

PECULIAR TORONTO

Moody Thinks the Queen City an Anomalous Place.

ENTHUSIASM IS NOT FANATICISM.

Politicians Who Can Give Examples to Preachers.

The Evangelist's Meetings Continue to Attract Immense Throngs to the Music Hall—Fifth, the Tallman Which Brings Blessings on This Sin-Cursed Earth—The Kind of Christianity That is Empty Profession.

It was unequivocally demonstrated yesterday that Evangelist Moody's meetings do not depend on those who only go to church in Sunday clothes. His congregations on the previous day were as fashionable as those in any of Toronto's churches. Such was not the case yesterday, especially in the afternoon. The crowds that filled Massey Hall consisted of a very large extent of women of the humbler class. Their attire was more homely than fashionable, and most were past the heyday of youth. Looking over the "serried ranks" there was a marked lack of color, save that indicative of mourning or sombre hue.

The Preliminary Service. The doors of the hall were opened at 8:30 o'clock. Nearly an hour elapsed before Mr. H. Blight had a sufficient number of chorists to commence with Bishop Heber's fine hymn, "Holy, Holy, Lord God Almighty." Mrs. Blight presiding at the organ. Then followed such gems of sacred song as "Toto and Brady's As Pants the Heart," "Jesus, Saviour, of the Side," "Kehle's 'Sun of My Soul,'" An agreeable innovation was the singing of the sacred song entitled, "Little Mary." The choir sang:

Mother, in that golden region, With its peary gates so fair, Up among the happy spheres, In that room, for Mary there? And then comes the chorus, in which the people joined:

Come, there's room; come, there's room; Down with the glorified angel band; Yes, there's room; yes, there's room; Room in the beautiful heavenly land.

Then Mrs. Patterson, who possesses a sweet voice of good compass, sang as solo:

Some one will enter the peary gate, And by, by, and by; Taste of things to sing thee await, Shy you, shall I? Some one will enter the peary gate, Beautiful visions will long behold, Visions and pleasures so long foretold, And I shall you, shall I?

A Great Gathering. It was now 4 o'clock, and the vast hall was filled in every part. Mr. Moody gave out a copy of the proceedings, and gave out Rev. Ray Palmer's touching hymn, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee, Thou Lamb of Calvary."

Silent prayer both preceded and followed an interesting petition by Rev. Dr. Thomas. Mr. Moody's prayer was most fervently. His hoarseness, however, was not a hindrance, if possible, happier in his remarks. After the quietude of silent prayer it seemed in the fitness of things to sing the hymn written by the Bishop of Exeter, "Peace, Perfect Peace, in This Dark World of Sin." This was the best vocal essay of the afternoon. Rev. Elmore Harris read a most appropriate scriptural passage, "God's Message to Joshua, which, four times over, he is told to be 'strong and of a good courage.'"

Then a devotion was made, and a popular hymn, not in Sankey's book, was sung with all the enthusiasm which the stimulating creature of the Lord, "Throw Out the Life Line," popular at the recent Baptist convention, was sung with more enthusiasm than ever before in Toronto.

Mr. Moody is such a strong believer in prayer that, although the time was rapidly passing, he could not commence calling on Rev. Dr. McFarlane, and he called on with invocations.

Elements of Success. The evangelist had the ground clear at last. In louder voice than he could command yesterday he said: I spoke to you yesterday on the elements of successful prayer; today I shall treat of the elements of success in work for the Lord, or necessary qualifications for an efficient Christian worker.

He was very outspoken and did not beat about the bush in his strictures. He told them that he had no desire for the extension of Christ's Kingdom, their Christianity was all empty profession. The first element, he said, was faith. This was the great tallman which brought blessing on this sin-cursed world. A Scotsman in 1878 (Mr. Moody) still burned in his Saul's army but believed that Goliath could be defeated, but there was the youthful David, who was sure that Goliath would be defeated.

Small Means, Great Results. Then Mr. Moody showed that let man should claim the glory, God used humble instruments to achieve the most glorious results. God has worked for 6000 years on this line, and He's doing the same thing still.

When the Lord wanted a book written about the Bible, He didn't go to Oxford or Cambridge Universities to get the job done, but to Bedford Jail, and He entrusted the work to a drunken tinker.

The story of the Canaanitish spies afforded theme for comment. Faith never sends out spies. A majority and minority report was the result in the olden days. The faithless and unbelieving are always in the majority. The world is quick to believe a lie, and the people believed the story of the giants, compared with whom the ten said they were grasshoppers. Caleb and Joshua, men of faith, said it was the giants who were grasshoppers. (Laughter.)

GENERAL DEBILITY.

How to Secure Release from the Distressing Symptoms That Follow in the Train of a "Run Down" System.

The expression general debility is frequently made use of in referring to those who are weakly or whose system is run down, and it covers a multitude of symptoms that either singly or in the aggregate make life miserable, and hurry the victim to an early grave unless prompt and efficient means are taken to restore exhausted nature by building up the blood and assisting it to absorb oxygen, your weak medicine and organic life. As a blood builder and blood restorer Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People surpass all other medicines known to science. Their action is speedy and certain, building up the shattered system and driving out disease. Miss Olive E. Orde, Grey wood, N.S., bears testimony to the efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in curing this kind of ailment. "When I began using Pink Pills my whole system was run down to the extent that I was unable to do any work. My appetite was poor, I had almost constant severe headaches, dizziness and other symptoms. The next beneficial to success (I feared) was going into a decline. I soon began to recover under the influence of your great medicine, and am now as well as ever. I was fed and fed with present good health to Pink Pills, which will be suffering as I was. If you are suffering from any of the troubles due to a run-down system, do not waste precious money, in experiments with other medicine, but at once, and you will speedily be restored to full health and strength. Sold by all dealers, or sent direct to the publishers, Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockton, Mass., U.S.A. Avoid imitations and substitutes."

California and Mexico. The Wabash Railroad Company now offers the advantage of a daily tourist train to Los Angeles and San Francisco leaving Dearborn Station, Chicago, 10:50 a. m. on arrival of the morning train from Toronto. The route is made by the only true Southern route, avoiding mountain ranges and snow blockades. Your nearest ticket agent will furnish time tables and other information of this route. J. A. Richardson, Ticket Agent, 205 King Street, Toronto.

To Improve Drainage. No Repairs Have Been Made for the Past Forty Years. The York Township Council occupied 10 hours yesterday evening, 10:30, which was principally devoted to routing business. Mr. J. H. Moxey, who was requested to grant them the right to supply electric light and electric power for lighting, manufacturing and other purposes within the limits of the Township of York.

Backbone Wanted. A friend of mine in Virginia said he weighed 100 lbs. and 88 of that was backbone. (Laughter.) I like such a man, said Mr. Moody. "That is what we want—backbone. (Laughter.) Some churches in the United States say, 'Come in and be saved, or stay out and go to hell.' Perhaps you have heard that kind of talk in Toronto. I hope you have not."

That Big Humbug. Just try, the speaker, to get some one to come and hear Moody. "What will the answer be? 'That big humbug!' that mountebank! I'm disgusted with the Toronto ministers bringing him here. I would rather hear a man speak like that, added Mr. Moody, than one who would smile, say yes, and who has heard the Gospel for 25 years, and it rolls off him like rain of marble. There is more hope for the other class, so go for them; go for them."

The Tide at the Fall. Wonderful was the sight presented at Massey Hall last evening. The vast building was densely crowded long before the time of meeting. Thousands were unable to gain admission, and an overflow meeting was held in the Metropolitan Church.

Mr. Moody entered the hall at 7:15 and the service commenced. The special hymns sung were: "Awake, Awake, O Heart of Mine," "We Shall Stand Before the King," "Joy to the World," "Must I Go Empty-Handed?" "Whither Thou Show'st 'Nearer to Thee," "Now the Night is Over." Rev. Elmore Harris and Rev. Dr. Parsons led in prayer. The latter also read a Scriptural lesson, Luke x—the story of the Good Samaritan.

Mr. Moody asked all to rise who were on the Lord's side, and nearly the whole of the great audience sprang to their feet. "Thank you," said Mr. Moody, "I wanted to see whom I had for an audience."

The Snares of War. Mr. Moody said: I saw some collection plates, now I do not object to a collection, if it is understood that it is not for myself. This magnificent hall cost $75 a day. That is very cheap, Carnegie Hall, New York, no bigger than this, costs $600 a day. I think it will do you good to pay this rent. Don't give unless you want. Give your tobacco money if you smoke. Each give something and the rent will be a bagatelle.

Then the clerk was cleared for Mr. Moody to resume his afternoon's discourse. Love was the fifth element of success he treated of. He regarded this as the motive power to Christian work. The 13th chapter, I Cor., sounding the praise of love, ought to be read in all the churches at least once in 30 days. Work from a sense of duty. Mr. Moody thought little of "I get tired and sick of the world. It chills me to the backbone. If there was more love and less duty there would not be so many men breaking down."

Love Versus Indulgence. In proof that love will reach the atheist, Mr. Moody told how he won a Chicago saloon keeper by loving respect. The man said, "I'll read the Bible, Mr. Moody, if you'll read Paine's 'Ages of Reason.' I agreed, but he got the best end of the bargain. (Laughter.) Then it was agreed they should have a joint meeting and speak for and against the gospel. The result was that Mr. Moody, by persistent love, gained the victory.

Need of Good Samaritans. The above was only one of many stories Mr. Moody told. His next topic was essential for successful work. He spiritualized the story of the man who fell among thieves, and was sarcastic on the conduct of the moral and respectable priest and Levite who "passed by on pews would do more good than preachers in the pulpit."

We Are Preached to Death. Continuing, Mr. Moody said: "We are being preached to death. It is 'Preach, preach.' I understand you are in Canada. We want more sermons in man's hands and feet—not sermons in manuscript."

Then he seriously suggested that the wealthy ladies with carriages place them at the disposal of the poor for healthy outings, and he urged the poor people to the churches rather than sermons. "Yes," said he, "I believe in sermons on wheels, sermons with grapes and fruits."

Other examples of human sympathy were seriously and peculiarly enforced, and the audience thrilled by stories of self-sacrifice for the rescue of the fallen, the drunken and the harlot.

At the close of the impressive address there was a brief prayer meeting, at which nearly every one of the 6000 persons present prayed.

PUT A PISTOL TO HIS HEAD.

But Through Mistaken Kindness, a Spectator Knocked It to One Side.

Oscar Cummer, a printer, recently arrived from the United States, was standing at Simpson's Restaurant yesterday, when a man named Thomas E. Ellwood came along. Cummer stopped and asked him if he was going to blow his brains out, and pulling a revolver from his pocket, placed the muzzle of his pistol against the man's forehead. Cummer, however, was not going to shoot, but was merely making a bluff. He was discharged, the bullet passing through Cummer's forehead. Cummer was summoned and Cummer was arrested. He was subsequently removed to the General Hospital.

Another Would-be Suicide Discharged. Albert Lyotte, the young student, who attempted to commit suicide by taking a dose of laudanum, was arraigned at the Court yesterday, but, upon his father consenting to be responsible for him in the future, the magistrate allowed Lyotte to go.
