Oil is Effective, but Pools Left on King Street, St. John Proved Annoying

Street oiling methods were brought more than ever into nence Saturday when asphalt oil were spread in Market square St. John. Pools of the substance were left near the crossiug at the foot of King street, and many who crossed there on Sunday carried away a mements on their shoes which later was trodden into carpet to the disgust of the careful

It seemed from the appearance of roadway yesterday that the oilcart had stopped pear the foot of King street and the stream of oil continued to trickle to the highway.

The oil seems to be quite effective in laying the dust, but the citizens who got their feet entangled in the sticky substance do not regard it at all favorable. who got their feet entangled in the at all favorable.
