nperial opened of June embers ikewife re exa-Grant, be Ho-Their nfusion which pility of ofed of peak to ommon judges follow follow ling to what

ovince,

elong-

what appears to them to be the equity of the case*. This is a most melancholy picture of courts of justice. Is it poslible for a people to be more ferioufly oppressed, than to be obliged to depend, for the fecurity of their property, on courts composed of judges who differ fo materially on the principles which ought to govern their judgments in deciding the causes brought before thern? The fuitor's fortune, nay, his political existence in the society, must depend on the chance of an accidental majority of judges on the bench; of those who decide by French law; of those who decide by English law; or of those who, neglecting all law, decide by their own ideas of natural equity. The Quebec Act is express in its direction, that all civil actions shall be decided by the laws and customs of Canada; yet the Court of Appeals decides by

^{*} See Appendix, No. XIV.