BASEBALL. NATIONAL LEAGUE SCHEDULE. The National Baseball League schedule committee was directed to prepare a schedule for next season, which shall provide for four trips between the east and west instead of two, as has been the rule for several years, and also provides for 154 games to be played by each club, instead of 132, as heretofore. The championship season shall extend from April 13 to Oct. 13, inclusive. The extended period for next year will give opportunity for the playing of the 22 additional games required to be played by each club. The spring meeting will be held at St. Louis, Feb. 28.

Pomology of the Sacred Writings-Discourse by Rev. Dr. Talmage.

Washington, Nov. 14.-Dr. Talmage's text is Genesis, i., 11-"The fruit tree yielding fruit after his kind."

It is Wednesday morning in Paradise. The birds did not sing their opening piece, nor the fish take their first swim until the following Friday. The solar and lunar lights did not break through the thick, chaotic fog of the world's manufacture until Thursday. Before that there was light, but it was electric light or phosphorescent McCarty; secretary, R. Hamilton; treasurer, J. A. MacFaden; executive committee, C. Rankin, C. Farquharson, C. Why was the orchard created two days before the fish and birds, and three days before the cattle? Among other things, to impress the world with the lesson it is too stupid to learn-that fruit diet is healthier than meat diet, and that the former must precede the latter. The reason there are in the world so many of the imbruted and sensual is that they have not improved by the mighty, unnoticed that the orchards of paradise preceded the herds, and aviaries, and chards breathe and glow, the leaves removed, that the crimson, or pink, or saffron, or the yellow, or brown may the better appear, while the aromatics fill the air with invitation and reminiscence. As you pass through the orchard on these autumnal days and look up through the arms of the trees laden with fruit, you hear thumping on the ground that which is fully ripe, and, throwing your arms around the trunk, you give a shake that sends down a shower of gold and fire on all sides of you. Pile up in baskets and barrels and bins and on shelves and tables the divine supply. But these orchards have been under the assault of at least sixty centuries—the storm, the droughts, the winters, the insec-What must the first orchard have been? > they lost a whole orchard. Yonder is a man with many styles ten-pins in private alleys, he has books on his table, pictures on his wall, and occasional outings, concerts, lectures, baseball tickets, and the innumer-able delights of friendship. But he wants a key to the place of dissolute convocation. He wants association with some member of a high family as reckless as he is affluent. He wants instead of a quiet Sabbath, one of carousal. He wants the stimulus of strong drinks. He wants the permissions of a profligate life. The one membership, the one bad habit, the one carousal robs him of all the possibilities and innocent enjoyments, and noble aspirations of a lifetime. By one mouthful of forbidden fruit he loses a whole orchard of fruit unforidden. You see what an expensive thing is sin. It costs a thousand times

But I turn from Adam's orchard to Solomon's orchard. With his own hand he writes: "I made me gardens and orchards." Not depending on the natural fall of rain, he irrigated those orchards. Pieces of the aqueduct that watered those gardens I have seen, and the reservoirs are as perfect as when thousands of years ago the mason's trowel smoothed the mortar over their A Quebec Youth Confesses to Killing gray surfaces. The largest of these reservoirs is 582 feet long, 207 feet wide, and 50 feet deep. These reservoirs Solomon refers to when he says: "I made me pools of water, to water therewith the wood that bringeth forth trees." Solomon used to ride out to that orchard before breakfast. After Solomon had taken his morning ride in these luxuriant orchards, he would sit down and write those wonderful things in the Bible, drawing his illustrations from the fruits he had that very morning plucked or ridden under. wishing to praise the coming Christ, he says: "As the apple tree among the trees of the wood, so is my beloved." And, wishing to describe the love of the church for her Lord, he writes: reference to the white hair of the octogenarian, and just before having noti ed that the blossoms of the almond trees were white, he says of the aged man: "The almond tree shall flourish. What mean Solomon's orchards, and mingle, the two into one, flowers under upon religion as a dire necessity-a life boat from the shipwreck, a ladder from the conflagration, a soft landing-place after we have been shoved off the precipice of this planet. But Solomon's orchard means Religion is a good thing now, when you are in health and prosperity, and the appetite is good for citrons, and apples, and apricots, and pomegranates. Come in without wasting any time in talking about them, and take the luxuries of religion. Happy yourself, then you can make others happy. Make just one person happy every day, and in twenty years you will have made seven thousand three hundred happy. I like what Wellington said after the battle of Waterloo, and when he was in pursuit of the French with his advance guard, and Col. Harvey said to him: "General, you had better not go any farther, for you may be shot at by some straggler from the bushes." And Wellington replied: "Let them fire away. The battle is won and my life is of no value My friends we ought never to be reckless, but if, through the pardoning and rescuing grace of Christ, you have gained the victory over sin and death and hell, you need fear nothing on the earth or under the earth. Religion for the funeral! O, yes; but 16ligion for the wedding breakfast; religion for the brightest spring morning and autumn's most gorgeous sunset;

well as for the last gasp.

But having introduced you to Adam's orchard and carried you awhile through Solomon's orchard, I want to take a walk with you through Pilate's orchard of three trees on a hill, ten minutes' walk from the gates of Jerasalem. After I had read that our great grandfather and great grandmother had been driven out of the first crchard, I made up my mind that the Lord would not be defeated that way. I said to myself that when they had been poisoned by the fruit of that one tree, somewhere, somehow, there would be provided an antidote for the poison. I said: "Where is the other tree that will undo the work of that tree? And I read on until I found the orchard, and its center tree as mighty for cure as this one had been for ruin; and as the one tree in Adam's orchard had its branches laden with the red fruit of carnage, and the pale fruit of suffering. and the spotted fruit of decay, and the bitter fruit of disappointment, I found in Pilate's orchard a tree which, though stripped of all its leaves and struck through by an iron bolt as long as your arm, nevertheless bore the richest fruit that was ever gathered. Like the trees of the first orchard, this was planted, blossomed, and bore fruit all in one day. Paul said to the Galatians: "The fruit of the spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance.' The other two trees of Pilate's or chard were loaded, the one with the hard fruits of obduracy and the other with the tender fruit of repentance. but the center tree of that orchard yields the antidote for the poisoned ra-

Now, having shown you Adam's orchard, and Solomon's orchard, and Pilate's orchard, I now take you into St. John's orchard; and I will stop there. The dear old book opened with Adam's orchard and closes with St. John's orchard. St. John went into this orchard through a stone gate, the black basalt of the Isle of Patmos, to which he had been exiled. That orchard which he saw was and is in heaven. Heaven is both material and spiritual, as we are both material and spiritual. While much of the Bible account of heaven is to be taken figuratively and spiritually, it is plain to me that heaven has also a material existence. Christ said: "I go to prepare a place for you." Is not a place material? I do not believe God put all the flowers, and all the precious stones, and all the bright metals, and all the music, and all the fountains, and all the orchards in this little world of ours. How much was literal and how much was figurative. I cannot say; but St. John saw two rows of trees on each side of a river, and it differed from other orchards in the fact that the trees bore twelve manner of fruits. If it means twelve different kinds of fruits, it declares variety in heavenly joy. If it mean twelve crops of the same kind of fruit, it declares abundance in heavenly joy, and they are both true. And I will tell you of at least twelve of those varieties: Joy of divine worship; joy over the victories of the Lamb who was slain, joy over the repentant sinners. joy of recounting our own rescue, joy of embracing old friends, joy at recognition of patriarchs, apostles, evangelists, and martyrs, joy of ringing harmonies, joy of reknitting broken friendjoy at the explanation of Provdential mysteries, joy at walking the streets of gold, joy that there is to be no subsidence, no reaction, no terminus to the felicity. All that makes twelve different joys, twelve manner of fruits. the other interpretation, and say it you still, for that means abundance stood world put out all their energies for a
