A GRAND DISPLAY

Of the Latest Styles in Spring Millinery.

What a Visit to Miss Cooksley's Up-to-date Show Rooms Disclosed.

One of the most popular centres of attraction among the many pretty millinery openings of this week, are the handsome show-rooms of Miss C. A. Cooksley, whose opening took place Wednesday and following days. Brilliantly decorated with the fascinating flowers and shades of the season these exquisite display rooms are constantly thronged with an admiring and appreciative patronage.

Here are found exhibited in tasteful array all the latest and most popular marvels of the milliner's delicate art, of which many are worthy of a more than passing mention. One beautiful hat is in old rose shade, trimmed with chiffon, insertion and old rose flowers. Then, again, there is a fine black turban in double brim, trimmed with fancy straw and mounts of violets. Another charming creation had brim heavily covered with rich violets, with crown of violet foliage and crystal pins. A rich black hat has chiffon brim and jet crown with mechlin rosettes and trimmed with plums. A turban in Becky Sharp style is trimmed with jet feather pompons and fine black lace. A very attractive contribution to the display is a large black hat turned up on one side with large pink silk rosette in two shades, and trimmed with pink goffered chiffon and mechlin ties. A pretty hat in all gray chiffon is trimmed with violets in three shades, and ornaments.

In children's wear there is the "Bake" hat, a large hat with goffered frills around the edge and bow at one side. It is bound with fine straw. There are also graceful embroidered bonnets with full frills and all the novelties in styles for the young folks.

A call at Miss Cooksley's elegant establishment will repay intending purchasers.

THE HILLIS CASE.

Famous Preacher Offers to Quit Presbyterianism

Because of His Sermon Against Its Stern Old Creed—Dr. Gray Isn't Sure That He Need Leave for That Reason

New York, March 30. — Rev. Dr. Newell Dwight Hillis said last night that a letter he sent to Chicago on Tuesday contained a positive withdrawal from the presbytery there. He cited as his reasons for withdrawing from the presbytery the criticisms of the professors in McCormick theological seminary and the request that he should resign or be tried for heresy.

"My action in regard to my resignation," Dr. Hillis added, "is irrevocable. I do not think any one minister has the right to disturb the work of a denomination. I consider the incident closed. Nobody could be more surprised than I that there should be any discussion of my sermon of Sunday last. I have been constantly expressing the same views in Plymouth pulpit."

HIS VIEWS COMMON.

Chicago, March 30.—Dr. W. C. Gray, editor of the Interior, last night said: "I have received a telegram from Dr. Hillis informing me that he had mailed me a communication which I should present to the presbytery if I thought the grounds presented were sufficient. The only doctrinal points in the sermon which created so much turmoil, the damnatory decree and the Edwardsian materialistic eschatology, are viewed in the same light as Dr. Hillis discussed them by three-fourths of the ministers and nine-tenths of the members of the Presbyterian Church. I must read Dr. Hillis' communication before I say what shall be done with it."

CELEBRATED ALTON CASE.

School Color Line Battle is on for its Third Round.

Alton, Ill., March 30.—The celebrated Alton school case, in which the negroes of Alton seek to secure admission to public schools attended by the whites, has been called for its third trial before Judge M. W. Schaeffer in Madison county circuit court. The races were separated in the Alton schools in 1896. In the first trial of the case the whites secured a verdict, but it was reversed by the Illinois supreme court, and the case remanded for retrial. In the second trial the jury was "hung" by a single juror holding out for the blacks. The case, it is expected, will not reach the jury before Saturday.

Shrewd Young Witness.

A small Scotch boy was once summoned to give evidence against his father, who was accused of making a disturbance in the streets. Said the bailie to him:

"Come, my wee man, speak the truth, and let us hear all you ken about this affair."

"Weel, sir," said the lad, "d'ye ken Inverness street?"

"I do, laddie," replied the magistrate.

"Well, ye gang along it and turn into the square, and cross the square——"

"Yes, yes," said the bailie encouragingly.

"And when ye gang across the square ye turn to the right and up the High street, and keep up High street till ye come to a pump."

"Quite right, my lad; proceed," said the magistrate; "I know the old pump well."

"Weel," said the boy, with the most infantile simplicity, "ye may gang and pump it, for ye'll no pump me."—Exchange.

Close the lids for a few minutes many times a day that the eyes may be given a rest.

HE GOT EVEN.

She—I wouldn't marry you if you were the last man on earth."

He—You wouldn't get a chance. I'd surely have my pick then.

"Take care of the pennies and the pounds will take care of themselves."

Large things are but an aggregation of small things. If we take care of the small things we are in effect taking care of the large things which the small things combine to make.

Take care of what you eat, and how you eat, and your stomach will take care of itself. But who takes care of such trivial things? That is why, some day, the majority of people have to take care of the stomach. When that day comes, there is no aid so effective in undoing the results of past carelessness as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It strengthens the stomach, and restores the organs of digestion and nutrition to a condition of healthy activity. It cures biliousness, heartburn, flatulence, indigestion, palpitation, dizziness, cold extremities and a score of other ailments which are but the symptoms of disorder in the stomach and its allied organs.

UNDENIABLE

"But," said the philosopher, "still water runs deep, you know."

"Well, what of it?" replied the pessimist. "I've seen rusty nails that did the same thing."

GREAT HUNTERS

PRESIDENT KRUGER THE MOST DARING OF ALL.

The Boers Are Credited With Freeing South Africa of Lions—Tens of Thousands of Harmless Giraffes Killed for Their Hides—The is very Valuable.

The Boers are credited with being great hunters, and chief of them in his younger days was President Kruger, whose daring in attacking a lion single handed, with a hunting knife, has many times been told. When the Boers migrated from Cape Colony to the Transvaal they were forced to clear the way by killing 6,000 lions, many of which were killed by Kruger. For years the South African Boers have been hunters, and their skill with the knife is due to this daily practce in the fields and woods. But with them the killing of game has been either a matter of dollars ad cents or self protection.

Their creditable work of freeing South Africa of the dreaded lions, which roamed in such numbers that life was rendered unsafe anywhere in the country, is offset by the ruthless destruction of the giraffe from Cape Colony to the Botietli river. If they killed 6,000 lions in the Transvaal before existence was made safe, they may have killed 60,000 of the innocent, graceful giraffes. In the early days of South African history the giraffe was the most abundant game in the Transvaal, Matabeleland and Orange Free State, but the creatures has been killed off like our American buffalo, and the few remaining representatives of a noble race gradually driven north. For years past the giraffe has been a profitable quarry for the Boer hunters, and the animal was valued by them only because the hides were articles of commercial use. They were pot hunted, shot down in droves, and destroyed in the greatest number possible in every direction.

A good giraffe skin is worth from $10 to $20 in South Africa to-day, and much more in Europe. On their hunting trips ten and fifteen years ago it was a common matter for one hunter to kill forty and fifty of these graceful animals in one day. The reason for this is that the giraffe is the most innocent of animals and is easily hunted. It is absolutely defenceless, and there is hardly a case on record where a wounded giraffe turned upon the hunter. It is true giraffes have great powers of speed, and they can dodge rapidly from tree to tree in the woods, but they offer such a fair mark that these tactics hardly ever save them.

The hide of the animal is its chief article of value. No wonder that the bullets often fail to penetrate this skin, for it is from three-quarters to an inch thick, and as tough as it is thick. The skin, when cured and tanned, makes excellent leather for certain purposes. The Boers make riding whips and sandals out of the skins they do not send to Europe. The bones of the giraffe have also a commercial value. The leg bones are solid instead of hollow, and in Europe they are in great demand for manufacturing buttons and other bone articles. The tendons of the giraffe are so strong that they will sustain an enormous dead weight, which gives them pecuniary value.

Moccasins the Best Footwear.

The moccasin is the most rational and comfortable of all footwear. In moccasins the feet have full play; they can bend and grasp; there is nothing to chate them or impede circulation. In moccasins one can move like an acrobat, crossing slender and slippery logs, climbing trees or passing with ease and security along dizzy trails on the mountain side, where a slip might mean sure destruction.

The feet do not stick fast in the mud. In the north, when the mercury is far below zero and no civilized boot will protect the feet from freezing, the savage suffers no inconvenience. His moccasins, stuffed with dried grass, let the blood course freely. The perspiration may freeze on the hay in a solid lump of ice, but the feet remain warm and dry.

The buckskin moccasin, Indian tanned, with deers' brains and wood smoke always dries soft after a wetting. In autumn, when all the leaves and twigs are dry as tinder, a man wearing shoes makes a noise in the forest like a troop of cavalry. But in moccasins he can move swiftly through the woods with the stealth of a panther. The feet are not bruised, for after enjoying for a time the freedom of natural covering, these hitherto blundering members become like hands and feel their way through the dark, like those of a cat avoiding obstacles as though gifted with a special sense. Best of all, the moccasin is light. Inexperienced sportsmen and soldiers affect high-topped laced boots with heavy soles and hobnails, imagining that these are most serviceable for rough weather. But these weigh between four and five pounds, while a pair of thick moose-hide moccasins weigh only eleven ounces. In marching ten miles a man wearing the clumsy boots lifts twenty tons more shoe leather than if he wore moccasins.

A GREAT MISTAKE.
