A Bit of a Miser.

Nearly was a rich man, but he was a terrible miser. He pinched himself to save a few miserable pennies and dressed in the oldest clothes he had to save wearing his best clothes.

Good For You. You can't have a clear brain, active muscles and firm nerves, if your bowels are sluggish; but see what a help to you will be a few doses of BEECHAM'S PILLS.

Hot Time in New York.

Electricity last evening slightly ripped the blanket of oppressive heat, which weighed upon the city for nine days; and a 30-minute shower with a southerly breeze appeared to be but a temporary balm to the heat-depressed millions.

Sir F. Borden Dumb.

Sir Frederick Borden, Minister of Militia, has returned to the Capital, but he declines to discuss the probability of succeeding Lord Strathcona as High Commissioner.

Deaths From Heat.

Seven more deaths from heat since July 1st. A total of 57 deaths from heat since July 1st.

Too Hot to Work.

The heat was so intense yesterday that the Stock Exchange was closed after the forenoon session.

IRISH BOYS WIN OUT.

The B. I. S. boys defeated St. Bon's team last evening by 2 goals to 1. They had the western goal at the start and were only about five minutes playing when Kavanagh, on a pass from Evans, secured No. 1 for his team. As soon as the ball was set going again, R. Callahan took control and made a promising attempt to score. The ball passed close over the bar. Doyle was given a corner on taking the ball eastward, but nothing came of it for the B. I. S. owing to the vigilance of Byrne in St. Bon's goal. Stapleton checked a rush made by St. Bon's and the play continued for a few minutes in mid-field. Templeman of St. Bon's made a good run but did not score. Kavanagh then rushed the ball east but sent it too high to go under the posts. A free kick was granted the B. I. S. owing to a foul throw. Stapleton tried to "do business" but did not succeed. The ball landed on top of the net. St. Bon's put on a spurt and did five minutes' lively playing. Templeman and Meehan made a few spirited attempts to score but did not succeed. The half time expired with the score standing—B.I.S. 1 goal; St. Bon's, 0.

SECOND HALF.

After refreshments had been taken the game was resumed with renewed vim on each side. The B. I. S. worked the ball westward and did some fine work. They failed, however, to find the net. Finally Meehan, of St. Bon's, got the leather, took it down field and sent in a daisy to Clinton, but he failed to take the full advantage of the chance and no scoring resulted. Kavanagh again got busy and after a pretty bit of playing sent in No. 2 for the B. I. S. Both sides hustled from now on to the end. St. Bon's played a brilliant game that deserved better fortune. R. Callahan played particularly well and made several admirable attempts to score. He was finally successful in securing a goal, the only one to the credit of his team for the evening. Shortly after the whistle sounded for full time with the above result—B.I.S. 2 goals; St. Bon's, 1. St. Bon's—Byrne, goal; Collins, Rawlins, backs; Power, Shortall, Cleary, halves; R. Callahan, Meehan, Walsh, W. Callahan, Templeman, forwards. B. I. S.—Clinton, goal; Cantwell, Stapleton, backs; Vinnicombe, Bennett, Duggan, halves; Doyle, Peddrew, Murphy, Evans, Kavanagh, forwards.

Boy's Narrow Escape.

Sunday last a little boy named Grant, son of Dr. Grant, of Channel, had a narrow escape from being either killed or drowned at Port aux Basques. The boy was on the wharf as the Gloucester hauled out to allow the Invermore to berth when he suddenly tripped and went over the pier, towards which the Invermore was steaming. But that a steward of the Gloucester, who was on the wharf, secured a line and getting down on the shore put a noose around the lad's body, he would have been crushed by the ship or drowned. He was drawn upon the wharf, chilled from his immersion and badly scared.

Sad Drowning Accident

Mr. Jno. Murphy, of R. G. Rendell's office, yesterday had a letter from his cousin, Mr. Frank Murphy, referring to the drowning of two young men (brothers) of Ram's Island, named Martin and Greg. The men were drowned on Friday while out gunning at Perch Rock, and it is thought were trying to land when their boat upset in the surf and caused the drowning. Both were married to daughters of Mr. Edward Houlihan, of Travlers Cove, and were fine types of the Newfoundland fisherman.

Straits Fishery.

The s.s. Home arrived at Bay of Islands at 12.30 p.m. yesterday from Battle Harbor and Straits ports. The message received by the Reid Nfld. Co. from Capt. Keen is as follows: "Arrived at Battle Hr. Saturday 10 a.m. having made all ports of call. Splendid weather the whole trip. The fishermen have done nothing on Labrador side from Chateau westward. Settlers doing well at Chateau, Hensley Hr., Chimney Tickle, Camp field, and Cape Charles, averaging from 20 to 40 qts. a day. On the Nfld. side of the Straits fish very scarce with traps but trawlers doing a little when they get bait."

Another Banker Here.

The banker Olive, Capt. Hannaford, of Buria, arrived here yesterday with 150 qts. fish after a week's fishing on the Grand Banks. The vessel reports fish plentiful on the Banks and she came here for a caplin supply. The vessel lost one of her dories on the Banks, the painter having chafed and the boat slipped from her stern. Dories are scarce in the market and the captain cannot secure one here.

Will Lay Corner Stone

Before His Excellency Sir Ralph Williams left for England he was asked to lay the corner stone of the new school at New Perlican, but he being unable to do so the committee in charge extended an invitation to His Excellency the Administrator, Sir Wm. Used a Railroad Ticket Bought 31 Years Ago.

Pittsburg, Penn., July 5.—Thirty one years ago, Miss Cora Clemens Buchanan, then 3 years old, was given a Pennsylvania railroad ticket by her father at her home in Homer, Brook, near Philadelphia. "I'll keep this and when I get big I will ride to Pittsburg on it," was the childish remark. To-day she used the ticket to travel from Philadelphia to Pittsburg to visit her cousin, Miss Martha C. Dampman. The Pennsylvania Railroad will frame the ticket and place it in the railroad museum here.

A Strange Piece of Japanese Thought

Man Who Killed Brother Suffering From Cancer, at Laffer's Request is Sentenced to Two Years Imprisonment.

Tokio, July 4.—Killing his brother because he loved him well is the act of a police case concluded here when a curious light on Japanese habits of thoughts, Mutsu Kato, the murderer-by-request, has been practically freed by the district judge, and the Tokio press is unanimous in praise of his verdict.

Mutsu Kato and his brother Satoru with an affection rare even among the Japanese. When Sura became stricken with cancer of the stomach, he asked his brother to kill him, pleading that to be despatched thus by a loving hand would be the greatest pleasure he could enjoy. For days Mutsu refused the strange request, but finally consented, and after a branding paring, slew his brother with a sword. Immediately afterwards the slayer reported the whole matter to the police.

When brought to trial the executioner, through love, wept bitterly. He was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, but the execution of the sentence was postponed by the judge for three years, this being tantamount to a cancellation of the punishment. The trial was a record, no manslaughter case under similar circumstances ever having been tried in Japan.

What is Chateaugay?

Well, after all the laughing Brother Jonathan, not on John's. The reason why John has so loudly carried the memory of the battle of Chateaugay, and the why we have conveniently forgotten it is that the battle is one of Bull's glories, and hence carry his historians, whereas, it is the thing of disgrace to us, we discuss it in a paragraph in the list of our toris.

We will call it "the battle of Bull's Farm," and dismiss it, as stated, in a paragraph. In fact, hurriedly cover it up, as we do of the land battles of the war of Theodore Roosevelt, Henry Lodge, and the rest of our history searching for any bit of glory. 1812 was fought entirely on water; and so it was, as far as anything that does us credit is concerned; but the British very properly from their standpoint—fortune happened on the water and we grate their attention and our outward events as Chrysler's Farm pardon, Chateaugay.

New York Times Remembers Facts About 1812 Which Are Made Prominent in United Accounts of That Struggle.

While the Empire festivities been going on in honor of King George V, there has been one lone, hoarse roar of laughter on the side of the Atlantic over the solemn cur British cousin. For why? cause in pursuit of that solemn theirs, they have decided to omit the Empire festivities, the celebration of the battle of Chateaugay? What is Chateaugay? And why should the omitted from the Empire celebration? Because its celebration may the sensibilities of Americans.

After this thing had perched across the Atlantic and it had known in England that not one man in a million had heard of the battle of Chateaugay and that the miserable remnant not feel offended if the thing, back on the list of the Empire festivities, it was so restored, if the meaning of the mystery had across the Atlantic.

What is Chateaugay? well, Americans. Why should John be afraid to hurt our feelings by mentioning it? And Brother John rubbed his battle-scarred legs, slightly searching for any bit of glory. mosquito bite that was made in teanuary.
