HEIRS UNITE TO SECURE FORTUNE WORTH MILLIONS

Baker Estate of Philadelphia to be Fought for by Organized Families.

SOME HEIRS ARE MARITIME RESIDENTS

Fortune Hunters Held An Organization Meeting in Toronto to Prepare Battle.

Toronto, Mar. 7.—About one hundred fortune hunters attending a meeting here on Saturday night to hear a report from Harry Baker, Detroit, special investigator of the executive board of the Baker heirs' organization, as to the prospects of the "Baker heirs" coming into their own. For forty years supposed heirs of Colonel Jacob or Colonel Henry Baker of Philadelphia, Pa., have waited to get possession of some millions said to have been tied in a real estate in Philadelphia, and at the meeting here on Saturday nothing definite was learned as to when the money would be forthcoming.

Records Far Back.

Harry Baker, the Detroit heir, informed the gathering here that six or seven blocks from the Philadelphia city hall was a vacant lot surrounded by a brick fence, and this, worth between two million dollars and three million dollars, the Baker estate. One thing that tended to show progress in the matter of getting the estate and making a distribution among the numerous heirs in the United States and Canada, Mr. Baker explained, was that the records went back to the revolutionary war.

W. Asselford, of Windsor, who introduced Special Investigator Baker, expressed himself as well satisfied with the progress made thus far, and advised that the work be continued. It was now well started, he said. Some of these heirs live in the Maritime Provinces.

"JUST SEND THEM TO SEE ME," SAYS BOURQUE

"If Anybody Wants To Know What I Think of Tanlac I'll Tell Them Pretty Quick," Says Moncton Man.

"If anybody wants to know what I think of Tanlac, just send them to see me and I'll tell them pretty quick why I think it's such a good medicine," said Edward B. Bourque, of 247 Latz street, Moncton, N.B., a well-known bricklayer and life long resident of the city.

"I had indigestion for years, but last spring it got lots worse. I got to a point where everything seemed like poison to me and I suffered agony after almost every meal. I got nervous and out of sorts generally, but worried especially over a pain in my side. I actually thought I had appendicitis. I had no energy and tired out so quick I couldn't do a full day's work."

CAPTAIN TELLS HOW THEY CHOSE UNKNOWN HERO

No Possibility That Body in Westminster Abbey Can Ever be Identified.

Ottawa, Mar. 7.—There is not the slightest possibility that the remains of the Empire's unknown soldier, now resting in Westminster Abbey will ever be identified. Captain the Reverend M. Mullineux, M. C., now at the Chateau made this very clear when he explained to newspaper men recently how the soldier was chosen from the hundreds of thousands of unknowns who gave life for the cause.

When precautions were taken in this direction and the consequence is that any mother or wife whose son or husband was numbered among the unknown dead on the battlefields of any of the fighting fronts may cherish the hope that the ashes of her hero rest beside those of England's honored dead to be a subject of reverence and respect for generations yet unborn.

Captain Mullineux is a member of the directorate of the Graves Registration and Enquiries Board, whose function it is to check the graves of soldiers. It was created by the War Department of the Imperial Government and has already done much valuable work. Captain Mullineux is also the agent of the Canadian and New Zealand Red Cross Society entrusted with the duty of assisting relatives of deceased soldiers to locate the bodies of their dead.

How They Were Chosen.

The selection of the unknown soldier whose body now rests in Westminster was made from a number of bodies of unknowns, one taken from each fighting front. These were at a central spot in France and confined. From the eight or nine bodies so chosen three were selected. An other selection committee then picked one from the three, and this was taken to Paris and finally formed the central figure of London's memorial to the unknown soldier.

Spilling of the work being done on the graves of soldiers in France and Flanders, Captain Mullineux said that there are some 1,500 cemeteries in which Empire dead are buried. There are no distinctive Canadian cemeteries, the men being buried in the cemetery nearest to the scene of death. Three cemeteries are complete with the graves in shape, the memorials erected and ready for inspection. Some 50 others are nearly completed.

Identify Graves.

The work of caring for the graves of the soldiers is done by the Imperial War Graves Commission and has been going on practically since the signing of the armistice. The process followed converts each grave from a mere heaped mound, identified by a peg bearing the serial number of the grave's occupant, to a finished, sodded, flower-growing plot each bearing its stone headstone. The cemeteries are walled or fenced which ever proves to be best in the case.

At one end of each cemetery is the stone of Remembrance bearing the inscription: "Their name liveth forever." and at the other the Cross of Sacrifice. All cemeteries are identical in general design.

Home Made Bread

Home made bread is without doubt the cheapest and most healthful food that can be produced for human consumption. It is the most completely digested solid food in the world, over 90% of it being transformed into health and strength. It yields nearly twice as much nourishment as rice or potatoes, and is ten times as nourishing as an equal value of meat. No bread is more truly wholesome or more perfectly satisfactory than that baked at home in which Royal Yeast Cakes are used.

Scientists have discovered a new and truly wonderful use for Royal Yeast Cakes. Physicians are prescribing it with remarkable success for conditions attributed to poor blood conditions. Soak a cake of Royal Yeast for half an hour in a cup of luke-warm water with one teaspoon sugar. Then stir well and strain once or twice through muslin and drink the liquid. BETTER results will be obtained by allowing it to soak over night and drinking half an hour before breakfast. Repeat as often as desired. Send name and address for free booklet entitled "Royal Yeast for Better Health."
