For some months past the news from Finland has been of a disquieting char-acter. The accounts of the riots in Helsingfors in April last were undoubt-edly much exaggerated, particularly in the European oress, but the cause—the calling out of the first army recruits conscripted inder the law of July 12, 1901—continues to arouse universal ill-feeling. According to the latest reports, between 70 and 80 per cent. of those designated for military service have fuiled to present themselves. Naturally throughout Finland as to the course the Bussian authorities will take to punish the recalcitrants for what is undoubted-ly a national protest against legislation plainly contrary to the Constitution of runand. The object of his trip was to take a look at the newly discovered copper property, in which Messrs. Thompson, Tolmie and Criddle are in-terested. The new find is situated near the lower end of Sooke harbor, about 30 miles from Victoria, and is reached by a pack trail from the main road. The location is very favorable for shipping, as a short transverse would cover the plainly contrary to the Constitution of funland. Prior to the so-called re-forms of last year, the organization of the Finnish troops was, on the whole, a pretty satisfactory one from the mili-tary point of view. Moreover, the policy by which Finns served next to and under their countrymeu appealed particularly to a people whose Consti-tutional priviliges are disappearing, one by one. This has all been done away with, and the conscripts are now to be forced into Russian regiments, while the old organizations have been mustered out for al time. And further take notice that action under miles from Victoria, and is reached by a pack trail from the main road. The location is very favorable for shipping, as a short tramway would conrey the ore to deep water on Sooke harbor. Mr. Williams found a gang of min-ers busily engaged in deepening the shart, which was begun some weeks ago. This shart is now down 40 feet in solid, good looking ore, and it is the-intention to drift from the bottom to prove the thickness of the ore body, which has not yet been determined. The outcroppings can be traced for several hundred yards, though a careless or in-experienced man might walk over them a hundred times without giving, them the slightest attention. "I have no doubt," said Mr. Williams, "that we passed over many similar on our way to and from the mine," and he expressed surprise that the country is not being more thoroughly prospected. The property is, in Mr. Williams' opinion, an excellent prospect, and in all probability the beginning of a good pay-ing mine. The owners are not saying much about it, as they are satisfied to await the results of the development. The discovery of copper at Sooke goes to prove the theory advanced by a well known mining man, that the lower end of Vancouver Island is traversed by three distinct mineral belies, in the most northerly of which lies the Lenora, Tyee, etc., Mr. Williams suggested, finci-dentally, that they are many able bodied me in Victoria "looking for jobs who might with profit turn themselves loose on the Sooke Hills and look for copper." per bottle. 2 an increase of half a - 8 tario, other provinces - 6 Maritime Provinces de CYRUS H, BOWES, Chemist from fishery award she among the Maritime F 98 Government St. think they would have a Telephone 425. This did not, however, prove to be the case, and the Governor-General, Bohri-koff, succeeded, with the aid of the Uzar, in forcing the present decree upon the people without the consent of par-liament. The first result was an imme-diate protest by half a million citizens in the shape of an address to the Czar, in which it was maintained that the de-cree could not be regarded as a legal enactment. There was also a petition for a return to the Constitutional method of enacting such laws.
