

The Manners and Customs of the Indians near the Coasts - p. 29

Description of their Persons ;—Pernicious Effects of spirituous Liquors ;—Tragical Instances of it ;—Diseases incident to the Indians ;—their natural Disposition ;—Patience under Misfortunes or Fatigue ;—Addicted to Superstition ;—Instances of it ;—Religious Sentiments ;—Nature of their civil and military Subordination ;—Account of an Expedition undertaken by some Indians against the Esquimaux ;—Indian Method of dividing Time, and computing Numbers ;—The Manner in which they trade at the Forts.

A concise Account of the Trade to Hudson's-Bay, with the Method pursued by the Company in carrying it on - - p. 65

Summary of the Charter granted to the Company ;—Laudable Conduct of the first Traders and first Directors, contrasted with the Conduct of the present Company ;—Rivalled by the Canadian Traders ;—Different