DEWART AT WINDSOR.

WINDSOR, Nov. 23.—Enthusiasm which at times almost threatened to break out of bounds so marked did it become, was the feature of the first open mass meeting held in the interest of William C. Kennedy, the Liberal candidate for with Essex at Oddfellows' Hall here last night. The hall was packed with a representative audience long before the chairman, Dr. P. A. Dewar called the meeting to order. There was also ample evidence that the women of the riding propose to take an active part in the campaign, many of them being satisfied to stand throughout the entire meeting.

The principal address was delivered by Hartley H. Dewart, K.C. M.P.P., of Toronto. Responsibility for the necessity and adoption of the present military service bill, providing for the drafting of 100,000 men, was placed squarely on the Borden Government by Mr. Dewart.

Took No Action.

The speaker received an ovation which lasted for several minutes when he declared: "The records of Parliament will show that for three years while the war dragged on, when it had full power to enforce the militia act, which was upon the statute books for providing reinforcements for men at the front, it took no action until the Liberal party had determined to force an election."

Mr. Dewart continued: "I was one of the advocates of the enforcement of an election."

Mr. Dewart continued: "I was one of the advocates of the enforcement of the militia act by which the Government could call out its citizens for training. I saw in that the solution of the problem of getting voluntary reinforcements for men at the front. After a course of training men in uniform would be brought to see the necessity for backing up the soldiers now in France and Flanders, and would have volunteered. Nothing was done, however, until after Sir Robert Borden took the Hon. Robert Rogers ione, however, until after Sir Robert Borden took the Hon. Robert Rogers to England and introduced him to the King. (Great applause and laughter.)

Great applause and laughter.)

Got Busy, Then.

"Then on his return to Canada, Sir Robert Borden went to Parliament and presented his military service act. It took this act 103 days to pass through Parliament. But when it came to granting Bill Mackenzie and Dan Mann the sum of $10,000,000 of the people's money for the worthless stock in the Canadian Northern Railway, this measure was passed by the same Parliament then under closure in 29 days."

way, this measure was passed by the same Parliament then under closure in 29 days."

Mr. Dewart summed up in closing by saying that under the law a thief may be sentenced to prison for seven years while a receiver of stolen property may be sent down for 14 years because it is usually necessary for the receiver to work under the guise of respectability, and he is therefore a greater menace to the community. The Union Government now appeared before the people in the cloak of respectability but in reality the sponsor for all the misdeeds and scandals of the Borden administration.

Given Fine Welcome.

Mr. Kennedy was given a hearty reception when he rose to speak. He devoted himself to a brief review of his platform which provides for in creased pay for soldiers, administration of the patriotic fund by the Govirnment through direct taxation and increased pay for soldiers.

Gaspard Pacaud, a prominent citizen known all over the constituency, delivered a brief speech in French which was well received by a large number of French-Canadans present.

WEAKEST GOVERNMENT EVER. THAMESVILLE, Nov. 23.—Electors from all over the riding listened with keen interest here tonight to fine addresses by Neil McDougail, the Liberal candidate in East Lambton, and Archie McColg, the fighting candidate for West Kent. Mr. McDougail was well received, and in his address declared that at the present time production and the feeding of the boys at the front is just as important a question
