

Maternity Home Campaign.

THE FINAL WIND-UP—MAKE IT A SUCCESS.

The greatest interest in the big drive for the Maternity Hospital prevails to-day. It is the final day of the campaign, and judging from appearances the workers are keener than ever. Owing to the downpour of rain Saturday the tag day had to be postponed until to-day. It was a great disappointment to Mrs. Adby and her enthusiastic band of workers. They had everything ready for a great day and no doubt it would have been highly successful but for the inclement weather. Citizens had made up their minds to give early and often, and they too were disappointed because they did not have the opportunity to contribute to the cause which is so dear to their hearts. They will be able to do so to-day, for Mrs. Adby, who is one of our most energetic workers, and she is filled with enthusiasm to accomplish the task ahead of them. The city will be well covered and everyone will have the chance to contribute something. In spite of the rain, Saturday, the young ladies and gentlemen of the regular teams were not idle. They continued their canvass and will do so again to-day. Some splendid donations were received, and with the amounts coming in to-day will swell the fund to a considerable extent. This is the closing day and much depends on the liberality of our people. Twenty-five thousand dollars are still needed to reach the goal. Will the money be forthcoming? It all depends on St. John's. If those who have not yet contributed are as generous as their friends, then there is no doubt but that the collectors will go over the top. It is again asserted that every cent contributed will go toward the erection and equipment of the institution. No portion whatever will be contributed to anyone or to any other purpose. All will be used in connection with the hospital. The extensive organization which has been busy during the last week or so have certainly accomplished much. The executive committee has held daily meetings, and succeeded in securing the services of very active ladies and gentlemen as chairmen of the various sub-committees, team-captains and workers. The telegraphs, telephones and mails have been kept busy, and hundreds of persons residing outside St. John's have been communicated with. In closing this appeal we again ask those who have not yet contributed to do so to-day, and those who have already subscribed will perhaps give a little more. A united effort to-day by every one will gladden the hearts of all. The whole community but particularly the mothers and infants, will benefit by the institution. They are worthy of the best we can give them. The team workers will report at the College Hall this evening at 7 and an enjoyable time is assured.

Wants Telegraph Office.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir:—Please allow me space in your valuable paper to say a few words concerning a Telegraph Office that was promised for Long Harbor sometime ago. It is a strange thing that a place like Long Harbor should be without a Telegraph Office. People from other places as well as Long Harbor are endeavouring to get the Telegraph Office here this last eight years. The members come around every four years addressing the people. They will talk and tell us that the money is out for it, and that the Telegraph Office will soon be in working order, and that on Xmas Eve we would receive a message of congratulations from them. Now I think it is time for them to put their words into action, as Xmas is coming near and no sign of the Telegraph Office yet.

Thanking you in anticipation.

I am, Sir,
Yours sincerely,
A PATCH FOX.
Long Hr., P.B., Dec. 8, 1919.

Long Drawn Out.

The Perm enquiry which occupied so much time and which was concluded last week will have to be gone over again, as it has been discovered that the court was improperly constituted. Mr. Gibbs, counsel for the captain of the ship, contended that the Court should include two mercantile marine captains. The Court consisted of Judge Morris, Capt. Penn, R.N., and Capt. Ed. English.

Freight Train Off Track.

A freight train which left here yesterday morning went off the track near Hodgewater. Two of the cars were replaced on the track last night but the engine was not an easy job and it was not replaced till this morning. None of the train hands were injured in this mishap. Run-offs will occur even under the Coaker's administration.

S.S. Watana, with a cargo of coal from North Sydney, arrived in port last night.

What He Was Really Getting.

By coincidence I knew just what

Mr. H.'s salary was, and he was getting forty-five hundred.

I believe a great deal of the industrial discontent is caused not by what people themselves don't have but by what they fancy others do have.

And I believe that if the average person knew some of the real figures that he would be astonished and that the astonishment would do him good.

I have been given access to some figures collected from reliable sources, mostly government income tax analyses, by a man who is interested in this subject, and who has gathered figures. Here are a few random selections that I venture to think will interest and surprise most people. I know they had that effect on me.

Some Chances to Guess.

What per cent. of all the commercial travellers in the United States

do you think were getting over three thousand dollars a year in 1917?

Four and a half per cent.

What per cent. of editors, authors and reporters? Six and a half per cent.

What per cent. of theatrical owners and managers? Two and a half per cent.

What per cent. of actors, and musicians? About one-half of one per cent.

THE MONEY EL

There is a great deal of

careless at a l

these days about

the amount of money that is flying around.

Everyone feels

that the other

fellow is making

a heap of money,

and that he

therefore, ought to be getting

more than he is.

An example

came to my attention the other night. A young married woman who feels that her husband does not push himself ahead

as fast as he might was speaking of another man who has just been made secretary of a good sized company.

"Look at Richard H.," she said,

"he must be getting seven or eight thousand at least."
