

Discussing the question—"Lord to whom shall we go," John 6, 68, the Rev. James Pennington, pastor of the Plymouth, Pa., Methodist church, closed with the words:

"We hear much carping and criticizing these days about the different methods to attract men to the church. The Protestant world has gone almost to the limit in adopting means to secure this desired end. We have seen the magic lantern exhibition and listened to addresses on the subject, we have heard classical discourses and eloquent orations, but the men were no nearer the kingdom than before. We have fumed and raged and worked ourselves into frenzy while the Catholic Church, without any effort on her part, has gone on in the even tenor of her way solving the problem to the satisfaction of her hierarchy.

"How does she do it? How does she get men out of bed on Sunday morning at an early hour—men who work late on Saturday night? How does she fill the streets on Sunday morning with worshippers when the Protestant world is fast asleep? I know some of the explanations that are offered, but they do not explain.

"The reason the Catholic Church succeeds, in spite of our misgivings, is because she is true to the central fact of revelation. She makes the death of Jesus the centre of her devotion, and around that point she organizes all of her activities. When you see a company of Catholic people Sunday morning on the way to church, you can be assured that they are not going to hear an eloquent dissertation on Dr. Jekyll or Mr. Hyde. They are going to that place of worship to attend the Mass. What is the celebration of the Mass? It is what we call the celebration of the Lord's Supper. That fact is kept prominently before the minds of every Catholic. He comes into the church in childhood imbued with the death of Jesus; he goes out of this world thinking of the death of Jesus.

"Whatever may be our opinions about certain details of the church, there is one thing at least from which we ought to draw a lesson, if that church has succeeded by magnifying the Cross, why not every church?"

Going to China
There will sail from Vancouver on October 15, for West China, fifteen missionaries, three of whom are ladies; of the men ten are married, of whom one is Rev. E. R. Broeken, son of the late Rev. Ralph Broeken, D. D. This contingent raises the number of missionaries to 44.

DEACONESS HEARD IN PORTLAND ST. CHURCH
Miss Bessie M. Scott Tells of the Work of the Order

Miss Bessie M. Scott, deaconess from the Methodist Home, Portland, School, was heard in the Portland street Methodist church last evening. She gave an interesting discourse on the history of the order. It first originated in apostolic times and was afterwards dropped. The work was reorganized in the nineteenth century in Germany and spread to the United States, where it has been established for the past fifteen years. At present there are seventy deaconesses in the Toronto Home. These carry on the work in the Dominion. They work among the poor and sick and aim to make women and children lead a higher life. The training school is also an excellent branch of the home.

TRINITY CHURCH OF AMHERST CELEBRATES
Eloquent Sermons and Large Congregations Mark Anniversary Celebration

AMHERST, N. S., Sept. 14.—With large congregations and a splendid service, the first anniversary of the opening of Trinity Methodist church was celebrated here yesterday. St. John's, of Centenary church, St. John, occupied the pulpit at both services with great acceptance. Rev. W. F. Gaetz, who was pastor of the church when the present structure was erected, was also a visitor. Dr. Borden and Prof. Andrews of Mt. Allison; Dr. W. H. Harris the present pastor, and Rev. H. B. Clark, associate pastor, also assisted in the services. The handsome church was tastefully decorated with flowers. A large choir under the leadership of Mrs. J. Aubrey Carter, rendered beautiful and appropriate music. Collections in aid of the church funds were taken during the day and a large sum was realized.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 13.—Barney Oldfield was the victor over Walter Christie in the final today of the $2,000 automobile sweepstakes in which Oldfield, Christie and Chas. Soules competed at the Lorton race track. No record was broken. Oldfield winning the last race of the match on Christie in 1.04.2.5. Before this Christie defeated Oldfield in 1.01. As Oldfield had the day before honors were even. An additional race was necessary.

POPE'S LEGATE HEADS PARADE OF CLERGYMEN

Imposing Spectacle in London

GUARD OF PEERS

Greatest Throng on Streets Since Queen Victoria's Funeral

LONDON, Sept. 13.—A great procession of the clergy, which brought the Buccharese Legate, to the cathedral, was held this afternoon, amid scenes such as the English church had never planned it had never anticipated. Cardinal Vannutelli, who is legate, walked at the head of the procession, wearing his scarlet robes and hat, not carrying the Host. He was accompanied by a body of cardinals, archbishops, and bishops, of whom the Duke of Norfolk was the most prominent, and a concourse of cardinals, archbishops and bishops, who also were attired in ceremonial robes.

No such throngs of people have been seen in London since Queen Victoria's funeral. The purpose of Archbishop Bourne, the head of the Westminster diocese, and his associates had been to have the Host carried through the streets in the rear of Westminster Cathedral, so that the great body of Catholics who were unable to participate in any of the services within the cathedral should have the opportunity of joining in the Eucharistic observances and of seeing all the high ecclesiastics present in London.

The route of the procession was laid through the quiet streets adjacent to the cathedral, but for the unexpected partisan strife which a discussion of this ceremony brought on it probably would have been solemnized quietly and in a reverent atmosphere. The great majority of those who attended to witness the spectacle apparently were attracted by curiosity and a small part were openly hostile. The Catholic element cheered heartily while the Protestant passed by and throughout the crowd was also heard considerable "booming" such as the English people use in theaters to express displeasure.

The people began flocking toward the cathedral hours before the procession started. They came from all directions. Long before the hour set for the ceremony it was impossible to get near the life of march. All the streets leading in that direction were packed and the windows overlooking the procession were filled. Thousands of persons gathered in the rear of the cathedral, from which there was a considerable display of paper colors. The police had not expected such crowds and met with much opposition in their attempts to keep the path clear so that the papal legate and his followers had to pass their way through a narrow lane, being frequently jostled about. A number of persons fainted in the crush and were carried off by the police.

After the procession had re-entered the cathedral, the cardinal legate appeared on the balcony in gorgeous robes and elevated the Host, while the thousands of Catholics outside the building reverently knelt or prostrated themselves. The cardinal legate and his followers delivered a strong and able speech of the policy of the Liberal government in regard to the administration of affairs in Canada.

B. R. Macaulay was also heard with much pleasure, and gave his hearers strong reasons why they should support the Liberal government and Mr. McLean.

A. B. Copp, who was the last speaker of the day, was in great form, and the complete success of the day was dealt with the issue of the campaign was exhaustive and conclusive. The meeting broke up with cheers for the candidate and other speakers, which the large assembly of people gathered on the wharf to give Col. McLean a further salutation when he and his party left by yacht for St. John.

HAY AND FEED PLAGE DESTROYED BY FIRE
Building Occupied by DeWitt Bros., Fairville, Completely Gutted

A serious fire took place early Sunday morning in Fairville, when a large building owned by DeWitt Bros. feed and hay merchants, was completely gutted and thousands of dollars' worth of hay destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. It was discovered about 3.30 a. m., when burning very brisk and after much damage had been done. The Fairville fire department responded quite promptly and with the engine at work they were soon attacking the flames in earnest. It was well on to 7 o'clock when the blaze was under control. The building was completely destroyed, while the stock will be a total loss.

At the time of the fire there were 150 tons of hay in the building, and this is a total loss. The books of the firm were in the office at the time. Ernest DeWitt, the Fairville manager, is in Fairville, taking his car and with his brother will arrive home today.

Over $4,000 damage was done. The firm carries between $2,000 and $3,000 insurance. Until Mr. DeWitt returns the exact amount of damage will not be known.

ONE OF ST. JOHN'S BEST KNOWN CITIZENS DEAD

Richard J. Coughlan Passes Away at His Home Yesterday

The death of Richard J. Coughlan, one of St. John's best known residents, took place yesterday morning at his residence, 3 Exmouth street. The deceased, who had lived like a gentleman of city manners for twenty years, is survived by a wife, three sons and two daughters. The sons are Rev. J. J. Coughlan, parish priest at St. John's, and Thos. F. Coughlan and H. L. Coughlan at home. The daughters are Miss Hannah and Gertrude, also at home. The late Mr. Coughlan was a city marshal and as such of admirably high character and was highly respected by all who knew him.

The funeral will be held from his late residence at eight o'clock tomorrow morning. Requiem Mass will be solemnized at the cathedral.

LAST BIG PICNIC HELD ON SATURDAY

All of Col. McLean's Outings Have Been Unqualified Successes

On Saturday at Hamstead the last of the series of fifteen political picnics which have been held throughout the county of Queens and Sunbury was held and like all others of the series it was a grand success. The Conservative party tried to ridicule and belittle them, but as they progressed the fan-madness of Frederickton and the gathering of the people to witness the picnics were proving a wonderful success. During the whole fifteen picnics three hundred was the largest number in attendance, right's scepter had an attendance of a thousand people. While Col. McLean's chances were considered good for election before these picnics started, now both Liberal and Conservative agree that it is no longer a question of victory with him, but the question is how much his majority will be over Mr. Wilton.

Saturday's picnic was a most excellent success, the day and conditions being ideal for a grand closing of a grand series of picnics. Despite the fact that Hamstead is a Conservative stronghold, a large crowd was in attendance and afforded the speakers an excellent hearing and a most enthusiastic reception. Col. McLean, the first speaker, was in excellent form and delivered a strong and able speech of the policy of the Liberal government in regard to the administration of affairs in Canada.

B. R. Macaulay was also heard with much pleasure, and gave his hearers strong reasons why they should support the Liberal government and Mr. McLean.

A. B. Copp, who was the last speaker of the day, was in great form, and the complete success of the day was dealt with the issue of the campaign was exhaustive and conclusive. The meeting broke up with cheers for the candidate and other speakers, which the large assembly of people gathered on the wharf to give Col. "D" WANTS A SOLID NEW BRUNSWICK
Liberal Party Never So Strong in the Province as at Present

St. John, N. B., Sept. 11, 1908. Dear Sir,—Looking over the political field at this writing and seeing the situation of our sister province complete all along the line for Sir Wilfrid Laurier and good government. The Liberal party never was in better shape from one end of the province to the other, and organized in such fighting trim as they are today. Our distinguished leader in this province, Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, is marshalling his forces and making good in no mistakable way, and will without a doubt go back to Ottawa much stronger than before. There is no reason in this world why the people of New Brunswick should not emulate the example of Nova Scotia in 1904 by having a solid New Brunswick. Nova Scotia will do it this time again beyond a doubt. (Colchester and choice tomatoes to the contrary, etc.) We have as much reason, I think, to stand by the Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Minister of Public Works, as the people of this province have in standing to a man by the Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance. What has Fielding done for his province that Pugsley has not done and is doing for New Brunswick? His whole interests are bound up with the city of St. John and his native province and we have every reason to feel proud of him and give him that unstinted aid that Nova Scotia gives to her equally gifted son. Make the attempt this time and let us go hand in hand with Nova Scotia in the good work, for in unity there is strength, and in this way we will be able to impress upon the government our importance and to counteract the growing political strength of the great Northwest. The people of these lower provinces have got to be united more so today than at any other time since Confederation. As a note, the great West is growing by leaps and bounds and of course increased representation necessary it is for us who our dormant strength, so to speak, to show a bold, united front to this condition of things political. There is food for great thought in this connection and it should make us think and ponder over the responsibility of such action. Let the battle cry be Pugsley and a solid New Brunswick, and when we have such a leader with a solid following behind him we will be in a much better position to demand our rights than ever before.

We cannot make our position too strong. Strike the iron while it is hot. We have everything in our favor, a good strong government led by a capable and honest leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and it remains for us to speak as one man in no uncertain way. By doing so we will be studying our own best interests and at the same time making of this end of Canada a country worth living in and fighting for. Yours, etc.

TENDER HEARTY WELCOME TO RETURNING PRELATE

Heathens to God, but also being at the same time great characteristics of the heathens to be moulded along with Christianity for the uplifting of fellow-men.

A GREAT PRIVILEGE. It was a great privilege to meet the men of the church at this gathering and in strong terms told of the heathens to be moulded along with Christianity for the uplifting of fellow-men.

It was a great privilege to meet the men of the church at this gathering and in strong terms told of the heathens to be moulded along with Christianity for the uplifting of fellow-men.

There was now on hand about $14,000 for the Bishop memorial fund and this had been raised within a few months, so he thought there would be difficulty in getting $20,000, the required. Perhaps the most welcome news that he brought back to the province was that he had induced five or six clergymen to come and take up vacancies in the parishes in New Brunswick. He had tried to get ten, but six was all at the present time. It would be a great help to the church in New Brunswick and several other dioceses now unemployed would again have a pastor. He hoped at the coming meeting of the Synod to give a fuller report of the work connected with the churches now unemployed would make these remarks only, speaking generally. His Lordship next gave a short description of the Lambeth conference and concluded with a prayer for the success of the conference. The evening was passed, refreshments interspersed with choice musical selections.

BISHOP RICHARDSON.
FREDERICTON, N. B., Sept. 10.—At the Church of England hall this evening Bishop and Mrs. Richardson were tendered a hearty reception on their return from England by the parishioners of Fredericton. The hall was completely filled and prettily decorated. Dean Schofield presided and seated on the platform with him were, besides his Lordship and Mrs. Richardson, Canon Cowie, Canon Montgomery, Chancellor Allen, Church Warden Freeman and George, Sheriff Sterling, several ladies and leading church people of this city.

Dean Schofield, in a brief but appropriate address, called the meeting to order and explained its object, expressing at the same time the great joy it was to all to have his lordship back in the province. He called upon Sheriff Sterling, who read the following address: To the Right Reverend John Andrew Richardson, D. D., Lord Bishop of Fredericton: Right Reverend Father in God.—We have gathered tonight, church people of Fredericton and the neighboring parishes, with representatives from other points of the diocese, in the first place to bid you and Mrs. Richardson "welcome home." We were glad to wish you God-speed when going forth in April last, for change of occupation, new sources of inspiration and rest are essential for all leaders of men, and now we bid you a still warmer welcome back to home and diocese.

We have all been reading or hearing with the greatest interest of the unique historic and epoch-making gathering of the pan-Anglican Congress and of the Lambeth conference. We have had the pleasure of your own active participation. We know your own experiences and responsibilities which fell to your lordship's lot in connection with the gathering at Lambeth. While we fully recognize that such gatherings must entail severe temporary loss to the diocese in your enforced absence and must place a great personal strain upon yourself, yet we also realize that assemblies of such character and power are fraught with tremendous issues in the furtherance of which our own branch of the Christian church has been called upon to undertake. We trust that the experiences of the past months will prove an unfailing source of strength to your lordship and that you will be able to return to hope that, notwithstanding the many calls upon your lordship's time and energies, you have been able to find opportunity for rest and the care of your own health. We know your eagerness for work; yet the most untiring zeal can least afford to neglect the call to relaxation and refreshment. In concluding we remember, also, that the present gathering provides the first fitting occasion of offering to your lordship our congratulations since your enthronement as Bishop of the diocese. We would assure you of our whole-hearted confidence; and we pray that God will grant to you and Mrs. Richardson, with your family, great happiness, that He will long spare you to the care of His church in this diocese, and that under your guidance our own branch of the Church of Christ may more and more reflect the character of our Lord and Master, doing well the work which He gives. H. to do.

BISHOP RICHARDSON REPLY.
Bishop Richardson made an eloquent reply. He said that the address had come to him as a surprise and he had not had the opportunity to prepare a thank all for the kind reception. The more he labored in the field to which he had been called the more he considered himself inadequate for the work and the sympathy extended to him by the people of Fredericton was to him a great comfort. He said if there was one thing more happy than going away it was the coming home. The address had spoken of him as being a leader, but no man could be a leader unless he has the people at his back, and he asked for the prayers of all in carrying on the work of the diocese. He had come back to New Brunswick never feeling better in his life and ready to carry on the church business. Of the Pan-Anglican congress he spoke in general terms. The subject was so large and so important that he would not attempt to take the matter up. It was, he said, with some fear that all had met in this great congress feeling that the Anglican trumpet might have been blown too much. But the first day and gathering dispelled any feeling of this kind, and gave each and all the impression that the great Anglican religion was one that had never before been recognized by the followers. The first impression one got was that the greatness of the Anglican religion, the second the impression of the great catholic character of the church, and thirdly its corporate character, and the dominant feeling that was left in everyone's mind that the service was for the whole world and the extension of the Gospel to every part of the earth, that missionary work was not only the bringing of

SAVE THE CHILDREN
Mothers who keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house may feel that the lives of their little ones are reasonably safe during the hot weather months. Stomach troubles, cholera infantum and diarrhoea carry off thousands of little ones every summer, in most cases because the mother does not have a safe medicine at hand to give promptly. Baby's Own Tablets cure these troubles, or if given occasionally to the well child will prevent the trouble coming on. And the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that the Tablets contain no opiate or harmful drug. Mrs. George Minsell, Jr., Mont Louis, Que., says: "Before giving Baby's Own Tablets to my little one she suffered greatly from colic and stomach troubles, and cried a great deal. The Tablets soon cured her and she is now a plump, healthy child, who does not look as though she ever had an hour's illness." You can get the Tablets from any dealer in medicine, or write to Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

R. E. BATES TO GET CHAIR OF ENGLISH Acadia
Rhodes Scholar from Acadia FILLING VACANCIES Well Equipped Men are Being Engaged for Acadia

WOLFVILLE, Sept. 12.—The governors of Acadia University are making a special effort to fill vacancies on the teaching staff with specially well equipped men. A few weeks ago the announcement was made that Prof. W. Colt of University of Vermont had accepted the appointment to the chair of mathematics. It now seems probable that the chair of English will be filled by the appointment of R. E. Bates, Acadia's first Rhodes scholar at Oxford. Prof. Bates is now in Paris engaged in special study. The governors of the college have been in touch with him by cable for a few days, and negotiations look favorable to his appointment. A special meeting of the governors of the college is called for Sept. 15, after which a definite announcement will be made.

Acadia Seminary and Horton Collegiate Academy have opened with a complete teaching staff and good attendance of students. The prospects for a large freshman class are good. The university opens Sept. 20.
