THE TIME TO BOOST

The city of St. John should prepare this week to put on its best attire for the period of the exhibition. Not only should all the merchants endeavor to make their stores as outwardly attractive as possible, but the homes of the people should put on a gay appearance. The visitor should find on every hand a place of light and color suitable to the holiday aspect of the great fair. Never before has the city had so good an opportunity to create a favorable impression on the minds of so many people. Here is a chance for every citizen to become a "booster"—not by boasting prices and taking advantage of the visitor who comes to the fair—but by doing something that will add to the general appearance of the city and the pleasure and comfort of the stranger within the gates.

The last few days have brought new rumors of large projects for development work in connection with the transportation system where rail and water meet at the port. Every citizen should display enthusiasm in the thousands who will come daily to visit the exhibition and carry away impressions of the city. The "spirit of the east" should be very much in evidence in St. John during the next three weeks.

JAPAN GETS KOREA

Today Korea becomes an integral part of the Japanese Empire. Japan has secured a permanent foothold upon the mainland of Asia. This was an inevitable result of the victory of Japan over Russia in the late war, and is an event of great importance to the world at large. Japan now has near at hand a field for expansion, and has added to one stroke a population variously estimated at from eight to more than twice eight millions. On the outbreak of the war with Russia Japan made a treaty with Korea guaranteeing its independence and territorial integrity, and later in the same year Korea agreed to place its financial and foreign relations in the hands of advisers recommended by Japan. After the war Russia assented to the paramount influence of Japan in Korea. Great Britain also recognized Japan's claims in Korea, and in 1905 Korea surrendered control of her foreign relations and agreed to receive a Japanese resident general at Seoul. The famous Marquis Ito was appointed to the post of honor, but found himself in a hotbed of intrigue and thinly veiled hostility. But Japan was all-powerful, and in 1907 the Korean emperor was forced to abdicate, and the country passed under the suzerainty of Japan. The unrest continued, and in 1909 Japan assumed control of the police and prison department. During the same year Marquis Ito was assassinated. Since then Japan concluded a new treaty with Russia, which was regarded as foreshadowing the annexation of Korea by the first named country; and now this has been accomplished. Japan six years ago was pledged to uphold the independence of Korea, but events have moved swiftly and there is no more a Korean empire.

The New York Evening Post, giving expression to American opinion, observes that on the whole it is best for Korea, for Japan, and for the peace of the world, that what had to happen should happen at the earliest moment. "The Koreans were neither happy nor well-governed. The Post adds that the peaceful assimilation of these millions is a task that is sure to keep Japanese statesmanship busy for years to come, and this may not be a bad thing for the peace of mind of the other powers."

ADVICE FOR MR. BORDEN

The Toronto Telegram wants Mr. R. L. Borden to throw down the gauntlet to Quebec. If the following is not an incitement to a division on lines of race and religion, it comes very close. The Telegram says:—

"Quebec should be dropped from the campaign plans of the Ottawa opposition. Success might not come to a party which ignored the principles or prejudices of Quebec. Assuredly success has not come to a party which has ignored everything but the principles and prejudices of Quebec. A party that went right ahead, irrespective of the race and creed of any province, could not be much worse off than the party which has tried to do nothing but pandering to the race and creed of one province. And R. L. Borden, in the crisis of

YOUR PLACE

Just where you stand in the conflict, then, your place; Just where you think you are useless Hide not your face God placed you there for a purpose, What'er it be. Think you He has chosen you for it, Work loyally.

Girl on your armor, be faithful! To arms, rest, While'er it be, never doubting God's way is best. Out in the fight or on picket, Stand firm and true This is the work which your Master Gives you to do.

IN LIGHTER VEIN

Vacation days To autumn haze Are rapidly declining, We're feeling blue, For not a soul Is now our pockets lining. —Detroit News.

EXPLAINED

Broadway—Boulder is always overlooking his auto. Bond Street—"Yes from underneath." —The Widow.

A PLUNGE INTO THE PROSAIC

"Se the beautiful sunset colors on the water," said the poetic young woman. "I'm glad to know what they are," replied the near-sighted man. "I thought the bathing suits had faded." —Washington Star.

LOGICAL

"Mother," asked little Ethel, "now that you're in mourning for Cousin Adelaide, will you wear nightdresses too?"

"What an absurd question, child!"

"Oh, I only thought you might be as sorry at night as you were during the day," ventured Ethel.—Harper's Bazar.

ARTISTIC

Mr. Binks (in art museum)—"I didn't know you were such an admirer of curios Mrs. Blunderbry."

Mrs. Blunderbry—"Oh, yes, indeed; I just delight in inquiries."—Boston Transcript.

APPLIED HISTORY.

First Professor—"My dear colleague, I'm a little puzzled. When did the first Peloponnesian war begin?"

Second Professor—"431 B. C."

First Professor—"Quite right, quite right. That is the number of my doctor's telephone. I was to call him up and tell him my wife is sick."—Fliegende Blätter.

ACTIVE POSSESSION

Guidewere, aged 4, was going out to walk with a young lady, of whom she was very fond. As they opened the street door, they were met by a swirling cloud of dust, blown up from the thoroughfare.

"Keep your lips closed, Green, you'll get your lungs full of microbes," warned the young lady.

"I never pondered a moment and then looking up demanded:

"What are your robes?"—National Monthly.

NO STAGE-SETTING NEEDED.

I do not need a bowery dell. Nor any fast-fading scene. To let that you are passing fair: In fact, I've learned to love you well. To make me gaze with joy on you. It matters not about the sky.

To sing to me that you are sweet; You merely have to turn and look. And I am taken off my feet.

I do not need a scented breeze. Nor any fast-fading scene. To let that you are passing fair: In fact, I've learned to love you well. To make me gaze with joy on you. It matters not about the sky.
