SPEEDY TYPIST OWES LAURELS TO SPECIAL TRAINING

By Principal of Miss Johnson's Business College of St. John, N. B.

An enviable reputation is that of the speedy young typist, Staff Sergeant James G. Glover, who won the record for being the swiftest typewriter operator in the Canadian Government Railway offices at Moncton, and is now attached to the headquarters staff, D. S. C. R., at St. John. Staff Sergeant Glover declares he owes his laurels wholly to the splendid special training by Miss J. F. Johnson during her stay in Moncton, where she conducted the Moncton Business College and who, about a year ago, established Miss Johnson's Business College at 102 Prince William street, St. John (N. B.)

STAFF SERGT. JAMES C. GLOVER.

Talking with a newspaper man, Staff Sergeant Glover said: "I was a mere lad when I started my studies with Miss Johnson in the railway town, and had not been long at her business college before I realized the thoroughness and efficiency of her system, not only in typewriting, but in every department of her institution, where highly practical courses and specialized individual attention have won success for the hundreds of pupils who have passed through her capable hands. When you leave Miss Johnson's school you know your work, and know it well; you can't help knowing it, so closely are you followed up by Miss Johnson and her capable staff. St. John is, I am sure, most fortunate in having such an excellent business training institution as Miss Johnson's Business College, which I unhesitatingly recommend to all who would be properly qualified for commercial life."

Staff Sergeant Glover received his entire training on the L. C. Smith typewriter, for which he expresses a strong preference.

A prospectus will be promptly forwarded to all who call, write or 'phone Miss Johnson's Business College, 102-108 Prince William street, St. John, N. B. 'Phone Main 206.

Buyer For Oak Hall's Women's Shop Returns From Extensive Trip

Miss McKay, buyer for the women's shop, Oak Hall, returned yesterday from an extensive buying trip that included New York, Toronto, Montreal and other fashion centres. Miss McKay was very successful in procuring new and exclusive suits, dresses and coats and was greatly impressed by the much lowered prices at which she was able to buy. These new garments are arriving daily and a visit to the Oak Hall women's shop from now on to look these over will offer many moments of real pleasure and Miss McKay will have many new styles themes to talk about that came to her attention while in New York and the other centres of fashion.

STEEVES CASE IS COMMENCED

The preliminary hearing in the case against O. Gaius Steeves, charged with the murder of his wife, was taken up yesterday afternoon before Magistrate J. W. Gaskin, Coverdale, Albert county. Joseph Steeves, father-in-law of the accused, told of his daughter coming to his house badly bruised and on different occasions said she had showed bruises which she said the accused inflicted. Albert Munroe, who lives near the Steeves' farm, said Mrs. Steeves and the accused had often puarreled and when he went to close the door a week ago Friday night he heard them talking loud. On cross-examination the witness said when he saw the fire he did not go down but dressed and had his breakfast first and about fifteen minutes later went to the fire. Peter Roberts and James Storer also gave evidence. The court adjourned until this morning. James Sherren of Moncton, and H. Lester Smith, clerk of the peace of Albert county, prosecuted and James Friel, K. C., of Moncton, defended. Bail was refused and the accused remanded to jail.
