AWAY ON THE FIRST TRIP OF NEW STEAMER

Local Citizens on the St. George to Digby — Hon. MacKenzie King and Hon. Mr. Fisher Also Passengers

There was much interest along the harbor front and about the city generally today in the first trip of the new C. P. R. steamer "St. George" across the bay to Digby, and several local residents took the trip upon her as well as many who came to the city on the Montreal train. The big, new steamer was the subject of admiring compliments. Citizens who inspected the vessel were particularly well pleased with her accommodations, furnishings, and general appearance.

The departure was scheduled for 12:30 o'clock, but it was a few minutes later, about 12:42 before she left her moorings and was soon lost to view outside the harbor. The fog which had hung heavily about the mouth of the harbor during the morning lifted just about the time she was leaving so that there was every promise of a most enjoyable excursion for those taking the trip. Captain Cardiff was in command, with Captain Potter on the bridge with him. Instead of the steamer remaining at Digby only fifty-five minutes, as the schedule stated, there was reason to believe that if she made the speed of which she is capable, the passengers would have at least twice that time there. She is due to arrive here on return at 8:30 o'clock.

For the first trip of the steamer the crowd aboard was very encouraging. Several local people went over on the boat, some as the guests of the company, and there were quite a number of passengers from outside points. Amongst those noted on board were P. Giffins, general manager of the D. A. R.; Alex. McGregor, marine superintendent; H. G. Crosby and Mrs. Crosby, Mayor Frink, Commissioners Schofield, Agar, McLellan and Wignore, Thos. R. Reynolds, Guy G. Watters, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Golding, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. McKenney, Thos. O'Leary, W. H. Dunham, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Coburn, Miss Campbell, Miss Grace Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Howard and child, William Birrell, Charles A. Stimpson, superintendent of schools of Fredericton, and Angus Urquhart, of Glasgow, Scotland, who has been visiting J. R. Miller at his home here for the last week. Also amongst the passengers were Hon. MacKenzie King, ex-minister of labor in the Laurier government, and Hon. Mr. Fisher, ex-minister of agriculture, who are on their way to visit Sir Frederick Borden, ex-minister of militia, at his home in Nova Scotia.

NO MEETING TODAY

There was no noon meeting of the commissioners today as they left at 12:30 o'clock on the invitation of the C. P. R. as guests on the steamer "St. George" on her first trip across the bay. They expected to be back in time this afternoon to deal with any matter which might be deemed urgent.

GET TIME FROM ST. JOHN

At a meeting of the Halifax Board of Control on Tuesday, E. Saunders, secretary of the Board of Trade, said that he had received a letter from Captain Gibson of the Sixth Division Headquarters stating that the military authorities wished to change the time of the Citadel gun from one o'clock to noon. Mr. Saunders said that he had interviewed manufacturers on the matter and they preferred the noon gun. The board consented to the change.

CANADIAN INTERESTS THREATENED

New York Newspaper Man, Here Today, Tells of Mexican Situation—Was Correspondent With Orozco's Rebels

The monopoly of the Pearson Canadian interests in Northern Mexico is threatened by the Huerta government, according to B. D. Wood, a New York newspaperman who arrived in St. John today. Mr. Wood was a correspondent with the Orozco rebels in Chihuahua and Sonora last year and is familiar with the situation in the turbulent republic south of the Rio Grande.

"Pearson's loss already amounts to more than three millions of dollars," Mr. Wood declared. "The Mexico North Western Railway, which he owns, has been destroyed no fewer than three times the ranches operated by the syndicate near Casas Grandes and Pearson's have been raided, the town of Madera, where the great shops and smelter of the syndicate are located, has been looted and the lumber mills a few miles outside the town have been burned to the ground. "Added to this the hostility of the Huerta government, explained by the Constitutionalists having granted a permit to Pearson to operate his railroad, is growing more bitter every day. The Pearson representatives in Chihuahua city, which is still loyal to the government, have been banished by Governor Orozco and trains run no further south from El Paso than Madera. Dr. Pearson has been forced out of his valuable oil and sugar bottom land concessions in San Luis Potosi state, obtained from Porfirio Diaz, and the concessions have been illegally awarded to the American trusts. The Standard Oil, which Lord Cowdray, the British oil king, successfully kept out of Mexico until the Madero regime, now operates a fleet of thirteen oil tank steamers from Tampico to Galveston and New York."

Mr. Wood was himself banished from Mexico by the late Governor Abe Gonzalez of Chihuahua just prior to the overthrow of the Madero government. Other correspondents he was expelled under the "pernicious foreigner" act, which provides for the expulsion of all who are suspected of intrigue against the government.

THE POINT OF VIEW

The Newspaper Man, Mr. Parker and the Blackbirds

A great deal depends upon point of view. For instance, to a "Times" man sitting on the veranda of Charlie Parker's farm house at Public Landing the other day, a great flock of black birds flying up a wooded ravine near the house and alighting on trees and the stubble ground were a source of delight. The newspaper man had not seen as many black birds for very many years. "Isn't that fine?" he said to Mr. Parker.

"Well, now, perhaps you think so," said Mr. Parker, "but hold on a minute."

Mr. Parker moved across a strip of ground to a place where several rows of green peas had just reached the stage of growth where they are ready for market. He came back bringing several pods with him. They had been deftly opened and the peas taken out.

"What do you think of that?" said Mr. Parker.

"Do you mean," said the "Times" man, "that the black birds did that?"

"That is what they did," said Mr. Parker. "That's why I don't want them around here."

At an early hour next morning the sound of a gun disturbed the slumbers of the scribe. Mr. Parker was making a noise to frighten the black birds away from his rows of peas. They had done considerable damage, and from his point of view they were not an unmixt blessing. Moreover the scribe himself has a weakness for green peas.

THE POLICE COURT

"I was out visiting friends near Red Head yesterday and thought I'd go in for a swim," explained Joseph McNulty who was arrested yesterday on charge of being drunk and also of indecency. He went on to say that he formerly lived out there and often had gone in for a swim in the same place before without being troubled.

W. H. Brown of the Norton Goffinths, he said that he had heard there was a man in swimming and going to the place had no difficulty in persuading McNulty to come out. The man was partly clothed. The magistrate reprimanded McNulty and after telling him he was liable to nine months in jail remanded him.

The prisoners arrested yesterday on drunkenness charge were remanded.

WANTED TO STAY BY SHIP

Crying "I want somebody to look after me," an old looking weather-beaten man was led down the gang plank of the St. George just as she was leaving on her first trip this morning. From what could be learned the man had served on the steamer on her trip from England and had also sailed to this port from Halifax but it was said he proved undesirable and was released at this port. He seemed loth to leave and caused considerable trouble to the ship's officers by his efforts to regain the vessel. Finally, however, he left muttering threats as to what he would do to the boat's crew in the future. He seemed to be in a great deal of trouble and excited much compassion among those present on the docks at the time.

PEAT ON P. E. ISLAND

The government expert who has been on P. E. Island examining the various peat deposits states that having carefully examined the peat bogs of Mermaid Lot 48, he is able to state that their extent approximates one hundred acres, with a depth of 15 feet to 22 feet, and that the peat contained in the area is of good quality for fuel.
