The Russo-German Tariff War.

London, July 31.—A new Russian ukaz empowers the Minister of Finance to impose the maximum tariff on imports from all countries which levy higher import duties on Russian products than the maximum of other countries. The Finance Minister, however, is empowered with authority to deal independently with all matters relating to the tariff war with Germany. The ukaz goes far towards confirming the prophecy that Russia would raise the tariff on German products.

Sentences of Armenians Commuted.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 31.—The sentences of ten of the Armenian prisoners recently condemned to death in the case of the Armenian revolutionaries for taking part in the sedition at Marivan and Cesarea have been commuted by the Sultan to penal servitude for eight years. The death sentences will be carried out in the case of five prisoners, who, it is claimed, have proved to be common murderers. The terms of 24 other prisoners who were sentenced to imprisonment have been reduced.

Everybody Sorry.

London, July 31.—Prime Minister Gladstone, replying to a question asked by Mr. John Lloyd Garrison (Con.), said that he was sorry for the general conduct of the House and in the interest of good order, if an arrangement should be arrived at by means of which the support of the Government and the majority of the Opposition might sit on opposite sides of the House.

Mr. William Hunter (Liberal) asked if Mr. Gladstone had taken into consideration the injury done to the history and dignity of the House and if the assaults committed by members on Thursday evening were to be allowed to pass without punishment. He also inquired what action would be taken if he moved the appointment of a committee to inquire into and report on the matter.

Mr. Gladstone replied that he would probably answer these questions tomorrow.

Mr. Henry Labouchere referred to a statement made in the Pall Mall Gazette by Mr. William Fisher, Conservative, with reference to his assault on Mr. John William Logan, Liberal member for South Leicestershire. He suggested that Mr. Logan be permitted to reply to Mr. Fisher's statement.

Speaker Peel said he thought it would conduce to a peaceful solution of the matter if Mr. Fisher and Mr. Logan addressed the House.

Mr. Fisher made cries of "Logan," "Logan," and expressed deep regret for the part he had taken in the affair.

Mr. Logan then emphatically denied that he had intended to assault anyone, and said he deeply regretted that he had been concerned in the affair.

Mr. Gladstone said that the explanations were satisfactory to him and he hoped the matter would be allowed to drop.

The Rt. Hon. A. J. Balfour and Mr. John McCarthy also expressed themselves as satisfied. Mr. McCarthy, however, protested against the idea that the row was due to the Irish members.

Siam.

London, July 31.—The Paris correspondent of the Central News says that it has been learned from good authority that France demands as security from Siam that the terms of the ultimatum will be carried out, the temporary custody of Chantaboon, a town near the Gulf of Siam, also that Siam shall establish military stations at certain named places near the frontier of Cambodia or within a certain distance of the Mekong River.

London, July 31.—Replying in the House of Commons today to a question asked by Hon. George Curzon (Conservative) Sir Edward Grey said that he was unable to give exact information regarding the blockade of the Siam coast and the occupation of several islands by the French. It was understood, however, that the occupation of the islands was only temporary.

It did not appear that any British vessels had been seized by the French. The information at hand showed that two or three British vessels had been stopped under a misunderstanding.

Paris, July 31.—Owing to representations made to M. Dorelle, the Foreign Minister, by Lord Dufferin, the British ambassador, the question of a neutral zone between the French possessions in the Siam Peninsula and British Burma and the Siam States has been settled satisfactorily. It has been agreed that the French blockade of the Siam coast shall be raised immediately.

London, July 31.—A dispatch from Bangkok, dated Monday, 7 p.m., says: "The uneasiness among the people here far from lessening is increasing. Seven more French gunboats have arrived at K-Si-Chang, making a total of thirteen now there. Negotiations are still going on, but the progress made is not reported. The intentions of the French are awaited with fear and apprehension. Rear Admiral Humann, commanding the French squadron, has issued a second blockade notice to take effect three days from Saturday. He will order the British warships Pallas and Swift, now lying off Bangkok, to go outside the blockade limits. M. Pavie, the French Minister resident, has gone to Saigon, and Rear Admiral Humann is under direct orders from Paris. Unless the French Government interposes quickly an attack on Bangkok seems certain. The trading community is surprised that the French are still allowed a free hand.

London, Aug. 1.—The Post's Paris correspondent says: A lengthy interview on Monday morning between M. Dorelle and Lord Dufferin resulted in friendly entente, permitting Siam to be maintained as a buffer between the British and the French possessions. France abandons the ceded parts to which England lays claim as having formed part of Burma previous to the baw's overthrow. England agrees to the Siam frontier in relation to Tonquin and Annam. The entente is so complete that Lord Dufferin will probably return to England on Tuesday or Wednesday.

FOR FEAR OF STARVATION.

A Farmer Murders His Family and Tries to Kill Himself.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., July 31.—A special from Antigo, Wis., says: Wm. Nemmacher, a farmer, killed his wife and babe and two boys, aged 5 and 3, by dashing out their brains. He then plunged head first from a window in an attempt to kill himself. He is still alive but paralyzed. Cause, fear of starvation.

THE FINANCIAL FLURRY

Not So Bad as Reports Have Made It Appear.

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Because of the conflicting statements regarding the number of failures of national banks, Controller Eckels has prepared a statement which will undoubtedly strengthen public confidence. His statements, however, have appeared in the newspapers to the effect that since Jan. 1, 1893, 220 banks have failed, instead of 200 having closed their doors, but 105 have gone into the hands of receivers, and only 115 have failed. Fourteen of this number have already resumed business under favorable conditions and possessed of the confidence of the communities where located, and during the ensuing week it is expected several others will have completed the requirements of the controller and reopened, while prior to Sept. 1 an equal number will resume.

The statement concludes: "The majority of those that recently failed are absolutely solvent, and only closed through an unwarranted lack of confidence in them, causing disastrous runs. Following is a resume: Number now in operation, 3,785; number failed since Jan. 1, 1893, 105; number reopened, 115; number in hands of receivers, 33; number in hands of bank examiners, with application to Controller for resumption, 58."

A run was precipitated on the New York banks Saturday by the announcement that 60 days' notice of withdrawals would be expected from depositors.

A. Daniels & Co., private bankers at Marion, Ia., have assigned.

The Springfield (Mo.) Savings Bank made an assignment Monday morning. The bank is solvent and will pay in full.

The First National Bank at Dallas, Ore., has closed its doors.

The Pendleton (Ore.) Savings Bank has been temporarily suspended. Assets, $250,000; liabilities, $135,000.

The First National Bank of Kendallville, Ind., which suspended June 22, has been allowed to reopen.

THE BRIDEGROOM WAS NOT THERE.

Strange Conduct of Charles Freeman, a Windsor School Teacher.

WINDSOR, July 31.—A brief dispatch was given to the public some three weeks ago in regard to the postponement of a wedding that was to have taken place between Miss Alice Treble, a popular teacher of this place, and Charles Freeman, formerly of Windsor, who has been teaching a school in Gloucester. The following details have since been learned:

The wedding had been arranged for July 11, and on the preceding evening the prospective bride's brother, George Treble, a bookkeeper for Strong, Lee & Co., of Detroit, gave a bachelor's dinner at the Crawford House in honor of the groom-to-be, but that gentleman did not materialize, neither did he send any explanation of his absence. The festivities went on just the same, however, and those present, which included all the prominent young bachelors of Windsor, report having had an enjoyable time.

Freeman's absence from the dinner was the sole subject of conversation at the Treble residence after the dinner, and when next morning he was still absent the anxiety of Miss Treble and her relatives increased. Telegrams were sent to Gloucester, but no answer came back. Surmises as to the cause of the absence were numerous, but that was all the satisfaction to be derived. At the hour set for the wedding a large number of invited guests were present and the wedding gifts were not only numerous, but were said to be the best assortment ever seen at a local nuptial event. The arrangements for the wedding feast had also gone on unhindered, in the hope that the groom would be on hand at the appointed hour.

After waiting a long time for Freeman's arrival it was concluded that he was not coming, and the party dispersed, after exchanging sympathies to Miss Treble.

About a week after the day set for the wedding a letter was received by Miss Treble from Freeman, but it contained no explanation of his absence and no form of apology. It simply asked the young lady to go to London and they would be quietly married. The matter was discussed at some length and resulted in Miss Treble writing to Freeman asking why he had not come to Windsor at the appointed time. In answer to this he said he had been sick of fever and was not able to come to Windsor.

Miss Treble, accompanied by her mother and one of her brothers, then went to London and they not only found Freeman in apparently good health, but, when pushed for an explanation as to his outrageous conduct, he did considerable stammering in framing an excuse. It was decided, however, that he had some other reason than any he advanced, and the Treble family returned to Windsor resolved to drop him entirely. The presents were all returned to the donors and to all inquirers for information the Trebles had but one answer: "Please do not ask us anything about it. We do not ask for any sympathy, but desire rather to let the whole affair pass as quietly as possible into oblivion."

It is now said that Freeman is really indisposed, but not through fever. When he recovers from his injuries it is possible he may find himself out of a situation, for his actions towards Miss Treble have been heralded to Gloucester, and the school board there is now considering the advisability of dismissing him. For many months prior to the date set for the wedding Freeman made a practice of coming to Windsor every Saturday to spend Sunday with his affianced bride. On such occasions he would room with a friend and eat all his meals at the Treble residence.

Windsor is full of rumors as to the alleged cause of Freeman's actions, but nothing of a definite nature can be learned, either from the Trebles or any of his former associates in Windsor. Miss Treble is an applicant for her old position in the third ward school, and as her record as a teacher was unsurpassed, it is more than likely her services will already be engaged, will be released.

POWDERLY AT CHAUTAUQU.

LAKEVIEW, July 30.—A feature of one of the recent Chautauqua meetings was the address of Hon. Terrance V. Powderly, of Scranton, Pa., the noted labor leader, whose topic was "The Relations of Organized Labor to the Country." He said:

"Our organization is against free and indiscriminate immigration. Go to the mining districts and see twenty men living in one room, a hovel, sleeping on shelves, the walls, ignorant, almost uncivilized, material as this, and yet it is imported to supplant more intelligent labor because it is cheaper. American citizens are turned out of homes by these invading hordes. We are sending missionaries to China and elsewhere, but oh, what a field there is for them at home! Better it is that they stay at home until they can represent a truly Christian country."</
