ROUP

HERE IS NOTHING that strikes terror to the hearts of parents more than to be awakened in the night by the ringing cough which accompanies an attack of croup. The child may retire with nothing but a slight cold and a few hours later the family be aroused by the ominous symptoms. Every home where there are small children should be prepared for these sudden attacks, as prompt treatment is necessary. Do not experiment with remedies of doubtful value, but get that has been in use for nearly forty years and never known to fail.

Attacks of croup are most likely to occur during the early winter months, and every family with young children should be prepared for it. Keep a bottle of CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY in your home. It only costs a quarter, large size 50 cents. Your druggist sells it.

CONSHOHOCKEN, Jan. 25 - The women of Conshohocken are to figure to a considerable extent in the cleanup along municipal lines advocated by progressive citizens and the removal of obnoxious posters, objectionable pic-fures, "irregular" advertising and kindred annoyances is one of the first measures proposed as a step toward the moral purification of the town, as ell as toward "the city beautiful." Recently the Civic Association contaered the question of inviting the co-

Their first demand, and one which enforcement of an ordinance eliminating obnoxious bill boards in the business and residential streets and the prohibiting of objectionable posters and signs in all parts of the town.

They further ask the prohibiting in store windows, public places, citer stress, pool rooms and drinking places of certain pictures which tend to corrupt the morals of the young men. In this they are making a strong appeal to Ccuncil for the strict enforcement of Dr. Stiles' circular-distributing ordinance, ignored since the physician's death. They act on the ground that much of the advertising literature sent out is of a nature that should not be permitted. Included is a medical firm's took, copies of which, a few days ago, littered the streets.

"It has been found," Dr. Kirk adds, "as a result of careful, chemical and scientific study, that the tuberculosis germ is among the invaders that gain frequent access to the body through the avenue of the empty tooth pulp chamber, giving rise to tuberculosis abscesses so commonly observed about the lymphatic glands of the neck, or tuberculosis of the bones of the jaws and those of their related regions."

The problem, as it is presented in Philadelphia, is serious enough in the opinion of Dr. Kirk to demand an immediate remedy. He suggests the creation of a large number of free dental clinics for the children, education of parents in the essential facts concerning mouth hygiene, systematic sund regular inspection of the mouths took, copies of which, a few days ago, littered the streets.

BAD TEETH ARE CAUSE OF CHILD DEFICIENCY

Dr. Kirk Blames 'Dental Disorders' for Backward Pupils

Tuberculosis Source—Advocates Systematic Inspection of Mouths of Young

Lack of care of the teeth and "dental disorders" are emphasized as chief causes for the increasingly large number of defective children in the city's schools, by Dr. Edward C. Kirk, dean of the dental school of the University of Pennsylvania, in an article written for Dr. Lightner Witmer's Psychological Clinic. Almost at the outset of his observations, Dr. Kirk makes this declaration:

declaration:

"The greater proportion of backward school children, those unable to keep up with the average work of the class, are found to be sufferers from some sort of dental disorders. arising mainly from the neglect of the simpliest and most obvious rules of mouth hygiene."

Good health and good teeth go hand in hand, Dr.Kirk insists, and efficiency in school work is dependent to a high degree on the healthy condition of the hody. He quotes statistics in which he shows that one-third of the 148,000 pupils in the public schools in Philadelphia, are over age for their grade, that 483 children have been thirty months or more in the same grade, while 9,486 pupils have been recorded as beginning for the third time on the same lesson.

From these figures Dr. Kirk concludes that "many children in' the city's schools are mentally incapable of pursuing their studies."

Are Your Children Properly Fed?

ET us talk about the right feeding of children.

You want your children of course, to grow up strong and healthy; you want to equip them for the battle of life with rugged constitutions and good red blood.

Now, the first step is to see that they are properly fed. And these words "properly fed" mean much in the diet of youngsters. For it isn't quantity that counts, but quality. Overfeeding is just as bad as underfeeding. And wrong feeding is worse. Persistent feeding of wrong food results in gases and acids, stomach troubles, impoverished blood. There is no better food under Heaven for growing children than plenty of first class bread and butter. They thrive on it, grow strong and fat and rugged. Their systems crave it because it is a complete, well-balanced food. But the bread must be good-the very best, and the best is made from ummer season.

Do you notice that it costs you any more to live than it used to?"
"Yes, there has been a marked increase."
"To what do you attribute the rise?"
"Well, principally to the births of my three children."

Titled Mother-in-Law Objects to Forma Telephone Operator-Living on Big Estate.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 25—Over in England they are raising hullabaloo among the titled set simply because a pretty girl from Manayunk—a former telephone girl—has captured the heart and hand of young Henry Jacob Delaval Astley, one of whose forefathers was the famous Baron Hastings, of the time of Richard III.

The young man's titled mother, Lady Florence Heathcote-Drummond Willoughby, is not at all pleased at the action of her son in marrying the former hello girl, more recently an actress, Indeed, it was while the young woman—May Kinder was her name when she helloed up Manayunk way—was tripping about in the 'Arcadians' in London that the son of Lady Florence Heathcote-Drummond Willoughby became fascinated with her unusual beauty and popped the question. They were married last December.

Although the young pair are now living on the estate of Astley's millionaire father, who is dead, in Bucks—ti is one of the fine estates of England—there come reports that all is not well in the household, and all because of the objections to the marriage on the part of Lady Florence Heathcote-Drummond Willoughby.

Miss Kinder's mother lives at the young woman's former home, 398 Rip-ka street, Manayunk. In October, 1993, while she was employed at the Manayunk telephone exchange, Miss Kinder disappeared mysteriously. About a year later she came back from California and annonuced that she had married Lesile Irving Coggins, a wealthy Californian.

It was not long after this that the young woman went on the stage and tock up musical comedy work. Then came the announcement of her marriage in England to young Astley. Her mother declined to talk about her daughter's second wedding, and would not say, when the announcement was made of the marriage, whether the daughter was widowed or divorced.
