Extensive reports are given prominent positions in the holding in the foundation of the country. The charge of Sir John Maedonald that a party of Canadan politicians is intriguing for the annexation of the Dominion of Canada to the United Sixtes coupled with the fact that Mr. Farere, editor of the Toronto Globs, the chief liberal organ, had written the treasonable pamphlet, created a tremendous sensuation, and the matter is the cite topic of conversation in the cubic among politicians, and these who have interest, pecuniary or otherwise, in the Canadan Doronton of the Sir John.

The Standard, chief tory organ, voices the general view of British public opinion by saying that Eugland would never fire a shot to prevent the annexation of Canada to the United States if such were seriously and earnestly desired by Canadians, but the mother country would most deeply deplore such an intention and would make eacy could occur. "Great Britain," the Standard adds, "will support the Donin-ion through good and evil fortune, so long as Canada is loyal to the British srown." as Canada is loyal to the British arown."

Mr Farrer's defence is as curious as it is lame. It is well that Canadian electors

The Fimes at ticle on Sir John's speech says:

"In the reign of Victoria a proper description of such conduct as that of Edward Farger may be doubtful; but it is the reign of Rizzboth, Sir John Macdonald's description would have been held to be accurate, and appropriate penalties would not have been wanting. The ultimate issue of the attraction and the fight to the end in support of the pending election will not decide it, because if the Liberals are victorious they will full it only the beginning of their task. If the weaker American Sizes are systematically driven to the wall, what chance of fair play would Canada get in a commercial union with American. Without representation in Congress her position would be intelerable and she would be compelled to abandon commercial union with American Rizzboth and she would be compelled to abandon commercial union or compelled to abandon commercial union or eleventation in Congress her position would be intelerable and she would be compelled to abandon commercial union or encorperation in Congress her position would be intelerable and she would be compelled to abandon commercial union or encorperation in Congress her position would be intelerable and she would be basis of all their dissertations.

Bishop Fabre, read in the churches on Sunday:

"Beneath that flag which protects rather than dominates us, we enjoy a most precious liberty, sanctioned by the solemn treaties, and which conserves to us, intact, our laws, our institutions, our language and above all our religion. You have been able to possess these favors up to the present time, thanks to the action of the Divine Providence which guards our people; thanks also to a power which freely accorded those liberties in return for those sentiments act of perfect loyalty which you have never ceased to offer upon each and severy occasion. May we, our very dear brethren, remain faithful to our traditions and to our duties in this respect, in order that our country may not be exposed to the loss of that which is tavorable to her, and that which brings upon us the admiration of other countries."
