

THE 'PIONEER' SERIES.

A splendid series of books suitable for boys and girls, containing stories of school and home life, and of adventures on sea and land, by such well-known authors as Evelyn Everett-Green, George E. Sargent, Eglanton Thorne, and many other prominent writers of juvenile books.

Each contains not less than 160 pages with illustrations. Crown 8vo (7½ in. by 5 in.), 1s. each.

HONOUR, NOT HONOURS. By Mrs. Austin Dobson, Author of 'Cherryburn,' etc.

The Sword and Trowel says:—'This story will be appreciated by boys whose surroundings are those of wealth and refinement. Some of the situations are sufficiently mysterious and sensational, but the "one thing needful" is kept before the youthful reader, and, therefore, it has our good word.'

The Freeman says:—'It is a story for boys, and may be very cordially recommended to them as of a very healthy tone, full of interest and incident, and sure to give them both gratification and profit.'

The Bookseller says:—'A capitally-written story for boys.'

FARMER BLUFF'S DOG BLAZER; Or, At the Eleventh Hour. By Florence E. Burch, Author of 'Josh Jobson,' 'Ragged Simon,' etc.

The School Guardian says:—'An interesting story for boys. Farmer Bluff is the old squire's bailiff. Excessive drinking, in spite of repeated warnings, brings on gout, and ultimately kills him. The squire's heir is a cripple, who visits the old bailiff and talks seriously to him, at last converting him when on his death-bed. The farmer's dog (which saves two lives) is left to the future squire, who melts down the bailiff's silver beer-mug into a collar for his dog.'

ANEAL'S MOTTO. By B. E. Slade. With Frontispiece.

The Literary World says:—'"Faithful in that which is least" was Anear's motto. The story shows how a brave girl strove to live up to it, and to help others to do the same. The story itself is very pleasantly told.'

The Sydney Morning Herald says:—'A story based on the motto: "Life is made up of small things." The small things here work up into a tragedy and much suffering before the pleasant ending comes.'
