i, and caused n this point I if difficulties ted still more y was strugt was raised tanic hatred ich more see customs of y much from pose that the e delicacy so oublic assemer in the pres are there, hink that it is age sufficient r are not unspectators.* nk God that l his religion icrate men." ficulties, and ease worldly nst the finer hat the same is implanted the indelibjectionable ct with the nothing unlany things sistent with ividual subosed, calm.

, but noth-

h the minister ent might ocheir minds," devout frame of mind, he is beforehand fearing, and at the moment of being dipped, guarding against suffocation. Instead of such a mode of baptism being calculated to suggest and foster spiritual ideas, it is just fitted to drive them all away. How unlike the spirit of Christianity, which enjoins no burdensome, painful ceremonies, is this mode! How unlike the sister sacrament of the Lord's Supper, where all is eminently calculated to excite and to aid profitable and devout contemplation!

It is sometimes said by Baptists, and was much dwelt on by Rev. J. Inglis (late of this town,) in the Evangelical Pioneer, that the sclemnity of this mode of baptism, is one proof among others, of its being the right one. Whatever impressions of a solemn nature others may have received from spectacles of dipping, I can only say, they wear to me anything but a solemn appearance. Besides it is not uncommon for accidents to take place which render seriousness impossible, and give rise to confusion and mortification.*

Nor is it in some cases unattended with danger. Baptists have affirmed,

Baptists have affirmed,
""That affleted persons have been occasionally benefitted in their health by immersing them in cold water at baptism". This I will not deny, any more than I would the accounts I have read of men being cuted of rheumatism and gout by finding their honses on fire. Such results, however, are accidental, contrary to the natural course of things, and never anticipated by the parties themselves. Where caurse of things, and never anticipated knees but a minute on cold water, or plunging them under it—particularly; it knees but a minute on cold water, or plunging them under it—particularly it head vancefully learns, heated by excltement or a crowd of spectators; or if subject to chronic diseases, or having a tendency of blood to the head or the heart; is calculated to produce the most serious plays cal mischief. And, in this conclusion, we are fully borne out by the precautions/sometimes observely our experienced opponents. Hid beneath his black gown, the minister has been known to wear leathern boots reaching above his middle—the water in the baptistry has been privately warmed before the dipping has commenced his been known to wear leathern boots reaching above his middle—the water in the haplisity has been privately warmed before the dipping has commenced—the baptism of many invalids has been postponed, or months and years, and even to the end of their lives through the appre-k-ension of bodily mischief. Sarely, then, danger is sometimes anticipated, even by persons who loudly dilate on the safety and the pleasure of being baptized by immersion,"!

Nor are these dangers wholly imaginary; sicknesses, and · A case of this sort occurred 4 years ago in the village of -A Baptist minister was in the act of immersing a married female, when his foot slipped, and immediately they were both foundering in the water. The husband fearing that his wife would be literally "buried in baptism," and find a watery grave, was rushing to the rescue, when the minister recovered his footbold, raised the lady, and as thoroughly mortified as he was drenched, made his way to the bank. This was certainly a literal fulfilment of the words, "they went down both into the water." | Dip. not Bap.