VANCOUVER, August 10.
That the Unionist Party of Great Britain and Ireland have made up their mind to accept a true public opinion of the people of Canada on the subject of Home Rule for Ireland was the statement made by Hon. Stuart Morley, M.P. for Sheffield, one of the most prominent Conservatives in the British Parliament, before he left Vancouver for Australia. In making the statement he made it on the condition that it would not be mentioned until the steamer Makura was well out to sea. We Unionists believe, he said, that the form of Home Rule for Ireland as proposed by Asquith and Redmond is the sort that will lead not only to civil war, but to the dismemberment of the Empire because it gives the Nationalists of Ireland a chance to become independent. Hon. Walter Long and Capt. Morley have such information that we have decided to send messengers to each Province of Canada to test a public opinion, and we hope to secure such a verdict as will enable us to go back to Westminster and say that the resolutions passed years ago by your parliament do not now represent the true opinion of the people of the Dominion.

LONDON, August 10.
The Times correspondent says that the treaty of peace concluded at Bucharest completely ignores the essential features of the distribution of the various Balkan races in Macedonia and consequently is devoid of all elements of permanency. Bulgaria, surrounded by five enemies, is reduced to desperation, the correspondent says, and is compelled to assent to their demands, but these arrangements cannot be regarded as final. A revision of the treaty is obviously necessary in the interest not only of justice, but of Balkan tranquility and European peace.

LONDON, August 10.
All newspapers display the utmost interest in the question between the United States and Mexico. Grave fear is expressed of an armed conflict. Universal comment is made on the probability of President Wilson's pacific administration, with Bryan, world's peace advocate, at the head of the Cabinet, will be forced into war. The general view is that Wilson's administration will force Mexico to accept Lind, which will cause an anti-American outbreak in Mexico, with the result that the American people will be hounded beyond control, and compel war in spite of Wilson's principles.

LONDON, August 10.
A group of militant suffragettes armed with horsewhips, to-day assaulted Dr. Pearson, medical officer of Holloway jail, as he was entering the prison gates. The attack was made as a protest against the treatment in jail of Miss Richardson, while undergoing sentence on three months' imprisonment for breaking windows. Miss Richardson, alleged that the doctor had threatened to deal with militants in such a way as would make them physical and mental wrecks, after which they would be confined in a lunatic asylum.

LIVERPOOL, August 10.
Two hundred fitters and fitters on the Cunard liner Lusitania, went on strike at Liverpool, yesterday, over a dispute with the boiler-makers. Forty engineers on the Mauritania also went on strike. Officials of the Cunard line say this trouble will not interfere with the sailing of the two vessels.

WASHINGTON, August 10.
President Wilson will meet the entire Senate of General Relations Committee at the White House tonight, for conference on the Mexican situation. The entire membership of ten Democrats and seven Republicans have been asked to be present.

PARIS, August 10.
All news despatches from Washington, published in France, describe the rupture between the United States and Mexico as being close at hand.

MADRID, August 10.
The situation at Barcelona, where ninety thousand workers are on strike, and 337 factories closed, is regarded by government circles as very grave. It is expected the city will be declared in a state of siege, as the strike is viewed as a revolutionary movement. The Socialists held a meeting here yesterday, and resolved to join hands with the Barcelona strikers.

LONDON, August 10.
Announcement is made from Bucharest that Bulgaria has waived claim to Port Ravida on the Aegean Sea. If this should prove true, it is considered of highest importance, and is regarded as greatly improving the prospects of genuine lasting peace.

LONDON, August 10.
The Commons, yesterday, ratified the contract with the Marconi Co. for construction of an imperial chain of wireless stations, by a vote of 219 to 133. In its essentials it is the same contract as that which, owing chiefly to error in judgment on the part of the Government, plunged Britain into a maelstrom of disreputation, calumny and searality. Postmaster General Samuel defended the contract with consummate skill, and in his speech quoted statements made by the Privy Council and Admiralty on the need of a wireless chain. How could the Government ignore representations from the authorities responsible for the defence of the Empire? he asked. He challenged the verdict of the contract on its merits, and reminded the House that the company gave a guarantee of successful operation. The Government, he said, had all the Company's inventions, and had the advantage of Marconi's personal experience, he said, and if it had got on at its service, it was folly to ignore its claims. Cheers from all parts of the House greeted this statement. Marconi, he said, felt most deeply over the way his honored name had been made a political catchword and almost a term of abuse. Though partisan arguments were avoided in debate, the voting followed on party lines. Lord Cecil's hostile motion was defeated by a majority of 81, and Masterman's motion in favor of the contract, by a majority of 71. The resolution in the former government majority is explained by the absence of Nationalists and a dozen Labour members. Henry Norman abstained from voting on Lord Cecil's motion, but voted against Masterman's motion. Two other Liberals followed his example.

BERLIN, August 9.
Emperor William and the King of Roumania, to-day, exchanged congratulatory telegrams in connection with the conclusion of peace among the Balkan States.

Cathagrian in Port.

Chicken Pox on Board.
The R. M. S. Cathagrian, Capt. Ogilvie, arrived in port at 8 o'clock Saturday night from Liverpool. The passage was made in exactly seven days. She left Liverpool on Saturday, August 2nd, and made splendid progress every day until Friday last when dense fog was run into, in consequence the speed of the ship was reduced for several hours. But for the fog the voyage from the Old Count would be made in 6 1/2 days. The ship brought 700 tons of cargo, 58 packages of mail and the following passengers for here in saloon—J. Barr, F. C. Bowring, E. R. Bowring, John Browning, Mrs. Browning, W. Bulmer, Mrs. Bulmer, J. O. Fraser, N. S. Fraser, Miss D. Gainsford, Robert Harpur, Miss Dorothy Harvey, G. Hawes, Mr. Hawes, Jr., E. Hills (Hon.), Mrs. Hills, Miss G. H. Job, Miss J. Job, (Hon.), Miss C. B. Kay-Shuttleworth, Miss Pettis-Matcote, A. Monroe, W. Monroe, Frederick Keppel North, Master North, R. O. Paterson, Hon. ... D. Ryan and Miss Janet Stirling. In transit for Halifax are 37 intermediate and 300 steerage passengers.

The day before port was reached chicken pox was discovered on board by Dr. John, the ship's surgeon. A female emigrant passenger was ill with the disease. When the ship reached at the Allan Line pier, Saturday night, all passengers were prevented from landing until Dr. Fraser went on board and examined the chicken pox sufferer. Later she was visited by Drs. O'Connell and Brehm. The woman is being kept in a separate room from the rest of the passengers so as to prevent contagion. She will be landed at Halifax.

A concert was held on board the Cathagrian on Thursday night last. Hon. J. D. Ryan acted as chairman. A collection of £3 was taken up to be devoted to the Marine Disasters Fund.

Your Duty.

Nothing to do with the Custom House, good friend. Its only reference just now is to yourself. Let us suppose that you are a man of family with sufficient of the world's goods to keep them in comfort. Very well, you did not reach this satisfactory state of affairs without care and labour—few men do. Suppose you are awakened some night with shouts of alarm ringing in your ears. Too late then to talk of prudence; too late then to say: "If I had only, etc., etc." That "If" means too much to many forgetful people. Is it not always the duty of a self-respecting citizen to protect his home and thus provide for those within it? Is it any more than his duty to those depending on him to protect them as far as possible? Can you call your property your own when it is not insured? The answer to this argument is to carry insurance with Perce Johnson's agency, the most popular office in Newfoundland and the least expensive—aug.5.1f

Woman Lawyer

Barred.
Cannot Plead in Italian Courts—Curious Reason for Decision.

Rome, Aug. 2.—The cause of women in Italy has had a set-back. Although Italians as a whole regard the question with benevolence, almost with sympathy—readers will remember the rejoicing some years ago when Signorina Teresa Labriola was admitted to the bar. Lately her right to exercise her profession has been called in question, and the Supreme Court has just given a decision against her on a finding that may make American women smile.

They are that as, according to Italian laws, a woman cannot do anything in public life without the consent of her husband; if she were allowed to practice law her husband might withdraw his consent at any moment, even while she was pleading.

Lunenburger in Port.

The Lunenburger banker, Marlon Mosher, arrived here yesterday. She left the home port two months ago for the Grand Banks; fish were found scarce and 1,500 gals. for eighteen men were taken on the voyage; the banker reports bait scarce. She put into Annapolis for a squid battle a few days ago but could get none, hence she came here. In a recent gale the Marlon Mosher had her canvas torn. Repairs for this will be made before the voyage is continued.

The Nickel Theatre.

The week end attendance at the Nickel Theatre was large and general satisfaction was expressed with it. Mr. Myers was in excellent voice and his songs were warmly applauded. There will be two new songs this evening, and as the pictures have been specially selected there will no doubt be a large attendance.
