KENT NORTHERN'S NEED OF SAW-DUST WHARF WAS GREAT DISCOVERY

Richard O'Leary Throws New Light On Richibucto Scandal—Pugsley's Wonderful Generosity To The Railway.

Mr. Richard O'Leary, of Richibucto, was in the city yesterday. Speaking with The Standard in reference to the recent exposures of government to the purchase of the new saw-dust wharf, he said that he wished to direct attention to one phase of the transaction which seemed to have been overlooked by the press. Although the Kent Northern Railway, he said, is not and never has been owned by the government, yet in the year 1908 the department expended $6,000 and in 1909 $5,000 in repairing the Municipal wharf which was being used exclusively by the Kent Northern Railway, a private company, composed of Thomas Murray, G. W. Robertson and a few others.

When Mr. Murray, who is superintendent and manager of the Kent Northern, purchased the sawdust wharf from him, exclusively by the public works suddenly discovered that the wharf was needed for the use of the Kent Northern and with that wonderful generosity which had always characterized the department's treatment of the railway, purchased the wharf from Mr. Murray, the manager of the road, paying him nearly seven times what it was worth.
