THE TORONTO WORLD

ONE CENT MORNING PAPER.

No. 55 YONGE STREET, TORONTO.

THE BRITISH VICTORY IN THE SUDAN.

The fall of Khartoum and the triumph of British arms in Southern Egypt is a matter of great significance to English-speaking people the world over. Sometimes we are not able to exactly understand why English diplomacy seems to fall down at a critical juncture, but when the facts are examined more fully a reason will generally be found. The question that is uppermost in the Englishman's mind at the present moment is the future of England in the Dark Continent. Cecil Rhodes, who has recently returned to South Africa, has assumed the reins of Government there, and has triumphed over a strong opposition, which was more or less allied with the Boer element. Once again that enterprising Englishman is on top and Paul Kruger seems to be on the wane. Sir Alfred Milner, who is one of the most promising of the new school of Englishmen, represents the Imperial Government at the Cape, and by his influence is helping along the new movement. The success of Sir Herbert Kitchener will now enable Englishmen to establish a great and free road or track from the delta of the Nile on the Mediterranean to that great river, across the equatorial lakes and make a junction with the railways and lines of navigation which the Englishmen of the south are extending northwards. Cecil Rhodes is working north, and Kitchener is working south, their object being to ultimately effect a junction. A line of railway runs some 1500 miles north from the Cape, and it is being extended further as fast as circumstances will permit. As a matter of fact a small gap yet remains between British authority in Central Africa and English influence, as now extended in Southern Egypt.

The temper of Englishmen is such as to brook no interference on the part of ambitious European powers, like Germany and France, in the carrying out of this great work. They are at liberty to select their own spheres in which to operate, but they must not interfere with Britain's policy in Africa. In carrying out this policy England does not close the door, but leaves her roads and railways and her tracks of commerce open to all the world. With this exploitation of the Dark Continent by England there has come a wonderful improvement in the condition of the natives brought under English influence. The Egyptian who was once a slave, is now a free man and catching up in the march of progress. The barbaric Arab, with all his heathenish methods of government, is fast disappearing before English civilization. Public works that are the surprise of the world, including drainage undertakings, irrigation, the restoration of waste places and the like, are being planned in England by scientists and engineers. As a matter of fact, the greatest field of activity in the world to-day is on the African continent, and it is the bearing that the fall of Khartoum has on this activity that gives the victory of Saturday its great significance.

ONTARIO'S MINERAL OUTPUT.

The mineral output of Ontario, though very small compared with British Columbia, is steadily on the increase. The production for the first six months of 1908 has just been published. The figures show a very decided increase over those of the corresponding period of last year.

As a matter of fact the returns for the first half of 1908 are not far short of those for the whole of 1907. The comparison is as follows:

Gold	98.6 mos. '07, 12 mos. '08	$133,744	$100,241
Silver		10,632	10,632
Copper		225,763	353,651
Nickel		141,744	290,067
Iron ore		23,845	4,683
Pig iron		305,083	288,129
Total		$80,911	$1,042,779

THE COMMISSION'S DECISION.

While the Inter-State Commerce Commission has no legal jurisdiction over the Canadian Pacific Railway, the latter corporation will probably realize that it is in its interests to recognize the findings of the Commission as binding upon itself. If the C. P. R. competes with the United States railways in the American passenger business, it is only reasonable that it should be subjected to the same conditions that apply to the American lines. The C. P. R. has all along admitted its willingness to refer the matters in dispute between itself and the American lines to disinterested arbitration. Whether the Inter-State Commerce Commission will be accepted by the Canadian railway as a disinterested tribunal, we do not know, but the decision it has just rendered bears all the evidence of impartiality and fairness. The C. P. R. will have to abide by the decision of the Commission or it will furnish good reasons for the passage of restrictive legislation by Congress. What the Commission has really done is to declare the fact that the C. P. R. is not entitled to any differential on transcontinental passenger traffic as against its American rivals. The C. P. R. never asserted absolutely that it was entitled to a differential, but it did insist on the question being decided by arbitration and not by its competitors. But from the evidence submitted the Commission finds that the trouble was precipitated, not by the C. P. R. insisting on its differential, but by the American lines making secret rates which more than offset the differential claimed by the C. P. R. The American lines, it has been found, were the real aggressors in the war of rates, the Canadian line being forced to take action in pure self-defence.

The status of Canadian railways in the United States and of American railways in Canada is eminently a question for the Quebec Conference. It is to be hoped the Conference will be able to arrive at a satisfactory settlement of the international railway question and permanently remove that nuisance from the international arena.

The Machine that Caused a Strike

See the machine in the "Slater Shoe Store" that caused the strike in the Slater factory in Montreal.

It is the Chase lasting machine. It does the work infinitely better than can be done by hand—because it is done absolutely uniformly.

It stretches the leather automatically just as far as it will go without breaking—no more.

This gives the shoe the shape retention that no other process can give.

The tireless, marvelous Goodyear machines are also on exhibition in full working order at

The vessels were anchored in the lake and were connected with the grounds by electric wires. The explosion was terrific, and the scene was decidedly realistic. Every evening since the Exhibition opened the bombardment and capture of Santiago has been witnessed by thousands of delighted spectators. On Thursday will occur the event of the Exhibition—the blowing up of the Maline. The bombardment of Santiago will continue to be given every night while the Exhibition lasts. The entertainment afforded at the Fair ought to appeal strongly to our neighbors in New York, Michigan and the adjoining states. Thursday is down on the program as American visitors day. There promises to be an immense crowd of visitors from the other side on that day. We have reason to believe that the attendance of Americans at our Exhibition this year will be twice as large as it has ever been. They may rest assured that they will receive a cordial welcome in Toronto, and we believe they will be well satisfied with what is to be seen at the Exhibition.
