

Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway.

Neustadt, 2nd Sept., 1868.—Yesterday, after writing you, we divided our forces. Messrs. Robertson, Gordon, McCurry, Big...

The other part of the delegation attended our own meeting at Ball's. There were about eighty or a hundred of the most substantial ratepayers of the neighborhood present.

Mr. Watson, a farmer in the neighborhood, concurred in the propriety of voting down the narrow gauge By-law, but thought it was better that no pledge should be given in the meantime to vote a bonus to the other until the first section was under contract.

AN ATROCIOUS ACT.—An aged man named Jas. Hobbs, and his wife, who is infirm, reside on the 8th lot, 20th con. of McMillivray. They have three sons, who work with the farmers round about.

The negroes in the outskirts of Savannah, Ga., are causing trouble. They have armed themselves and are drilling nightly. They stop farmers on the road leading to the city, and country folks are compelled to go in parties of ten or twelve when they come to market.
