

COMMEND BIBLE MEMORY WORK IN LONDON SCHOOLS

Ministerial Alliance Will Strive To Further Progress of System.

URGE CO-OPERATION

All Protestant denominations of London, as represented at the meeting of the Ministerial Alliance this morning, not only greatly commended the system of Bible memory work instituted by Inspector V. K. Greer in the city public schools, and already copied in St. Thomas, Guelph and other cities, but also passed a resolution to the effect that in so far as it was possible they would bring about co-operation between the public schools, and the various Sabbath schools, in the carrying-on of this special course.

A point strongly emphasized by Inspector Greer in his address on "Religious Education," before the Alliance this morning was the fact that the public educational system of Ontario need not be known as the "Protestant" school system. "Rather," he said, "it is the system of schools for the entire province and the Catholic separate schools and the few Protestant separate, while receiving financial support from the government are but adjuncts to the system."

Avoid Friction.

"I do not believe the system of Bible memory work, carried out in the city schools, is the ideal foundation for a system of religious education, but it is the only opening provided by the statutes and regulations of the public school system. We have not had a lengthy opportunity of testing it here, but during the period in which it was carried on last term, it proved very satisfactory, and excellent results have already been obtained with it in Guelph and other cities," he stated.

"We don't hope to take the responsibility for the religious education of the child," Inspector Greer continued.

Asks Religion in Homes.

"I believe this should be carried on in the home to a greater extent than at the present time, and the Sunday schools should continue to do all that they are doing. But the school should also make its contribution to the entire religious training."

In some cases our teachers have been subjected to criticism because they have not included religious education in their classes, but those of our teachers who are disposed to include this are obliged to do so very tactfully, as our system provides for children of all denominations and the regulations have to be so drawn up that they will permit of no offense to children of any one denomination."

Each minister was provided with a copy of the Ontario department of education statutes and regulations, together with the notes, Inspector Greer added, with regard to what co-operation might be effected in the system of Bible memory work.

Keep Record.

He advocated a special Sabbath school committee to bear memory work and keep accurate record of the work heard, making reports from time to time to the public school teacher, together with a clerical contact with the home and parents with the object of having them encourage the work and discuss passages in the home, as well as close co-operation between public and Sabbath school.

Mr. Greer was greatly opposed to offering anything in the nature of prizes for this work, but favored rather a diploma with seals in order that the pupil might receive some fitting recognition of the work done. In his notes, he added further that the public schools should only undertake what each denomination would favor.

This morning's meeting of the alliance was the largest held for several months, a large representation of regular members being present, as well as a number of new members.

BOARD OF EDUCATION MEETINGS.

Committees of the board of education will hold the meetings postponed from last week this afternoon, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at the usual time. No. 1 committee will meet today.

Egyptians Protest Alleged Slander At Fahmy Trial

Associated Press Despatch.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 17.—"Inaccurate assertions and rash generalizations," made in certain quarters in connection with the trial of Madam Fahmy for the murder of her husband, Ali Kemal Fahmy Bey, in London have led to a strong protest on behalf of the Egyptians. They express regret that the extraordinary circumstances raised by the defence appear to have thrown a shadow over the entire Egyptian nation owing to an error in supposing that Fahmy Bey was a representative Egyptian.

The protest concludes by declaring the contrary to the "wild stories" circulated in connection with the trial of Madam Fahmy as to the treatment of wives by Egyptian husbands. The Oriental has the greatest respect for women, those making the protest declare. They state that the Koranic precept "paradise lies at the feet of the mothers," is observed in spirit and in heart by the Egyptian.

OFFICERS ASK DENIAL OF RUMMY RUM TALE

Reporter's Typewriter Turns a Peaceful Motorist Into "Rip Snortin'" Law Dodger.

One law-abiding Stratford motorist.

One battery "gone bad."

One trip home from the Western Fair after dark.

One landing in the ditch.

All this amounts to a sensational rum-running story without names, but with the usual "gunk," "high-powered cars," "rum ring," and everything else that the brain of an overworked reporter can concoct in a few short minutes before press time. He was called upon to produce this "child of his rum" in a local newspaper office last Friday afternoon, and outside the fact that there was not a correct statement in it, the story was a classic.

How an unfortunate motorist's car plied in the ditch at midnight near Elginfield, could be turned into a rum-running truck that rammed a buggy and "vanished into the night," is what is puzzling provincial police who were linked up in the matter. Why rum-runners from the eastern provinces with a cargo for Stratford, should first come all the way to London, is also a puzzle, but the "rummer" did it with the help of a reporter's typewriter, and a front page sensation resulted.

However, it was nothing to the sensation created by provincial police who have asked for an unqualified denial of the whole story, which, if published at once, will probably be tucked away in some dark corner under the head of "local items."

CANADIANS TO HEAR
APPEAL FOR MISSIONS

Professor Yohan Masik of India Conducting Tour of Dominion.

Bringing from India both a message and an appeal for adequate help in covering the mission field there, Professor Yohan Masik, acting principal of the Presbyterian College at Indor, has reached London and will remain until tomorrow at this stage of a journey across Canada which he is making under the auspices of the Presbyterian Foreign Mission Board.

Professor Masik is a guest with Dr. D. C. MacGregor at the manse of St. Andrew's Church. This morning he proved a most interesting visitor at a meeting of the London Ministerial Alliance, where he delivered a brief address.

Prof. Masik is a member of the Presbyterian General Assembly of India, and as a member of that body distinguished himself by a revision of the New Testament into Hindi, upon which work he was engaged just previous to coming to Canada.

In his addresses in Canadian churches during his tour of the continent, Prof. Masik will deal with the missionary situation in India and the amount of help needed to thoroughly cover the field there. Yesterday morning he spoke on this subject in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, at New St. James and First Presbyterian Sunday schools in the afternoon, and in the evening he visited Knox Church, St. Thomas.

After addressing the regular meeting of the Presbytery of London in the First Presbyterian Church to-morrow morning, Professor Masik leaves for Elgin House, Muskoka, where he will attend a convention of the Students' Christian Movement.

DUMBELLS BREAK RECORD.

All Canadian records for attendance were broken by the Dumbbells at three days' engagement at the Grand Opera House, which terminated on Saturday evening. Captain Plunkett, speaking to The Advertiser on the success of the engagement here, said: "It is particularly gratifying to me that the boys please our London audiences, for I shall always have a warm spot in my heart for this city. It was in London that the Dumbbells made their first Canadian appearance. Never in all Canada have we played to such a volume of business in a three-night and matinee engagement. So great was the success of the Dumbbells' engagement that arrangements have been completed whereby they will play a return date at the Grand on October 11, 12 and 13.

RUSH WORK ON NEW CITY REGISTRY OFFICE.

LABOR MEN PREPARING FOR BIG CELEBRATION

Postponed Event Is Scheduled
To Take Place Saturday Afternoon.

The members of the London Trades and Labor Council are busy arranging the final details in the plans for their Labor Day celebration, which is slated to take place on Saturday next.

Owing to the postponement it will be impossible to stage the usual parade of the trucks and merchants' floats, and also of the different unions which are represented in the Trades and Labor Council.

The program, arranged to start at 1:30 p.m. at Queen's Park, will be as complete as it is possible to make it, and granted fair weather, the labor men intend to put on a very interesting entertainment. The baby show will be held, and several classes have been added as a result of the delay.

The sports program will be run off, and a large list of entries has already been made up. The horse races and bicycle races will take place if the horses who intended racing originally for the fall season are here at the time.

Three bands will be engaged to supply music during the afternoon, and everything that could possibly be introduced for the entertainment of those who attend.

REAPPOINT J. H. WOODWARD TO ORGANIST'S POSITION

J. H. Woodward has been reappointed organist of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and will assume his new duties Sept. 29. Earlier in the year Mr. Woodward was appointed to this position, but at that time he was unable to accept, and Rev. Frank Anderson has since been in charge, succeeding Sidney G. Martin, who was called to his former home in Wales on account of the serious illness of his sister.

THREE LONDON DELEGATES
EXPECTED HOME TUESDAY

President John McGuire and Delegates Colbert and Tilly of the local Trades and Labor Council are expected to reach London some time tomorrow, from Vancouver, where they were attending the Canadian Trades Congress.

As a result of their efforts and the co-operation of the city council, it has been decided to hold the 1924 congress in London, and that time the labor men in London quite a boost, and also benefit the city as a whole in the advertising and trade which such a convention will bring to this city.

Oxfords Are Popular Shoes For Man in Coming Season

Few changes mark the styles in men's footwear for this season, according to the announcement made by Canadian shoe makers for National Shoe Week which commences today and continues throughout the week.

Styles that men and young men wore last fall and winter will again be shown this year. Although styles in women's footwear underwent radical changes during the last twelve months very few changes have been shown in men's shoes. Wearing of oxfords for men will again be in vogue this year.

The increased wearing of oxfords will be one of the most important changes that will be seen this fall. The low shoes were popular last year and this year will be more so, but some designers believe the peak of this style will be reached in a few years, and then a gradual return to the high heel shoes will take place.

Among foot specialists the date of the restoration of high footwear may come sooner than the experts anticipate, due to the fact that some men are careless in the wearing of oxfords. For example in extremely cold weather the necessary precautions are not taken to guard against the severity of the season, and as a result sickness develops. For this reason spats are expected to be worn again this year.

Will Not Be Shown.

The pointed toe and unusual lasts will not be shown to any degree, probably due to the fact that men prefer comfort to style. Younger men still cling to the English or custom lasts, but even these do not afford sufficient toe room for the deformed foot. Brogues will continue in favor among oxfords and high shoes.

Brown again will be the favored color for fall. Russet and cordovan shades, but there will be many shades between the light and dark browns. Black, dull and gunmetal shoes are not expected.

Restricted to formal or semi-formal dress will be the once-popular button shoes. These will be found largely in patent leather shoes with cloth tops.

The style, material, workmanship and finish of the Canadian shoe are in the front rank, and can compete with the best of any country, due to the wonderful development of the shoe industry in Canada. The best evidence of this lies in the fact that nearly 95 per cent of the shoes worn in Canada today are Canadian made.

Have Resources.

Canadian shoe manufacturers have at their command all the resources of materials, machinery and skilled workmen possessed by the United States or Great Britain. The fact that Canadian leather finds a ready market in both of these countries is a guarantee of its quality.

A complete range of styles and widths to suit all needs will be found in medium and high-grade "Made-in-Canada" goods at prices that compare favorably with any foreign market.

The commencement today of National Shoe Week brings to light a few hints on shoe wisdom, which, if adhered to would give the average person more satisfaction in his purchase of shoes. Wear good substantial shoes for everyday use, and do not buy lightweight shoes for heavy work or extensive walking.

For street wear women will find wet shoes much more serviceable and comfortable than turns. A proper fit is a great consideration in shoe buying. Shoes too big are as bad as those too small, and will produce foot troubles just as easily.
