and the Montreal capitalists as to the advisability of having American capital in it.

Mr. deLorimier, as you may see by a note which he has written on the enclosed circular, knew Mr. Eldridge, the Vice-President of the National City Bank, who was a good friend of his. I am sure that as far as Canada is concerned, he could be of service to that new powerful corporation. He knew that you were closely connected with Mr. Percy A. Rockefeller and, seeing that you were coming to Ottawa, he asked me to ^{ask} ~~ask~~ you whether you could not say a good word in his favour to Mr. Rockefeller.

He tells me that Mr. Rockefeller is a good friend of Mr. Stone, who is to be President of the new corporation and then he thinks that a good word from you to Mr. Rockefeller and from Mr. Rockefeller to Mr. Stone would do a great deal to grant the application which he intends to make.

I am sure that the success in organizing the Canada Bond Corporation was largely if not entirely due to his efforts in that work. I think it a pity that those friends from Toronto thought, through a spirit of loyalty
