Too Man

It is said that our fachionable Saratoga Beau Brummell had fifty suits of apparel, and neckties innumerable. He managed to get through, or rather into, all these cos-tumes at least once during the past season. If that man had deal: at Robert Wallace's clothing establishment such a variety would not have been necessary. One of his nobby Scotch tweed suits will last a long time, and always looks nice and fresh. He leads the trade in stylish outfits, and keeps the largest stock of fine suitings in the city.

day evening last, the teachers of St. James' Church Sunday School, Scaforth, met in 'the vestry of the church to do honor to one of their number who was about leaving town, and to exhibit in a practical and useful way the esteem in which they held their departing fellow-teacher. After some routine business the meeting was called to order by the President, when the pastor of the church, Rev. P. J. Shea, came forward and de-livered a most beautiful and touching address, expressive of the good-will and friendship entertained towards the retiring Secretary-Treasurer of St. James' Sunday School, Mr. P. M. Hayden. He then presented Mr. Hayden with a handsome and costly gold-headed cane, on which was tastefully engraved his name, by whom given, and the year in which the presentation took place. The recipient responded in feeling terms. Mr. Hayden leaves Seaforth to accept a position with T. Gleeson, Esq., of Sarnia. In the meantime, evictions are being multiplied by the hundred, like the snow-flakes to which Mr. Gladstone facetiously compared them. Resistance to such ex-ecutions is becoming more intense every day. There was near being a collision with the Sheriff's posse, at New Pallas, on Thursday; and on the previous day, at Killarney, a collision did take place be-been to Marine and the words, in tween the Marines and the people, in which several of the latter were wounded. As for the land Bill, which last night passed its second reading, no one expects any good from it. At the Land League ing at Ballyroan, on Sunday last, Mr M. Brennan denounced it as a sham, and said that a year hence any reformer who proposed to compensate landlords would be laughed off the platform. He charact erized the bill as a miserable measure, and advocated a general strike against all rent. He said the people should make it imposs-ible for landlords to collect rents.

Many gentle-men of the congregation have already contributed prizes, and we are pleased to mention that gentlemen outside of the congregation have contributed the Hon. M. Cameron, who has very kindly donated a prize worth $30. In fact many of our separated brethren are tal deep interest in the bazaar. pleasing, and assuredly the good Catholic ladies of Goderich will neither forget Mr Cameron's generosity, nor the extreme kindness of their separated brethen. When the bazaar is over, I hope to be able o write to tell you what a handsome M. A. um we realized.

ENGLAND AND THE HOLY SEE.

The Osservatore Romano published of Friday evening an ably-written leader on the subject of the re-establishment of diplomatic relations between the English Government and the Holy See. It com-mences by remarking that while the Governments of some of the Catholic nations have combated the Church and looked upon her as an enemy, the English Government, respecting the liberty of con-science of its subjects, had opposed no ob-stacles against the spread of Catholicity in the United Kingdom, so that now-a-days not a few of the Catholic peoples were co-strained to envy the liberty which Catholics enjoy in Protestant England. This conduct of the English Government, it argues, had permitted the Catholic Church to make its beneficent influence felt towards re-establishing the desired concord between England and Ireland. Neither the Church nor the Holv See could remain indifferent to the profound sufferings of the Irish people. In Eng-land the most competent publicists had recognized that great reforms were necessary in the agrarian legislation, and, says ne Osservatore: We feel confident the English Government will carry those reforms into effect. In the meantime the Holy See has employed its effort to keep alive in minds of the Irish people, so devoted to the Church, those principles of order and respect for authority without which nothng would have remained but the proba-bility of a ferocious struggle between two peoples who were made to understand and love each other. We will not dwell on those momentary and partial differences which may actually exist among the Cath-

Goderich established a high reputation for themselves by the zeal with which they responded to the calls of their pas-tors to assist them in their financial diffi-M. B. A. members or others interested in and ability, and determined to leave no just grounds for complaint either from C. M. B. A. members or others interested in the welfare of our association. Any un-biassed person reading the letters and addresses of our Supreme president, Mr. Keena, must be convinced we have at our head a man of rare ability and keen per. ception. Our Grand President, too, Mr-Bourke of Windsor, has been a member of the association almost since the day it was organized, and certainly no man in our ranks to-day, has interested himself our ranks to-day, has interested minsen more in C. M. B. A. matters than he. Mr. Bourke introduced the society into Michi-gan, and he may justly be called the father of the C. M. B. A. in Canada. He has, so far, been the only representative from Can-ada to Supreme Conventions, and has on every occasion worked faithfully for what he considered the interests of those he rep-resented. Being a careful reasoner, he has no small weight among his fellow members in Council. It must not be forgotten that representatives from Grand Councils frequently find it impracticable to carry in Su-preme Council resolutions of Grand Councils, as at supreme conventions arguments are adduced that may not at all have been used at GrandCouncil conventions, this was the case at the late supreme convention respecting the "graded scale". I can as-sure the members under my jurisdiction that the C. M. B. A. was never in as good that the C. M. B. A. was never in as good condition as it is at present. All officers having the handling of the association funds are under heavy bonds, the business is conducted as economically as possible, and as exact and particular as any Life Insurance Company. I would again call the attention of those I would again call the attention of those not yet in our ranks to the great benifts to be derived from being a C. M. B. A. member. I will merely lay before them this fact: By the small outlay of about six dollars (the expense in becoming a C. M. B. A. member) you can make an immediate provision of $2000,00 for your basis! How or where can you procure heirs! How, or where, can you procure so great a benefit by so small an outlay? No one will deny that it is the duty of a father to make some provision for his family, and to keep those depending upon him guarded against want and misery hereafter. How can this be done easier than by becoming a C. M. B. A. member? What peace of mind it must give the dying husband and father to know that he is leaving his wife and children in comfortable circumstances, and to know that they will always have true friends and good advisers in his brother C. M. B. A. members. But, apart from the foregoing, our association helps to elevate the character of man-to imelevate the character of man-to im-bue him with proper conceptions of his responsibilities for good-to enlighten his mind and to enlarge the sphere of his affections. It should therefore commend
