AGAINST THE SECTARIAN CAMPAIGN

What Four Leading Church Representatives Say.

The Toronto Star gives the following interesting statements by a leading representative of four Christian denominations:

WHAT REV. DR. MILLIGAN (PRES-BYTERIAN) SAYS: "All men should be dealt with on their merits, not on their professions. It is a pity that this needs to be said at this time of day. No enlightened Protestant will mix up religion and politics. Regarding Sir Wilfrid Laurier, he is an honor to Canada, and I hope and pray Canadians may appreciate him, not when it is too late."

REV. DR. THOMAS (BAPTIST)

SAYS: "I feel very strongly on the subject shoes at other stores would very near- of any man being attacked on account of his religion, and I have not the slightest sympathy with such conduct will be sold at lower prices than ever on the part of anyone. It is very unknown in London before for such goods. fortunate, that as election time approaches, such characteristics as a man's creed or race should be magnifootwear. We would advise our read- fied and presented to the classes, who action I consider utterly contemptible. and it is with the deepest regret I learn that such despicable tactics are new shop adjoining Strong's Drug ticians in Canada. There is absolutely not the slightest excuse for any such attack being made on a man of the moral breadth of character of Sir man has been already made public

REV. PROF. CLARK (ANGLICAN)

SAYS: "I admire the personality of Sir Wilfrid Laurier very much. As to his being a Roman Catholic, how could that be used against him? Sir John Thompson was a Roman Catholic on the opposite side of politics, and he became A quiet wedding was solemnized in premier. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is en-Wesley Hall last evening, given by the the Memorial Church yesterday at 4:30 titled to the same consideration. These creed cries are not to be commended, Church. Rev. Dr. Smith, the pastor, ficiating, when Miss Katherine, the for how can we live with each other

The REV. DR. DEWART (METHODIST)

SAYS: that the theory which sumes that a loyal citizen should be wearing blue silk and a red hat, and excluded from office or political power because of his religious creed, or the church to which he belongs, is eling suit of green broadcloth, with illiberal, unpatriotic, and unworthy of freemen. A pollitician may bewith black silk trimmings. Immediate-ly after the ceremony the happy cou-same religious faith, and yet opple left for a trip to Buffalo and New pose the political party which I hold to be the best for the country. In the case of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, we have a fine example of a liberal-minded Roman Catholic statesman, who rises above sectarian issues, and regards the interests of the whole Canadian people as the supreme consideration. Because of this he is trusted as fully by the Protestants of Ontario as by the French-Canadian Catholics of the Province of Quebec."

The Bishop Hits Back.

The injudicious Chatham Planet having declared that by inviting Bishop Wilmore and Rev. Mr. Eady to take seats on the platform at the Laurier meeting at Wallaceburg the Liberals had "insulted" the colored people, Bishop Wilmore writes a letter to the Banner, in which he says some things that will make the Tory organ wish it had not flung that slur at them. Among other things the bishop says: "It is quite evident that the Planet recognizes that there is an election contest on, otherwise the would be losing no sleep over insults fancied or real, to the colored peoand who was formerly connected with Brown, was largely attended and that the crocodile tears of this newfound and self-appointed advocate will, in this instance, be lost upon Miss Lucy Greene. The event took and unhackneyed gave opportunity for the colored electors. For upwards of the home of the bride's been closely identified with the Libwhole gamut of human emotion. Her eral party of the county of Kent, as well as with the Liberals of Bothwell, since the last-named riding was Leys, added much to the enjoyment of constituted, and during the whole of that time I have been treated as kindly and considerately as any other member of that great sang "Honor and Arms" (Samson), in and it has always afforded me a fine voice. He is rapidly rising to a great deal of pleasure to know and to be while to declare that the Liberals of this county never made any distinction in respect of color or creed. have been informed that during the boyhold days of James Clancy, the present Conservative candidate for Bothwell, among his early associates that he was accustomed to boast, that a colored man would not be permitted to live in Wallsceburg. The editor of the Planet may have learned from his association with the candidates and speakers of his party that their platform is no fit place for a minister of the Gospel, and so far from disagreeing with him, I make it a rule of life to avoid Tory political platforms, and have no doubt that a gentleman possessing the honorable traits and Thristian character of the Rev. Mr. Eady will faithfully avoid all such
