Miss Agnes Mallen, night nurse at the hospital, was called. She told of the position of Clark's bed in the hospital. On the night of April 1 she visited Clark about 9 o'clock. She visited Clark about 9 o'clock. She did not remember talking to the death and funeral of our husband and father. patients. She was in the ward between 11 and 12 attending to the other patients. She had spent the intervening time in the hall near and heard no noise. She did not see Clark on the last visit and did not know if he was in his bed. She went back to the hall and fell asleep some time later. She heard a noise once about 2 or 3 o'clock. It sounded like someone turning in bed. She listened but heard no more. About 7 o'clock she went to the ward and found Clark gone. She then saw that the window was open. The only window open was the one at the foot of the bed.

Miss Mary Wetmore, matron of the hospital, told of Clark's relatives visiting him in the hospital. She telephoned when they found Clark was gone. She looked everywhere, but gone. She looked everywhere, but found no trace around the hospital. As there was no evidence against him Wood was acquitted.

Mrs. Herbert Wood, who is ill, gave evidence at her home this morning. She remembered the day Phoebe Bell was shot at her house. Phoebe was working for her. Clark, she said, came to her house about three o'clock that day and asked her if she would keep his child all summer. She told of the arrival of Ida Pelletier and Claude Murphy. Her story of the affair was much the same as that of the other witnesses. She did not see the revolver in Clark's hand and was not in the room at the time of the shooting.

Clark had nothing to say in court today, and to defense called no witnesses. He was co mitted for trial and ken to ' jail by Constabl Allar

Everybody knows the story about poor Tom Sharkey, who electrified the loungers in his saloon one day by saying heartily, "Well, boys, what are we going to have?" And then, as the loungers gathered round the har, he added. "Rain or shine?"

Representative Gordon Lee of Chickamauga told a story of a similar kind about a mean man at Atlantic City. Some friends visited him on a hot evening and after they had sweltered a while in the sitting room he said :

"Well, friends, could you stand some refreshments?" "We certainly could? the visitors replied, and they moistened their dry lips in pleasant anticipation.

"Then,' said the mean man, rising, we'll open this window. There's promise of a breeze.'

Looked For. "There is a fortune awaiting the man who can invent "Invent what?" "A neiseless flivver."
