WOMEN'S HISTORICAL SOCIETY'S DISPLAY

Exhibit of Christmas Parcels and Other Things for Soldiers Placed on View.

Numerous passersby were attracted yesterday to the window at 80 West King street, which was filled with a particularly interesting exhibit. That the articles on view were for soldiers was seen at a glance and that hands and hearts directed by love and patriotism had arranged the many things that were to comfort and delight the men overseas and on this side of the ocean was likewise apparent.

Bundles of socks prettily tied with red and green ribbon formed the foundation of the collection, the coloring bringing the festive season very near. Raised on standing rods were a number of "stretcher caps," one made of fur looking especially rich, but it was explained that it had been made of "bits" which had been sent in and that nimble fingers had done the rest. These caps of which there are some dozens are made with a curtain going three-parts around and persons and periods in the previous they are all warmly lined. The purpose of the stretcher caps is to protect the men who have been given first aid and whose bandaged heads will not permit of wearing the ordinary cap. Then in the window there were samplers and dozens of pretty "personal property bags."

The exhibit is the product of the Toronto Women's Historical Society, which under the convener'ship of Mrs. Horace Eaton, has done such exceptional work. One group of the socks was made by the women of the Industrial Farm, the first work along this line in which they have been interested. The wool was supplied by the Historical Society and the women of the farm proved to be willing and apt co-operators. The exhibit deserves more than a passing mention because it shows that the members of the "Historical" without losing their identity or giving up the line of work for which they are associated have found time and means to do their "bit" and to do it in a most practical and attractive way. Since the war began papers have been prepared on historical subjects, research work has been continued, exhibitions of old lace, samplers and relics, relating to the war, have been made and persons and periods in the previous life of Canada have been held at various meetings. The exhibit will be on view for a week, after which the work of another society will be shown in a similar way under the convener'ship of Mrs. Arthur Van Koughnet.

WOMEN'S VOLUNTEER CORPS.

The discussing of plans for the work of the winter and customary drill occupied the members of the Women's Volunteer Corps at their meeting in the Lansdowne School. The secretary-treasurer reported that returns from last month's dance are still coming in. Three new members were received.

RED CROSS WORKERS REACH STOCKING AIM

Eight Thousand Six Hundred and Twenty-Four Have Been Patched to Soldiers.

Patience, persistence and publicity make up the irresistible trinity that crowned with success the effort to get the number of Christmas stockings raised by the Red Cross workers at 88 West King street, to send to the hospitals and trenches overseas.

Mrs. Searns Hicks, the indefatigable guardian of the stores, sent out a call for 7500 stockings. The circles upon which she chiefly depended sent in the splendid response of 4200. There was a lull and the headquarters of the Toronto Red Cross displayed a disappointed and almost despairing atmosphere. "Then the papers took it up," said Mrs. Hicks to The World yesterday. "They stood behind us splendidly and told the people how anxious we were and the numbers who responded after that included people from all kinds of business-houses, factories and stores and even a little newsboy. It became a real educational campaign. Yesterday we sent the last cases. We had 10 women here packing and three men hammering. We got 8624—seven more than we asked."

Every stocking represented a minimum average of $1.50, so anyone who wishes to calculate the value will find it somewhere in the neighborhood of $13,000. The offering, however, means much more than this for it represents Christmas cheer and Christmas greeting to nearly 8000 men, many of whom would have been left without a message from Canada were it not for the thought and work of the Red Cross contingent.
