WHY CANADA SHOULD BE CONFIDENT

In view of the events taking place in Europe, which will constitute an epoch of perhaps unprecedented importance in history, we appeal strongly to all Canadian business men and all who hold securities or investments of any kind to meet the present situation with calmness and confidence. Our first duty, at any cost, is to aid in Great Britain's sustenance and defence, and our next duty, not less important, is to keep the business of the Dominion moving as normally as possible.

Let it be remembered that while we must lay aside something to pay our share of the cost of the war, we have at our back storehouses of natural wealth scarcely yet touched. As the calamities of Europe place a higher value on our wheat and other exportable crops, so will the same calamities—the result of military operations—make the peaceful land of Canada more attractive to some of the best people of Europe whose hopes and lands have been despoiled or devastated by war. At the present instant Canada stands practically immune from the physical menace of war; our fields are giving their wealth to the harvester, and our other resources are yielding their bounty in greater proportions than ever. Wealth production is proceeding, and the opportunities for still greater primary production are not diminishing. This continent, including Canada, will profit largely and speedily by the changes in the world's currents of trade during the war. Many of our factories will find demands upon them stimulated because of restriction placed upon the productive machinery of Europe by the exigencies of war, and though for a time in diminished quantities, a fair proportion of Britain's available capital will come to Canada for investment. Under the circumstances, therefore, the one great essential to keep business moving is confidence, and Canada, probably of all nations of the world, has least excuse to offer for any lack of it.

"In the unprecedented and critical situation that exists," says Sir Geo. Paish, "it is of the greatest importance that everyone should endeavor to act as if great events were not impending. Were confidence seriously disturbed, business would come practically to an end, and our ability to face the difficulties that may be in front of us would be seriously injured. Therefore, it is of vital importance that, as far as possible, the events that are now taking place should not interfere with the daily life and the daily work of the nation. Orders should be given, factories should be run, and every thing should be arranged to maintain, as far as possible, the productive power and the income of the country."

"But for this" to be accomplished, the situation must be faced with courage and confidence on the part of everyone. Investors must continue to invest, bankers must continue to lend, the Stock Exchange must continue to deal, and every one according to his ability must endeavor to work hard in order that individual incomes, and therefore the income of the whole nation, may be maintained at the highest possible level.

"A little over a century ago, when the nation was at war with Napoleon, its income was a very small one, being less than one-eighth of what it is at present, and in a comparatively small space of time the British people succeeded in raising about $1,000,000,000 of money for war purposes, and so great was their confidence and courage that at the end of the great war, which severely taxed their resources, they were stronger and wealthier than they had been at the beginning."

Canada's natural resources are as yet barely touched. From any temporary lull in our progress, from whatever cause, we can, therefore, recover our feet more quickly than did the Motherland after her world struggle of a century ago, if our people are of the same heart and industry, and we are confident they are. Courage in the fight for the Empire is not more necessary than courage in the maintenance of the industry and commerce of the country.—Financial Post.

A PATRIOTIC DUTY

Merchants and manufacturers should keep constantly in mind the fact that war imposes on them a duty not less patriotic, not less important than that devolving on the younger men who must form the bulk of those in the fighting line. A cheerful optimism is one of the most sacred obligations of the moment. The present is not the time to shut down factories, to close up enterprises and cut off the incomes of the bread winners. A sane realization of the seriousness of the situation should convince those who control industrial and commercial enterprises that it is a duty to keep going as long as it is possible to do so. Money earned in times of commercial prosperity cannot be put to any better use than giving employment in times of distress to those who helped create it. No time can better teach the lesson than war time.—Ex.

WHERE IS CALLAGHAN?

Since the first news was received here that Admiral Jellicoe had succeeded Admiral Callaghan as head of the North Sea fleet, many rumors and surmises have been afloat as to what his change really did mean. Many are of the opinion that the unconfirmed report of the Battle in the North Sea, where seventeen German warships were destroyed and a number captured was true, and that the loss of six British ships included that of the flag ship Iron Duke and the death of Admiral Callaghan.

Although anything may happen in time of war, we believe this is too pessimistic a view to take. While the censorship of news has been most strictly applied, the press news bureau of the Government in Britain would not permit the publication of a crime of keeping hid the fact of the loss of ships and consequent fatalities. In fact the whole thing points the other way. When the Admiralty was sure by striking a mine the News Bureau gave out the name of the only officer lost, Paymaster Gedge, and the number of seamen (195) lost. The press news bureau exists not for the purpose of withholding news, but for the purpose of giving correct official reports, and their official report says "there has been no battle in the North Sea."

We certainly chafe at being kept so much in the dark, but we can rest assured that whether we win a battle or lose it the correct news will be given us by the press bureau and nothing withheld. We perhaps may be inclined to be optimistic in this naval affair, but it is just as possible to think of Admiral Callaghan being entrusted with some battle squadron, away in some other part of the globe, perhaps landing troops in German East Africa, or rounding up all the German merchantmen from the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean.

We don't know and no amount of speculation will help. Let us keep calm and patient, resting assured that when the naval battle does come off, we shall hear in no uncertain tones which way it went.

There is a popular delusion that "war time" is good for newspapers. Nothing could be more erroneous. It seriously increases the cost of news gathering, and it brings no compensating return in revenue in these days when the price paid by the public for the paper frequently does not cover the cost of the "cheerful paper" alone. Yet competition compels every paper that would keep the field to spend money like water to get all the news possible.

EDITOR'S MAIL BAG

New Carlisle, Aug. 19th, 1914. To the readers of Campbellton Graphic. It is my duty to offer my most sincere thanks to all those who have helped me to win the handsome prize of twenty-five dollars, I have just received as the result of the Graphic contest, and hope some day, I will be able to do something in return for these favors, to all those who have helped me.

I will take advantage of this opportunity to offer my thanks to the Editor of the Graphic for the British fairplay he has shown towards the only Frenchman who has taken part in this contest, and to assure him, he will certainly lose nothing by it.

Thanks more and believe me Yours very truly,
J. F. MARCOTTE.

CANADIAN FORESTRY CONVENTION

Owing to the war the President and Directors of the Canadian Forestry Association have, after the most careful consideration, decided to cancel the arrangements for the Forestry Convention which was to be held in Halifax, Sept. 1st to 4th, 1914, and to postpone the Convention indefinitely. Whatever it is decided to do in the future, due notice will be given thereof to the members and all others concerned.

Attention is particularly directed to the fact that all railway arrangements as published have been cancelled, and that anyone going to Halifax within the stated dates will have to pay full fare back to starting point. All persons receiving this notice are requested to make it known to any others who they know were preparing to go to Halifax.

THE RECKONING

Ye who would reckon with England—
Ye who would sweep the seas—
And Nelson flung to the breeze—
Count well your ships, and your men,
Count well your horse and your guns,
For they who reckon with England
Must reckon with England's sons.

Ye who would challenge England—
Ye who would break the night—
Of the little isle in the foggy sea
And the lion heart in the fight—
Count well your horse and your swords,
We'll well our ship and our guns,
For they who ride against England
Must sabre her million sons.

Ye who would roll to warfare,
Your herds of peasants and slaves,
To crush the pride of an Empire
And sink her fame in the waves—
Test well your blood and your metal,
Count well your troops and your guns,
For they who battle with England
Must war with a Mother's Son.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT
Last Friday morning Duncan Dugan employed at Mowat's mill, met with an accident at the railway crossing there. He was crossing the track with a sloven load of shingles, when unperceived, the Ocean Limited caught the rig, badly damaging the sloven. Dugan was thrown a considerable distance and had one leg broken and other injuries. The horses escaped unhurt, and it is a wonder that Dugan was not killed.

SUDDEN DEATH
The death occurred yesterday forenoon of young Lindsay Munro Ferguson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. F. Ferguson, who was only in his 17th year. Lindsay had been sick for some time, but his death was not expected and the sympathy of all has been extended to the family on the loss of a son and brother, just stepping on the threshold of manhood.

The funeral will take place tomorrow, Friday at 3 p.m. Interment will be made in the Rural Cemetery.

ASSAULT CASE
A case of assault was heard before sitting Magistrate Kelly on Monday, when the accused pleaded guilty and was fined $20 and costs.

VALCARTIER CAMP IS NOW READY FOR TROOPS

Ottawa, Aug. 19.—All is in readiness now to receive the Canadian contingent of 25,000 troops at Valcartier Camp and orders were issued last night by the Minister of Militia, to all commanding officers throughout the Dominion to entrain on Thursday morning for Valcartier Camp. Thus Canada's war machine, the biggest of its kind in the history of the country will be set in motion and infantry, artillery, army service corps, a sprinkling of cavalry and all the numerous auxiliaries that go to make up an army division will stream into the Ancient Capital and thence to Valcartier.

Col. Sam Hughes refrained from issuing this order before, until the necessary water supply was ready and its purity guaranteed. There is now as pure a water supply as can be obtained in the Dominion controlled by Dr. Naismith, of Toronto, an expert water analyst, with a staff of assistants will make tests every day.

WAR AND SICKNESS

DURING A TIME OF PEACE,

WE FEEL IT OUR DUTY TO ADVISE THE PUBLIC

that all Drugs have been advanced 25 to 50 per cent. by the wholesalers and jobbing houses throughout Canada. The public, especially those who are sick, will suffer the most. Almost every line of actual necessity, such as baby foods, etc., etc. are all sold out, and there are few to be had at any price. Our advice to the public is to buy from us before our large stock is depleted in sufficient quantities to last them some time. This applies particularly to those who have to take medicines continuously and who cannot do without them.

We will continue to sell all the stock we have on hand at our old prices and will only advance them when we have to pay more for new goods—if we can get them! Although we carry one of the largest Drug stocks of any drug store in the Maritime Provinces it should not be forgotten that in times like the present a regular stock in trade does not last long.

We hope the hundreds who deal with us will appreciate this timely advice and act accordingly.

We remain,
Yours very truly

SUDDEN DEATH OF HIS HOLINESS THE POPE

Pope Pius Tenth Died Early This Morning at Rome.—Ill For Some Days

(Special to the Graphic) Rome, Aug. 20th.—His Holiness Pope Pius Tenth died here this morning at 12:00 o'clock. He had been ill several days, but no alarming symptoms were observed till yesterday morning. The physicians in attendance however did not think that he was so near, as hopeful news was given out to the general public only yesterday morning.

Pope Pius Tenth was in his 68th year having been born on June 2nd, 1855. He was elected Supreme Pontiff on August 4th, 1903.

It was with great delight that the music lovers of the town heard that Miss Synott, who has been playing at the Empress, will take up the position of pianist at the Opera House, under Mr. S. W. Dimock, her engagement beginning on Monday, August 24th.

Miss Synott is well and favorably known throughout the provinces as one of the few high class players, and since her coming here has made many friends in this town, who will no doubt render her continued support in her new position. The music lovers of the town congratulate Mr. Dimock and also themselves that they have been able to retain Miss Synott in Campbellton.

As a player and musician, Miss Synott stands in a class by herself, and has been eagerly sought after in many places, and what was Chasman's loss has been our gain. Miss Synott's playing itself will be an attraction at the Opera House, and will be appreciated as such by all who recognize good music.

Deafness Cannot be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Wall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free.
