The Semi-Weekly Colonist.

FORTY-THIRD YEAR   THE VICTORIA SEMI-WEEKL COLONIST, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1901.   VOLUME XLIII.

Preparing Funeral

The Dead Queen Will be Carried in State from Cowes.

Lines of Warships Will Salute as the Royal Yacht Passes.

Great Precautions to Guard the Foreign Royal Personages in London.

Cowes, Jan. 29.—Duke Albrecht will represent the King of Wurtemburg at the Queen's funeral. The Crown Prince Ferdinand of Roumania is expected on Thursday night in London. The Orleans family will be represented by the Duke of Chartres, younger brother of the late Count of Paris, the Duke of Alencon and the Count of Eu, sons of the late Duke of Nemours, between whom and the late Queen, Louis Phillippe, in 1838, tried hard to arrange a marriage. The King's order directing that the draping of buildings be purple has caused no little consternation. Many buildings here and in London and other places are already covered with black. It will cause no end of expense to make the necessary alterations. In addition the supply of purple is getting short.

The coffin will be borne from Osborne House by the Queen's Highlanders on Friday at 1:45 p.m., to a gun carriage. The household of the late Queen, the royal servants and the tenantry will be drawn up on the carriage drive. The Queen's pipers will lead the procession through the King's gate to Trinity pier. There will be an imposing military display along the route massed bands and drummers playing funeral marches. Behind the coffin will walk Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour first and principal aid de camp to the Queen since 1859, the King, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, the Duke of York, Prince Henry of Prussia, Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, and other princes. Then will come Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of York and other princesses. Bluejackets will bear the coffin from the pier to the Royal yacht Alberta, while admiral Culme-Seymour, four naval aides de camp will be in waiting will accomp remains.

The King, the Queen, the Emperor William and other members of the royal family will embark on board the royal yacht Victoria and Albert.

London, Jan. 29.—His Majesty was so cleverously quieted on his way to Marlborough House.

The Privy council has ordered the Archbishop of Canterbury to prepare a special form of service in commemoration of the Queen, to be used on Saturday in all churches in the kingdom.

The King has just ordered that the officers and soldiers in England to take part in the funeral procession. Minute guns will be fired from all ships in the Solent and at Cowes, commencing when the Alberta leaves Trinity pier. Each ship will cease fire immediately as the end of the procession passes her. After the procession has passed, the battleship Majestic and the forts and ships in Portsmouth harbor will commence firing minute guns, and continue to do so until the Alberta is alongside. No standards will be displayed. Ensigns and Union Jacks will be half-masted. Admirals' flags will be fully hoisted. As the procession passes each ship the crew will present arms and then out of reverence arms until the procession has gone, the band meanwhile playing funeral marches.

The malady from which the Duke of Cornwall and York is suffering is the German measles, and this is the explanation of his failure to visit the Emperor William on the anniversary of his birthday, and his absence from the ceremony of investing Crown Prince Frederick William with the insignia of the Order of the Garter. Sir Francis Laking, for many years surgeon to the late Queen, is attending him. Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was taken down with the measles ten days ago.

The entire detective machinery of the United Kingdom and the Continent has been set in motion to protect the royal personages and other notable people now gathering in London. Unwieldy as the Continental secret service often appears to be, every effort is being made to unify them, in order that no injury may befal any royal personage attendant upon the obsequies of the late Queen.

Sir Edward Bradford, the energetic one-armed commissioner of police of the Metropolis, has devised elaborate plans to deal with the crush expected on Saturday; but to protect the kingly and princely guests precautions have been taken which are illustrated by the fact that Sir Edward Bradford's residence is surrounded night and day by constables in plain clothes and detectives, and that no person is allowed to approach unless his card has been passed in.

These precautions are applied in the case of all royal personages and the principal officers of the crown. Scotland Yard maintains the most intimate and secret affiliation with every detective agency in the world, and its devices for tracing Continental suspects are now being operated under Chief Inspector Frank Frees, who is reputed to have a wider acquaintance with the rogues of the world than any other police chief in Europe.

Malatesta and other anarchists residing in London assert there is not the slightest probability of violence, because England is an asylum for the persecuted of the Continent.

At Cowes detectives are stationed in large numbers on both sides of the Medina river, enquiring into the antecedents of strangers, and watching all who approach the royal personages.

Nothing definite is feared, but the government desires that the utmost diligence should be exercised, especially with a view of keeping Emperor William from harm.

In London active preparations are being made all along the route. Houses are being draped, and seating accommodation is being provided. A committee of ladies has obtained permission to hang wreaths of evergreens along the line, one to be affixed to each lamp-post and all being three feet in diameter, of uniform pattern.

Of all the ceremonies, no doubt the naval will be the finest pageant. The Alberta, with the body, will slowly steam along a line of battleships extending eight miles. Facing these giants of the British navy will be smaller vessels and numerous foreign battleships. Whatever the weather may be, the spectacle of the remains of Victoria traversing a lane of warships, the guns of all booming, will be unique.

HONOR THE KING.

Berlin, Jan. 29.—The Militar Worsenblatt, the official army organ, announces that Emperor William has appointed King Edward VII. to be chief of the late Queen Victoria's Dragoon regiment of the Guard.

MILITARY COURTESY.

Manila, Jan. 29.—Gen. Macarthur has issued orders that all duty throughout the division, excepting necessary guard and field duty, be suspended on the day of Queen Victoria's funeral. At reveille a national salute will be fired, and single guns will be fired half-hourly from sunrise to sundown.

Great Britain To Germany

King Edward's Words to the Crown Prince Breathe Friendship.

Hope That the Countries May Go Forward Hand in Hand.

London, Jan. 29.—The following is the text of the address of King Edward VII. to the Crown Prince of Germany, Frederick William, on the occasion of His Majesty putting the insignia of the Order of the Garter on the Crown Prince in the Council Chamber of Osborne House yesterday morning:

"Sir,—In conferring on your Imperial and Royal Highness the ancient and most noble Order of the Garter, which was founded by my ancestor, Edward III., in 1349, many centuries ago, I invest you with the Order of Knighthood, not only as the heir to the throne of a mighty empire, but also as my near relative. It was the wish of my beloved mother, the Queen, to bestow it on you, as a mark of her favor. I am only carrying out her wishes, and I am glad to do so to one of my illustrious relatives.

"To the German Emperor, to whom I wish to express my sincere thanks for having come at a moment's notice to this country, and for having assisted in tending and watching over the Queen and remaining here until her last moment, I desire to express the hope that my action in conferring on you this ancient order may yet further cement and strengthen the feeling which exists between the two great countries, and that we may go forward hand in hand with the high object of insuring peace and promoting the advance of civilization of the world."

King Edward and the Duke of Cambridge arrived in London at 3 o'clock this afternoon. A large crowd welcomed the King at Victoria station. His Majesty will finally approve of the funeral arrangements during the afternoon.

It is now understood the funeral procession in London will be approximately as follows: A sovereign's escort of 100 Life Guards; the massed bands of three regiments of Foot Guards; Field Marshal Earl Roberts and his headquarters staff; as the King, surrounded by the body, the King, supported by the German Emperor, the King of Portugal and other sovereigns in the order of precedence; the Dukes of Connaught and York; equerries and aides-de-camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha, and other royal princesses in four carriages, deeply draped; and in the rear of the procession another sovereign's escort of 100 Life Guards.

It is understood that 60 royal princes will participate in the procession.

As the funeral will be of a military character, there will probably be no pallbearers, although at Windsor certain generals may act in this capacity where the coffin is being carried up the nave of St. George's chapel.

Cowes, Jan. 29.—King Edward left Cowes for London this morning.

The Duke of York is suffering from the strain entailed by recent events, and has been confined to his room since Thursday. It is feared he will be unable to take part in the ceremonies of Friday.

The outer coffin arrived last night. The non-commissioned officers detailed to carry the coffin rehearsed to-day with a dummy coffin, filled with sand and weighing over half a ton.

The main wing of Osborne House is expected to become the residence of Princess Beatrice, Princess Henry of Battenburg, in her capacity as governor of the Isle of Wight. The other part of the house will be reserved for the King.

General Sir Dighton Probyn, comptroller and treasurer of the household of the Prince of Wales since 1877, is commended as likely to succeed Lord Edward Pelham-Clinton as master of the household. The office is in the personal gift of the King.

Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark is expected to arrive in London to-morrow.

Prince Henry of Prussia sailed from Kiel yesterday on board the German battleship Baden, accompanied by the coast defence ship Hagen.

Prince George of Saxony is prevented by influenza from coming to the funeral. Prince John George will take his place.

Strong Speeches by Presidents of the Toronto Board of Trade.

Mr. Kemp Advocates Warmly Preferential Trade Within the Empire.

Dominion Should Adopt Tariff Against Lumber and All Wood Products.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Toronto, Jan. 29.—Following are the results of the election of officers of the board of trade, most of whom were elected by acclamation at the nomination last week: President, A. E. Ames, acclamation; first vice-president, W. E. Massey acclamation; second vice-president, J. F. Ellis; treasurer, J. L. Spink, acclamation. The address of the retiring president, A. E. Kemp, M.P., dealt with the prosperity of the country as shown by trade and banking statistics and the healthy condition of the lumber trade, desirability of improved methods of municipal taxation, and the necessity of checking the disposition of railways to increase freight rates.

Dealing with the subject of foreign trade, Mr. Kemp said:

"I hope this board will continue the work in which it has been so prominent in the past, of advocating preferential trade within the Empire. It is to be hoped that the representations which the council made to the Prime Minister in reference to Germany's discrimination will have good results. We are discriminated against by Germany because this country saw fit to grant the Mother Country a preference in our markets. Our products are not allowed to enter Germany on fair terms, while she has had the run of the British market and also that of every other British colony in the world, on equal terms with great Britain.

"The whole situation in respect to the commercial relations between the different parts of the British Empire is one of inconsistency after another. This country, however, in the matter of Germany, is able to retaliate by shutting out German products. German goods now come into this country on equal terms with those of any foreign country."

President Waldie, in his speech, said: "We must insist that the Dominion government shall adopt a tariff against lumber and all wood products entering into competition, remove them from the free list and relieve the lumber industry from the unequal competition of lumber manufactured and freighted under more favorable conditions.

"Today, labor, machinery and mill supplies are higher in Canada than in the United States, and when low transportation rates on lumber are given from the Southern States, we in Ontario are placed in competition with the cheap colored labor of the South; and the lumbermen in New Ontario and British Columbia are at a disadvantage when competing with Oregon and Washington states for the trade of our Prairie provinces. Advantages given and favors shown by the whole country to Manitoba while a young and struggling province are surely entitled to consideration, and that province, now being of age, may fairly be asked to adopt a liberal policy of government equally with other provinces."

Correspondents of government organs have been authorized to confirm the announcement made some days ago that the Senate chaplaincy has been abolished.

The non-commissioned officers and men in corps organized for special service in South Africa who have pay due them from imperial funds are informed that pay-sheets of the squadron, battery or company to which they belong have been sent to South Africa to be checked. When these pay-sheets are returned, all claims will be promptly adjusted. In the meantime the men are assured that their claims have not been overlooked.

Officers and men having claims against the Canadian government in connection with their deferred pay, owing to their being promoted or reduced in rank in the field, must submit their claims, which will receive immediate attention. Claims against the Imperial government should be made separate from those against the Canadian government.

There was a hot dispute in the council last night over the question of the engagement of a new solicitor for the city. It resulted in the signing of an agreement between the city and the waterworks company. A large crowd will visit Victoria on Saturday for the memorial services. The city council have accepted the invitation of the rector of St. Paul's to attend a memorial service in that church on Saturday.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Nanaimo, Jan. 30.—(Special)—At the annual meeting of the Farmers' Institute this afternoon, the officers elected were: President, Geo. C. Taylor; vice-president, W. Gray, Gabriola; secretary, J. Stewart; directors, Messrs. Thomas Pillar, Macgargill, York and Perry. The Mayor has issued a proclamation declaring Saturday a civic day of mourning for the burial of the Queen.

DUKE OF ORLEANS.

He Will Attend the Funeral of the Queen.

Paris, Jan. 30.—The Duke of Orleans has decided to attend the funeral of Queen Victoria. He will arrive in London on Saturday, and on Sunday will deposit a wreath on the casket containing Her Majesty's remains. The Duke's decision is interesting in view of his message of congratulations to the Paris artist who caricatured Queen Victoria in a most insulting manner, which resulted in the Duke being ostracised in England.

A WATER FIGHT.

Conflict of Interest Over Power on Pend d'Oreille River.

Rossland, Jan. 30.—A conflict of interests has arisen among various claimants to the water-power of the Pend d'Oreille river, so that litigation is threatened. A New York company, said to be backed by large capital, has located all its land and water right on both sides of the river, while another interest claims the title to the Kootenay Hydraulic Company, which, however, it is asserted, only owns an old building and some machinery abandoned several years ago, and which owns no mill-site or water rights.

The Memorial Service Trouble

Official Denial That Lord Minto Acted on His Own Responsibility.

Saturday Has Been Proclaimed a Public Holiday for the Dominion.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Ottawa, Jan. 30.—The following official communication from Government House has been made to the newspapers, called forth by statements in certain papers that the government issued the order that the ceremonies on Saturday because Lord Minto was arranging for the function on his own responsibility:

"In reference to the memorial service, we are authorised to contradict the statement that the Governor-General had arranged for a state funeral at Christ Church cathedral, independently of the advice of his ministers. We are informed that the representations made were fully considered by His Excellency, together with his advisers, and approved by them."

The Free Press, Liberal organ, cannot endorse the position taken by the government in this matter. It says it is a pity that the religious ceremonials arranged for Saturday should be marred by petty differences, which are insignificant in details, and that narrow mindedness and pharisaism of the most paltry character should be permitted to wet-blanket a solemn rite which commends itself to all thinking people.

In response to a request of the Bankers' Association, the government will issue a proclamation to-morrow declaring Saturday a public holiday.

Correspondents of government organs have been authorised to confirm the announcement made some days ago that the Senate chaplaincy has been abolished.

The non-commissioned officers and men in corps organized for special service in South Africa who have pay due them from imperial funds are informed that pay-sheets of the squadron, battery or company to which they belong have been sent to South Africa to be checked.

AT WINDSOR

Windsor, Jan. 31.—Rehearsals of the distinctive features of the obsequies are recurring constantly. Practically the whole borough will be draped in mourning, whereas, elsewhere, only the route of the procession will be thus marked. The service on Saturday will be conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Winchester and the Dean of Windsor. The route to the chapel, which occupies half an hour, will be lined by troops two deep, the Eton Volunteers participating with the Guards. The service will be the ordinary service used for the burial of the dead, with special omissions. The choir will sing from the altar steps, whence also the Garter King of Arms will announce the decease of the sovereign and all her rights and titles. Accommodation has been reserved on the left of the coffin for the princes. The King and other crowned heads will stand at the head. The service on Saturday will be conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury, the Bishop of Winchester and the Dean of Windsor.

Masses of flowers, in crosses and crowns, from rare blossoms, that are the gifts of royal personages, down to humble bouquets sent in by children, several thousands of floral pieces, including tokens from most establishments of aristocracy, numerous clubs, county towns, cities, regiments, inmates of workhouses, and even the smallest rosegays, are with the designs of the great florists. Some of the flowers are fading.

DEWET IN CAPE COLONY

Unofficial Report That He Has Entered With Fairly Strong Force.

London, Jan. 31.—It is reported unofficially, says the Capetown correspondent of the Daily Mail, that Gen. Dewet has entered Cape Colony with a fairly strong force. The impatience felt in Great Britain at the slow progress of operations is not warranted, as preparations are being made for a general movement throughout the country.

King Edward has sent the following despatch to Lord Kitchener: "One of the Queen's last inquiries was after yourself and the gallant army under your command."

Gorgeous Pageant

Procession in London Will be One of the Greatest Ever Witnessed.

Business of Every Description Will be Suspended on Saturday.

Even the Markets and the Restaurants Will be Shut During the Funeral.

Cowes, Jan. 30.—King Edward arrived here soon after 4 o'clock. Count von Eulenberg, Emperor William's grand court marshal, accompanied him. A large crowd of spectators was present.

London, Jan. 30.—The King of Greece, the Duke of Sparta and the Grand Duke of Baden reached Victoria station at 5 o'clock. They were received by Prince Charles of Denmark and members of the King's household. The visitors proceeded to Marlborough House.

During the morning King Edward presided at a meeting of the Privy council. The business transacted was of a formal character. The King signed a proclamation suspending business on Saturday throughout the United Kingdom. The closing will be so complete that even restaurants and saloons will be shut up for four or five hours in the middle of the day. Some of the afternoon newspapers will not be published on Saturday.

The procession in London, as indicated by the war office orders, issued this evening, will be a gorgeous military pageant. Detachments of troops, with a variety of distinctive uniforms, embracing all arms of the service, will make a constantly changing picture. The uniforms of all the great armies of the world will appear, for in addition to the brilliant entourage of visiting kings and princely envoys, there will be the military attaches of the embassies and legations.

All the field marshals of the British army able to endure the fatigue, will ride with their staffs. The naval corps will also take part.

The Free Press, Liberal organ, cannot endorse the position taken by the government in this matter. Londoners are already awakening to the fullest prospect of the obsequies, and the crowds will have to wander in the streets. London is a world in itself, living from hand to mouth, and the closing of the accustomed avenues for the supply and distribution of food, drink and amusement from Friday till Monday will mean a loss and inconvenience difficult to appreciate. London at least last year have totally inadequate the police and military are to protect and control the apprehensions of Saturday's crush are enough to appal Londoners; but apparently these considerations do not deter thousands from flocking to the metropolis.

Restaurants and bars will be shut, and the crowds will have to wander in the streets. London is a world in itself, living from hand to mouth, and the closing of the accustomed avenues for the supply and distribution of food, drink and amusement from Friday till Monday will mean a loss and inconvenience difficult to appreciate.

King Charles was warmly greeted by the crowds which gathered along the route in anticipation of his arrival. There was no military escort. Later in the day King Edward visited King Charles.
