Obituary.

SISTER MARY EDWARD.

One who had given all of her short and happy youth gladly to the Master was borne into Eternal Life at the Mercy Convent, St. George's, on Aug. 20, 1924. Her illness was but brief. Her sudden passing was a shock to the townspeople. Every want ministered to by her loving Sisters of the Community and fortified by the consolation of holy religion, she passed into oblivion of all things earthly as gently as a child that rests its head on its loving father's breast and drops into quiet sleep.

Sister Mary Edward ("Crescenta Murray," daughter of M. J. Murray, Sub Collector H.M.C., St. Lawrence, is survived by her father, four sisters, and two brothers. One sister is a Nun at Belvedere Convent—Sister Mary Lauretta; Sister Mary Joseph, of the Convent, St. Lawrence, is an Aunt.

Sister Mary Edward entered the Convent in 1920, was received in 1921, and professed in 1923. She had been at the Mercy Convent, St. George's, about a year, and here her sweet and gentle disposition endeared her to all who knew her. She was a teacher in St. Michael's Academy, and was highly esteemed and deeply loved by her pupils—these, with her Sisters in religion, and her sorrowing relatives, will deeply mourn her early death, but let them remember that:—

"All is of God. If he but wave his hand, The mist collect, the rain falls thick and loud, Till, with a smile of light on sea and land, Lo, he looks back on the departing cloud."

Requiem Mass was sung in the Nuns' Chapel by Rev. M. O'Reilly, Rector of the Cathedral, Bishop Renouf attending at the throne, then followed by the grieving Sisterhood, the clergy and the people, her mortal remains were borne across the Convent grounds to the quiet, sheltered graveyard, where the leaves ever whisper of hope and the sunlight glories the peaceful graves and where the promise may be plainly interpreted in the quiet spaces by those who lack not vision—"I am the Resurrection and the Life."

And so they laid her in the quiet Convent graveyard. Nor was there wanting at Sister Mary Edward's grave the little touch of human tenderness in beautiful wreaths of perfumed flowers and tears the tribute of tender hearts.

Eternal rest grant to her, O Lord; and let perpetual light shine upon her.

Holy Cross School Field Day

The senior pupils of Holy Cross Schools held a most enjoyable Field Day at Mount Cashel yesterday. Through the courtesy of the Brothers the lovely grounds of the Institution were placed at their disposal. Football games and various other keenly contested events were indulged in. Several of the boys proved to be unusually good athletes and no doubt will attain honours in our public sports in the near future. The presence of a very large number of pupils added considerably to the enjoyment of the day, and was a source of much gratification and encouragement to their younger friends. All pupils and ex-pupils are deeply grateful to the Brothers of Mt. Cashel for the use of their grounds, and especially to the glorious Mount Cashel Band for giving such a musical treat last evening.

Took 22 Years to Make Bible in Manuscript

WONDERFUL WORK DONE BY MR. RUSSELL OF MONTREAL.—1987 PAGES IN BOOK.

What is said to be the most wonderful manuscript Bible in the world is owned by a Mr. Russell of Montreal. With infinite patience he carried out this great work with his own hand.

Mr. Russell, who is a Presbyterian, said that his main object in attempting such a task was to leave some unforgettable and tangible memorial of himself for his family.

The work, which is wonderfully done in a style of half writing and half printing, was performed at odd moments of spare time and took twenty-two years to complete.

The New Testament takes up 471 pages, with double columns on each page, and was written without a single error or omission. In all there are 1,987 pages.

Diary of a Journey to the South Coast

SAMUEL PEPPY, JR.

September 3rd.—Up betimes and abroad, and to seek for news of the Portia, but learn the vessel is fog-bound at Ramea, and none know when she may reach Grand Bank. So to wander round the town and to pass the time as best I may. At night, to sup with Mr. Dunford, and to discourse of divers matters all the evening. So home and to bed.

September 4th.—The Portia arriving at Grand Bank this day, Povey and I aboard, and to settle ourselves for the night, albeit in hopes to make Burin before midnight. But Lord, leaving Fortune at 4 of the clock, a high wind comes up, and the ship pitches and tosses like a mad thing, and makes but little headway. Anon, night falling, the storm grows worse, and the groans from the cabins so upsetting that needs must I go to the smoke room where is to be found the only place of comfort on the ship. In going, hearing Povey call me, I to him and find him rolling in agony in his bed, and begs me to put him out of misery. I making haste to fetch a pall for him, arrived in the very nick of time, and so leaving him to his misery, up on deck. Everything now in the very blackest darkness, and the wind howling weirdly and is the veriest hurricane that ever I did see, nor is there any sign of land to be seen. So the night passes in misery for all the ship having to lay to at sea, nor could she make for St. Lawrence till daylight had come.

September 5th.—Praise be to God, this morning we make St. Lawrence and were in all full 15 hours making a run that do normally take but one third of that time. And in all my life I have not taken greater pleasure in anything than to get my feet this morning on dry land. But I was all the more pleased for my dear wife's sake, since all the night before I was greatly worried since I have not enough life insurance to keep her if aught should happen to me, and this my greatest concern throughout the storm. Poor Povey rising for breakfast is the worst wreck of a man that ever I saw, and like to be a full eight days ere he recovers. Anon, arriving at Burin, we go to the Burgess Inn, and to remove some of the effects of the night from our faces and to change our clothes. So to the wharf, and see the revenue boat Daisy enter the harbour. I to board her and find the members of the Circuit Court aboard, and among them Mr. Justice Johnson, Mr. Hunt, Mr. Barron, Mr. Summers and Mr. Carroll. To discourse with them of their trip and find that they too were out in the great storm of yesterday, and liked it not. Mr. Emerson, who is also on the ship, tells me how when at Bonne Bay, they did see the American fliers pass over them, being on the last lap of their round the world flight, and indeed, a fine thing to see the effluvia of a transatlantic flight at the end of the First successful flight around the world. Talking with Judge Johnson, he speaks highly of my journal and gives me the greatest pleasure to hear him say how he admires it chiefly for its similarity to the journal of my great ancestor, Anon, to Mr. Bartlett's, and to play at cards, to my great content.

September 6th.—Up betimes, and with Povey to the completion of our business which we do with despatch. Anon by motor boat to Epworth and to have some discourse there with Mr. Forsey. But Lord, coming back, the boat ships much water and poor Povey is drenched nigh to the skin. This night to listen in on Mr. Bartlett's radio, and hear Major McLaren, the British flier, to make a speech at a dinner in Boston given to the Americans. His discourse very brief, and is mighty cheerful saying how it is the proudest day of his life. Indeed, a great day that the British Government did not give him its aid and so help him to success.
