PHENOMENA EXPLAINED

This explanation of a much discussed phenomenon is equaled in interest by the author's investigation of the stories of this root to the stories of the stor of toads found alive, in rocks, trees, masonary, etc., where they must have been immured for indefinite periods. One French scientist, it appears, deliberately imbedded three toads in plaster and laid the receptacles away for eighteen months, when two of big running race nowadays that I'm apparent that he was working himself to get reminded of a famous punctured scoop, in which I forward which
