

"THE GREAT REDEEMER" VERY IMPRESSIVE

Masterly Film Production, Deeply Reverential and Uplifting, at Imperial.

Vibrant with deep emotional power and striking a religious note, a Metro super-photoplay, "The Great Redeemer," fascinated immense crowds of people at the Imperial yesterday. As a picture breathing spirituality and pointing to the higher things in life it is a masterpiece, to be classed with dramatic values of "The Miracle Man" and the sentimental scenes of "Madame X." The picture marked the return of that sterling actor House Peters to the Imperial's screen, though the small cast of principals was so well balanced that one could not equitably lavish praise upon one performer and withhold it from such remarkable roles as that of the sheriff, played by Jack M. McDonald; the Girl, played by Marjorie Raw, and the truly remarkable characterization of a condemned murderer as done by Joseph Singleton.

The picture would certainly have lost much of its fervor and point had it not been for the musical accompaniments of the Imperial orchestra and especially the strains employed in the scene where the murderer is converted by the picture of Christ crucified on the prison wall. The introduction of such hymns as "My Faith Looks Up to Thee" and "God Be With You, Till We Meet Again" were touches that supplemented the actors' art and the masterful direction of the French film-craftsman, Maurice Tourneur. Suffice to say "The Great Redeemer" is impressive to the last degree, and registered deeply with yesterday's watchers. Principal honors go to House Peters who is rugged, manly and appealing as Dan Malloy. This actor so much at home in western roles, imparts a new touch to his work as Dan Malloy. He gained and held the sympathy of the audience throughout his appearance on the screen. The story was written by H. H. Van Loan.

Especially notable is the scenic background of the picture. The exterior views show the most beautiful parts of the great west, while the interiors have been designed by a master hand. Doubtless more large crowds will enjoy this unquestioned masterpiece today. Tomorrow (Good Friday) Bessie Barriscale appears in a sweet child-life story.

Fox was at the organ and directed the choir from the keyboard. He gave a masterly performance as organist and the care and knowledge which had gone to the training of the singers was clearly evidenced in their finished singing. The oratorio at Stone church has come to be one of the most looked for of the Holy Week observances and, as a musical event, almost outvalues the Easter efforts. This year's oratorio went near to eclipsing past performances.

William McEachern of North End, who took the tenor part, made his first appearance in oratorio in St. John and the mellow and rich quality of his tone was a real delight. His solo, "Ye People Rend Your Hearts," from Elijah, was a notable achievement.

The balance of the chorus was excellent and the soloists each gave a brilliant performance. The soloists were Mrs. G. K. Bell, soprano; Mrs. W. S. Harrison, contralto; Arnold Key, the penitent thief; W. H. Holder, the high priest and the impenitent thief; E. E. Thomas, of Exmouth street church choir; bass; DeWitt Cairns, the Redeemer; and Mr. Bambray, tenor in the quartette "God So Loved the World."

The organ volunteers played by Mr. Fox were "Meditation on the first prelude of Bach," by Gounod; "Hymn Celebrate," by Pringle, and an improvisation. Mr. Fox's rendering of the organ solo "Darkness" in the oratorio was a wonder of musical production and filled the church with flowing melody.

After the oratorio the singers were regaled with a dainty supper served in the school room. Rev. Canon and Mrs. G. A. Kuhring were the host and hostess and they were assisted in serving by several of the members of the congregation of Stone church.
