The pall-bearers were: Jonathan Smith, Robert Sharpe, Thomas Connolly, Fred Leighton, William Anderson, James Graham. The deceased was in the sixty-fourth year of his age, and leaves a widow and a family of six sons and three daughters. Mr. Gibson was three times married, his first wife being Miss Lizzie Braddon of Oak Mountain, who died in 1882, leaving six children—John Gibson of this place, Wallace Gibson of Woodstock, Willie Gibson of Philadelphia, Mrs. Everett Colwell of Tapley's Mills, Mrs. Samuel A. BATH, N. B., Feb. 18.—The farmers continue to haul in hay and grain to the C. P. railway station here, which is shipped by the railway to McAdam, where the hay is re-pressed by the steam press at that point for shipment to South Africa. Very large quantities of hay have been handled at this point this season, and the very highest prices too have been paid to the farmers, thus circulating a large amount of money among the farmers. This has been a very prosperous year for the country. When our people have an opportunity for work and expansion they exhibit in no small way their intelligence and energy, proving that if our unlimited resources were opened up that we have the people capable of developing the same in more ways than farming.

AN EXPENSIVE LEGISLATOR.

Why Attorney General Pugsley Wants His Hand Strengthened by the Election of Mr. King.

Mr. Pugsley Began Very Modestly, But He Rapidly Became the Most Impressive Public Man the Province Has Yet Had.

Good for Reflection for the Fair Minded Electors of Kings Co.

At a meeting at Westfield Beach on Friday evening last Attorney General Pugsley appealed to the electors present to elect Mr. King and in this way to strengthen his (Pugsley's) hands. An examination of the public accounts of the province would lead one to the conclusion that Dr. Pugsley's hands did not need strengthening. The attorney general first became a member of the legislature in 1884, and during that year was apparently content with his sessional indemnity. This condition did not last long, however, and the subsequent years have been a growing time with the attorney general whether within or without the legislature. He was speaker from 1887 to 1889, in which year he became solicitor general and continued as such until near the close of 1892, when he retired from the government and the house. In 1893 he was appointed law clerk at a salary of $1,000 for the session, a position which allowed him time to carry on his legal business at the capital. This latter position he continued to occupy up to and including the session of 1898, when public sentiment was so strongly aroused against the continuance of the office that the government was obliged to abolish it and have not since appointed any one to the position. In 1899 the present attorney general again became a member of the assembly, and in order that he might resume a portfolio position legislation was passed providing for an extension of the office of attorney general for a term of five years, so that Hon. A. S. Pugsley might be comfortably provided for as a commissioner to consolidate the provincial statutes, and Mr. Pugsley has been the leading spirit in the government ever since. It will be seen by the following summary of Mr. Pugsley's total (Mr. Pugsley) draws from the province large sums as member, speaker, solicitor general, law clerk, attorney general and counsel, but also figures in the public accounts as a landlord, beginning in that capacity in 1895 as the owner of the premises in which some of the law courts are now held. In the latter roll the public accounts of the present year will no doubt show an increase, as the government office in the city has recently been transferred to Mr. Pugsley's old office at the corner of Church and Prince William streets. If Mr. Pugsley has done so well with the law, it is not only in the legislature what might not be expected should he have his hands strengthened by that gentleman's election.

The following summary of Mr. Pugsley's legislative career will prove of interest:
