

solemnized by the Commemoration of the Lord's Supper. The evening service was led by Dr. McClure, and quite a number of the native Christians spoke or led in prayer. Two men were added to Church membership by Baptism, and doubtless others would have been received but for the rain of the previous day preventing them coming in from the country. A cloud was cast over the proceedings of the day, as it was found necessary to discipline one of our Church members, a trusted woman who was suspended from Church privileges and Communion for one year. A large number of Christians came in from the surrounding towns, and the best of good feeling prevailed throughout the day. A letter of thanks has been drawn up by the Chinese, thanking the good friends in Montreal for the helpful remembrance of the work and its great need. No one who has been acquainted with our old quarters will have any doubt as to the need of such a change. The fresh circulation of air and the bright light stands out in strong contrast to the old dingy, damp and dismal building which has been occupied for the past nine years of work among those people. For all of which we raise our voice and hearts in grateful praise to God.
