

POET-LORE.

DEVOTED TO

SHAKESPEARE, BROWNING,

AND THE

Comparative Study of Literature.

Issued on the 15th of each month.

A purely Literary Journal, seeking to popularize the best poetry of all periods, and proceeding through special study to broader work in comparative literature. It aims, also, to give the student news of current literary work. It carries on its purpose by means of critical articles on the work of special authors or on general literature, and, also, through the following departments:

Societies.—Which gives reports of meetings and plans of work of societies and clubs.

The Study.—Helps in the study of Shakespeare, Browning and other poets.

The Stage.—Dramatic criticisms and news of important stage representations.

The Library.—Lists and reviews of books in the field of literature.

Notes and News.—Of which letters from London, Paris and New York are a regular feature, besides miscellaneous notes of a critical nature.

Yearly Subscription, $2.50. Single Number, 25 cts.

The Poet-lore Co.,

223 S. 38th St.,

PHILADELPHIA.