unpublished warnings will be made public in due time.

4. Warnings from the Federal Department of Environment: They say that Syncrude will emit 700% more SO₂ than the amount to which they could restrict themselves.

5. Public Policies established by the Department of Environment: "Best Practicable Technology" and "The Pollutor Must Pay". These have not been respected.

S.T.O.P.'s legal adviser, Alex Pringle, also informed newsmen that if more responsible SO₂ limits were not established for Syncrude, an appeal to the courts may be initiated.

"We have two options", he said. "First we can ask the courts to declare the Department of Environment has exceeded its bounds of discretion in issuing the Syncrude permit."

"If however, this proves inappropriate," he added, "our second option is to seek an injunction against Syncrude when operations begin."

So far the only response has been a request from the Department of the Environment for a meeting with S.T.O.P. later this week. It is not known whether Environment Minister Russell will attend.

manner in which the proposal seems to see the relationship between governing bodies in an institution seems headed toward divisionism and increased problems due to "differing perspectives and interests", and proposed buffers between governing bodies to eliminate differences.

There was little detail in the reply, the conference feeling a general theoretical statement would be more simply achieved in one conference.

Since the act is in the top priority list of the federation, subsequent reports and suggestions will likely be forthcoming as individual students' unions continue study and debate them at home.

More than an Engineer.

Our Military Engineers are very specialised people. They design and build bridges, airstrips, base facilities, supervise and maintain all kinds of equipment on our bases around the world.

It's a very special job. One that involves working with men. Guiding them. Training them. A job where you can apply your knowledge in all kinds of challenging situations.

If you're into engineering, we can get you into something more than just an office job. An Officer's job where you can develop your full potential.

Give it some thought. We can give you plenty of opportunities to use your specialised knowledge in some very unusual ways.

A MILITARY ENGINEERING briefing team will visit your campus on Monday, November 3, 1975 at 12:30 p.m. in Room 2-3 of the Mechanical Engineering Building.
