WOODSTOCK LADY
RESTORED TO HEALTH

Mrs. D. J. McLeod, of Woodstock, has gone through a sad experience, as have hundreds and thousands of others, before finding the proper remedy for her trouble. When at last she discovered "Bu-Ju" and was cured of a distressing and long standing case of lame back, her good heart prompted her to write to the Clifton Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont., and tell them her experience so that others might be benefited by the same remedy that cured her.

Read what she says:

Woodstock, Ont., Oct. 18, 1903.

Clifton Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont.

Dear Sir:—I have used several boxes of the "Bu-Ju Kidney Pills, which I have been very much benefited by, and I am still using them. I have suffered very much with a lame back, but they have helped me very much.

Yours very truly,

MRS. D. J. McLEOD,

62 Winnett St.

Bu-Ju Kidney Pills are for sale by all druggists, and will benefit you if you are suffering from any form of kidney trouble, or any disease or malady that arises from disordered kidneys.

Under Consideration.

London, April 26—(C. A. P.)—Answering a correspondent Lord Stanley, the Postmaster-General, says the question of introducing the C. O. D. system between Great Britain and the Colonies is at present under consideration.

"Ouida's" Privacy Invaded.

Zucca, Sicily, April 24.—The courts here have convicted two sons of the Belgian Consul of trespass against the English writer, "Ouida" (Mile. de la Ramée).

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

As mercury will destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c. per bottle.

The Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Newfoundland Needs Money.

London, April 26—(C. A. P.)—The Daily Mail's financial correspondent learns there is a possibility of Newfoundland shortly being in the market for another loan. The reason is not stated, but it is thought it may have some connection with the recent adverse telegraph award.

To put the brake on the wagon going down the hill is a help to the horse, when the wagon is heavily loaded. But what driver would think of applying the brake to a loaded wagon going up hill? If he did, his sensible horses would probably balk. Many a man is in the condition of pulling a load up hill with the brake set against him. When his stomach is out of order, and the allied organs of digestion and nutrition are impaired in their functions, a friction is set up which has to be overcome in addition to the performance of daily duties. A foul stomach makes a foggy brain, and the man with a disordered stomach has often to grope his way through the day's business like a man in a fog. He forgets appointments. Problems seem presented to his mind which he cannot solve. This condition is entirely remedied by the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the stomach and digestive and nutritive system into a condition of perfect health, and gives a clear brain, a steady hand and a light step for the day's duties. When constipation clogs the channels of the body, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will work an effectual cure of that disastrous disease.

To look at the bright side of life robs the shadow of its sombre outlines.

Lever's Y-Z (White) Disinfectant Soap Powder is a boon to any home. It disinfects and cleans at the same time.

Men like to believe their word has a convincing effect in a family argument.

COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF IN THE HOLY LAND.

Makes a Stirring Appeal from Jerusalem to All Who May Read His Words to "Turn to the Men, Women and Children Around You Who Need Your Help" and Give It—The World's Salvation.

General William Booth: I am in Jerusalem, at the heart of the scenes forever hallowed by my Lord and Master's life, sufferings, and death. I have visited Bethlehem, and in imagination I have listened to the anthem with which the angels heralded the Saviour's coming to our world; I have trodden the streets of the city once walked by his sacred feet; I have stood on the brow of Mount Olivet and gazed with the deepest sympathy upon the pining tears he wept over those who were about to shed his blood; and I have looked on the other places made memorable by their connection with the tragic incidents of his earthly career.

They have shown me the pool of Siloam and the village of Bethany; while Nazareth, Jicho, and the River Jordan lay in the distance. They have shown me the reputed sites of the Temple, of the place of the Master's betrayal, of the palace of Herod, and of the Judgment Hall where Pilate condemned him to die. And as I looked back into that hall I saw again the crown of thorns, the mocking robe, the mimic scepter, the cruel scourging, while down through the ages I seemed to hear again the cries of the mob, "Crucify him!"

In Gethsemane's Garden.

With indescribable feelings I have knelt in the garden of Gethsemane, as I knelt the hill called Calvary, and worshipped with solemn awe on the ground where stood the cross of shame on which my Lord purchased, by his broken heart, abundant sovereign grace for the redemption of the whole human family.

I have looked into the empty sepulcher, where, cold in the arms of death, my Saviour lay, and have remembered the beheld the mound from which he ascended to the father, triumphant over sin, and death, and hell, to plead the cause of the world he had so gloriously redeemed.

As my eyes have rested upon these sacred scenes, again the old question has suggested itself, Why all this suffering? Why did he live? And for what end? And then I have remembered the answer which came from his own blessed lips: "The Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost."

Salvation for the World.

There was his commission received from the Father; and as the Father commissioned him, so he commissioned his disciples; and if we are his disciples, our task is the same—namely, the salvation of the lost. About the length and breadth of the commission there can be no mistake. Beyond question it comprehended them, and comprehends to-day, the conditional remission of every man from every sin, irrespective of nationality, of character, or circumstance. Whoever cometh to him he will in no wise cast out. By the grace of God he tested deeply, and every man, he was, and is, the one Saviour of the whole world.

But standing here to-day may I not make a special claim on behalf of the more helpless and hopeless section of the people? Could their condition be much more unlike that kingdom which he came to establish, or more closely resemble what we know of the kingdom of hell?

Senseless, Inhuman Wars.

Look at the cruel, selfish, senseless, inhuman wars in which the poor are ever the main sufferers. Look at the starvation in which millions slowly pine, waste away, and die, and the length and breadth of the misery by the grave!

Look at the countless army of drunkards held by the chains of their demoralizing appetites! Think of their desolate wives and children, their desolate homes, and of their march to death and hell!

Look at the hideous slavery of impurity haunting itself in the centres of civilization and Christianity, and at the debasing results that follow in its train!

Look at the melancholy criminals shut behind prison bars, for whose redemption this world is the scene of a little intelligent effort is made! Look at the gay, frivolous crowds found everywhere, who in the patriotic pursuits waste the sacred opportunities given them to bless their fellows and prepare to meet their God.

Look at the dark, heathen world, numbering more than half of the earth's population, utterly ignorant of the way of Jesus, and often abandoned to conditions of misery and vice, terrible to contemplate.

Comrades, friends, belonging to every section of the Christian faith, look at the waste howling wilderness only faintly pictured here. Look at it! O, look with the spirit of the great Christ, the spirit in which he looks at it to-day, and say, will you not do something adequate for these sufferers?

Labors for the Cross.

I am not oblivious to the Christianizing efforts already made by the disciples of the cross. I am not unmindful of the noble temples which have been erected, of the intellectual systems which have been formulated, of the impressive ceremonies which have been originated, of the powerful organizations which have been created in His name; neither do I overlook the fight being made in every corner of the globe for the betterment of the people in whose interest I plead. I thank God for all this loving toil, but the time has more than come to go further out and deeper down than ever before into the ocean of moral depravity and woe, into this veritable hell upon earth, too seek out and save its denizens of darkness.

The followers of Jesus Christ to-day are sufficiently powerful to grasp actively with this underworld of agony and at the risk of being thought guilty of presumption standing here on this sacred mount, I feel I must send forth a call to them to come with their wealth, learning, ability, and influence, and let us make a united fight to save the people.

Let us make a great fight to save

Appeals to the World.

Comrades, friends, and strangers, do not pass these poor words by because my name has no place high in the roll of church dignitaries, or because it is unrecognized by any popular school of philosophy, or is not indorsed with the authority of any powerful Government. If the call is in harmony with the mission of Jesus Christ, with the noblest instincts of your own nature, with the urging of the holy spirit, or with the needs of the suffering, listen to it, and in some way try to give it effect.

Turn to the men, women, and children around you who need your help; go to work at once, and if no other means of rescue be at hand, avail yourself of the services of my own dear people. But do something. O, do something! By the hell on earth these poor creatures suffer to-day, by the destruction on the verge of which they hover; by the abundant mercy provided for them; by the deliverance we have provided for them; by the agony of the cross under the shadow of which I make this appeal, I plead for a united, desperate, persistent effort to save the lost.

A REMARKABLE STORY

WOMEN TELLS OF HER FOURTEEN YEARS OF SUFFERING.

From Buffalo, N.Y., a remarkable story illustrating how much suffering a woman can bear and yet live.

Mrs. H. J. Rehner, 185 Madison St., that city, says:

"Soon after the birth of my first child, 14 years ago, constipation became troublesome, and the various pills and medicines I used were of no avail. At times I would have no relief from it, and when I did get it would distress my stomach. Gas would form and rise, headache and restlessness, bearing-down pain, backache, and gradually I began to realize the loss of strength, I felt tired, and never feeling fully rested."

"My husband brought me home a bottle of a new medicine called Anti-Pill and from the first I began to improve. My appetite was better, and what I ate did not make me feel uncomfortable. Anti-Pill is mild and gentle in its action, and yet it cured my terribly obstinate constipation and made me feel so well."

Every Druggist sells this wonderful Anti-Pill that cured Mrs. Rehner.

The New Allay Invar.

The new alloy called Invar, consisting of steel mixed with about 36 per cent of nickel, which is practically invariable in volume with ordinary changes of temperature, has recently been adopted by Swiss watchmakers for making balances in the majority of their best timepieces. The compound is superior to any hitherto known. For many years watchmakers have struggled with an outstanding trouble in the best compensated chronometers, known as "Dent's error," due principally to the nonlinear variation of the elasticity of the steel of the hairspring. By the use of Invar Dent's error may be practically eliminated.

A SIMPLE CURE FOR PILES.

Pile sufferers know that Ointments and other local treatments sometimes relieve but never cure. They don't remove the cause.

There is a little tablet that is taken internally that removes the cause of Piles and cures any case of any kind no matter how long standing.

A month's treatment costs $1.00, for Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid (a thousand dollar guarantee goes with every treatment).

Hem-Roid is the discovery of Dr. Leonard, of Lincoln, Neb., one of the most distinguished and successful physicians in the Western States.

All Druggists, or The Will-Fly Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

Money may be the root of all evil, but it seems to be one of the necessary evils.

Coughs, colds, hoarseness, and other throat ailments are quickly relieved by Leonard's Tablets, one cent per box. All Druggists.

The man who can lose his money and still keep his friends is a wonder.

GAMBLING SYSTEMS.

WHY THEY WILL NEVER BREAK THE BANK AT MONTE CARLO.

The Percentage is Always Against the Player, and the Maximum Limit Raises the Only Safe Scheme, That of Progressive Betting.

Truly "Huge springs eternal in the human breast!" How many inventors have gone to Monte Carlo with infallible systems it is impossible to say, but probably they are to be numbered by millions, and not one of them has returned the victor. It is the ambition of every visitor to the fascinating tables of Monte Carlo to "break the bank." Any player with an extraordinary run of good luck and the nerve to press it is liable to "break the bank," as the expression is commonly understood, but no one will ever "break the bank" at Monte Carlo in the true sense of the phrase.

At the famous gaming rooms there is not one, but many tables at which players may stake. Each table starts play for the day with a capital of 100,000 francs, and when that sum is exhausted the bank at that particular table is broken, and play is suspended until a fresh bank of 100,000 francs is brought by the attendants—a matter of a minute or two.

But to break the bank in the true sense would be to exhaust the entire capital of the casino, and that will never happen, for three simple reasons.

The first is that the bank lays unfair odds to the player. This I will illustrate as simply as possible.

At roulette, the most popular form of gambling, there are thirty-seven numbers—from 1 to 36 inclusive and 0, or 00. It is plain that the fair odds against a player correctly picking one of these thirty-seven numbers are 36 to 1. But the bank only lays 35 to 1.

Hence the bank has always, roughly speaking, a 3 per cent advantage over the player. To make it another way, if a player backs the same number thirty-seven times the odds, according to the fair odds, to come out exactly square, but at Monte Carlo he cannot do so. He must lose a point.

This advantage of the bank applies to all the other chances besides the numbers on which the player may stake.

Take, for example, the so called "even" chance of red or black. Of the thirty-seven numbers eighteen are red, eighteen black, the thirty-seventh, zero, having nominally no color.

It is obvious that if a player backs red there are nineteen chances (eighteen blacks and zero) against his being correct. The fair odds are nineteen to eighteen against him, but the bank only lays even money.

The advantage to the bank does not end here, for when zero turns up the bank takes all stakes except those on zero and the even-money chances. The latter are put aside—"en prise" is the technical term.

If on the next turn of the wheel the player on these even chances wins his stake is released, and he may pick it up, but he wins nothing.

To win he must stake again, and thus when zero turns up it is at least two to one against a player on an "even money" chance.

The second reason why the bank must always win in the long run is the existence of the "maximum."

The maximum (6,000 francs, or £240) is the highest amount a player can win on any one chance. If a player with unlimited resources could go on playing "double or quits" with the casino indefinitely he would eventually break the bank in the full sense of the term. But you cannot play "double or quits" with M. Bac for long.

Starting with the minimum stake allowed—viz. 5 francs—and doubling your stakes each time, your eleventh stake, supposing you to win or lose consecutively, would be over 5,000 francs, and you could double no longer.

In other words, you would have come to a point at which you could not on one turn of the wheel either double your winnings or recoup all your losses.

All systems are designed to nullify the effects of zero and the maximum. If one could be certain that zero would turn up, as it ought to turn up, once in every thirty-seven turns, it could be provided against, and the casino, even with the help of the maximum, would be a dead weight.

But no such certainty is possible, and therefore every system splits on this rock. And so with the maximum.

Perhaps the most fatal systems of all are those based upon the theory that if red has come up a certain number of times running black will follow. To illustrate the folly of this theory, take the following example: If you toss a penny in the air 1,000 times and it comes heads 999 times it is of course only even money on its being tails the next time.

The third reason, if, indeed, another be needed, why the bank must always win is that the human and fallible player is always playing against an infallible machine.

The slightest mistake in calculation, the least inattention, and the system breaks down. And to err is human.

So Monte Carlo flourishes and always will flourish so long as the law allows it to exist.

Dottie's Prayer.

"Please, God, make Mamie Ross a good girl. Please make her a awful good little girl. And if it ain't too much trouble please make her so good that I can take her new doll, an' she'll think it's noble an' self-sacrificin' never to ask for it back again. Amen!"

The liar generally passes his time boasting of his hatred of liars, thinking thereby to cover his own defects—Larator.

CAN'T SAY ENOUGH IN THEIR FAVOR

Why Miss Gustie V. Campbell Recommends Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to all her Friends who have Stomach Troubles.

"I cannot say enough in favor of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets," so says Miss Gustie V. Campbell, Little Shippegan, Gloucester Co., N. B. Of course Miss Campbell has reasons for making a statement like this and here they are.

"I suffered from Dyspepsia for two months and was always getting worse till advertisements led me to use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One box cured me and I can honestly recommend them to anyone suffering from Dyspepsia."

The moral of this is that if you take your stomach trouble before it gets too firm a grip it is easily cured by Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. One box cured Miss Campbell.

But as in Miss Campbell's case, stomach trouble is neglected always grows worse. In its worst stages it takes time to cure it. But Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets will do it.

Two young Texas men were talking over the many strange things they had seen and heard in New England.

"That man I was talking with yesterday," said one of them, "he told me that when two fellers in his section have a dispute about land or anything they just go to law and sue each other for damages or get an affidavit or something of the kind."

"That's all well enough for the one that wins," said the other man, "but how about the feller that loses? Does he go out and buy a gun and get even or what-ah?"
