Names of Some Who Will Leave This Evening for Grosse Isle.

It is expected that thirty delegates of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will leave at 8:40 this evening on the Quebec express for Quebec, to attend the ceremonies at the unveiling of the statue at Grosse Island.

Among the St. John delegation will be W. L. Williams, F. P. Curran, John Daley, Richard Keane, William Gillen, Thomas Britney, Joseph Doody, P. O'Brien and James McAndry.

STRONG DELEGATION

Board of Trade to Have About 15 Representatives at the Maritime Board.

St. John will send a strong delegation to the maritime board of trade meeting in Charlottetown. Among the number will be W. E. Foster, president of the St. John board, T. H. Estabrooks, J. N. Harvey, Thomas S. White, Thomas German, J. Hunter White, J. H. Doody, Frank H. Foster, E. L. Jarvis, James Patterson, and Secretary W. E. Anderson. About fifteen in all are expected.

The delegation, it was thought, would leave here on Tuesday next, and a meeting would first be held to discuss matters. To save time, however, it was decided to leave St. John on Wednesday morning and to organize and talk over subjects for discussion as the train moves along.

NOT NECESSARY TO OPEN CLIFTON

The Hotel Men Get Notice of Rooms Available to Tide Over the Rush.

The fact that the hotels were not able to accommodate all the convention visitors and the rush of tourists this week led to some discussion relative to the temporary opening of the Clifton House for sleeping accommodation.

This apparently will not be necessary. A paragraph in this morning's Telegraph, suggesting that citizens having rooms they were willing to let to transient visitors for lodging should notify the Tourist Association of the hotels, has brought out the fact that there are many rooms to be had.

Mr. Bond of the Dufferin says that they received notice this morning of at least twenty rooms available. Doubtless the other hotels have also been advised of some. It would be well if any who have rooms but have not asked for lodgers would advise one or other of the hotels at once. It is important that during a temporary rush all visitors should be accommodated. The conditions are unusual this year because two of the hotels are closed.

TO INSTRUCT IN SIGNALLING

School Likely to Be Formed Here in October—Six Weeks Course.

It will interest military circles to know that a signalling school will probably be conducted in St. John in the coming fall. Official announcement can not be had as yet but it is expected that the school will be formed and that Captain Lister will be in charge. October is named as the time and the course of instruction will last about six weeks. The school will be conducted along lines similar to those followed in the infantry and artillery branches. A signalling school was conducted here two years ago.

CASE SETTLED

The North End Street Obstruction Report—More Evidence in Theft Case.

The anticipated repetition of the Dobson hearing did not materialize in the police court this morning as an amicable solution of the matter was reached at a conference in the police clerk's office, at which Judge Ritchie, Charles F. Brown, district fire engineer of the north end, Patrolman Nelson, who reported Brown for refusing to move, profanely and persistently obstructing main street on Saturday last, Sergeant Kilpatrick, of the north end division, and J. B. M. Baxter, attorney for Brown, were present. After the report had been discussed, the policemen and Brown left the court.

The preliminary examination of Joseph Davis, accused of theft from W. H. Bell, was resumed this morning. Mr. Bell was recalled and testified that he was informed by his wife, since the arrest of the youth, of the loss of a gun metal watch by their daughter. Accompanied by Detective Ritchie he went to Davis' room in a boarding house in Peters street, and identified a pair of trousers, suspenders, two ties, a muffler and a covering as belonging to him. The articles were in a trunk and bag. A key of Mr. Bell's barn, which Davis had promised to return, when he severed his connection with him as an employe, was also found in the room.

Mr. Bell alluded to an incident wherein he said Davis returned $10 to the book-keeper and asserted that $135, the balance, was due. Emphasis elicited the fact that the debtor had a receipt for $11.85, signed by Davis. Subsequently Davis informed him in jail that he retained $185 as wages were due him. He was further remanded.

Vernor Thorne stated that as he was passing James Richard's home in South End, a collie and a bull dog attacked him. The collie released its grip on his leg, but still struck with a missile, the bull dog refused to withdraw. It returned to the attack a second time, but was resisted. The young man stated that it was necessary to consult Dr. Inches. Richards was ordered to examine the dogs, and consented.
